ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Special thanks to the following brothers and sisters for their encouragement: Shaykh Muhammad Nura Dass, Ahmad Olawuyi, Ali Baker, Tural Islam, Syed Jarry Haider, Syed Mansab Ali Jafri, Jaffer Abbas, Agbonika Salihu, Jibreel Ibn Mikael, Syeda Umme Rabab Bukhari, Aneela Sultan, Nasir Hasan, and Hassan Bokhari. May Allāh bless them all and all our loving brothers and sisters from the Shī'ah Imāmiyyah and the Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jamā'ah.

PREFACE

The question of who the best of the Ṣaḥābah, radiyallāh 'anhum, was has always been a thorny issue within the Ummah, especially among the Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jamā'ah. Even the Saḥābah disputed with one another over the topic. Specifically, the debate often revolves around Abū Bakr and 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, only. It is very difficult to see anyone - whether Sunnī or Shī'ī - arguing that 'Umar, 'Uthmān, Ṭalḥah, Zubayr or some other Ṣaḥābī - was the best of the Ṣaḥābah. Rather, the exact point of contention is, and always was: was Abū Bakr their best or 'Alī? Expectedly, most of the Ahl al-Sunnah consider Abū Bakr to have been the best of the Ṣaḥābah, then 'Umar, then 'Uthmān, and then 'Alī. By contrast, the Shī'ah believe that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī was the best, then al-Ḥasan, then al-Ḥusayn, and then Sayyidah Fāṭimah, 'alaihim al-salām. There is a minority among Sunnīs - including some Ṣaḥābah and a lot of Ṣūfīs - who share the Shī'ī view on the matter.

Ordinarily, the debate over who was the best should have been a mere, healthy academic exercise. However, it is linked with Imāmah and khilāfah in the Ummah. So, it is a very big issue, and provokes the deepest emotions of some people. In fact, countless Shī and others have been murdered for more than a millenium by Sunnī extremists, only for their belief in the superiority of 'Alī. The best of the Ummah at each point in time is the only one qualified for the khilāfah. This is the Command of Allāh and His Messenger, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) confirms:

ففي هذا الخبر إخبار عمر بين المهاجرين والأنصار أن أبا بكر سيد المسلمين وخيرهم وأحبهم إلى رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم ذلك علة مبايعته فقال بل نبايعك أنت فأنت سيدنا وخيرنا وأحبنا إلى رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم ليبين بذلك أن المأمور به تولية الأفضل وأنت أفضلنا فنبايعك

In this report is the declaration of 'Umar among the Muhājirūn and the Anṣār that Abū Bakr was the sayyid of the Muslims and the best of them, and the most beloved of them to the Messenger of Allāh. This is the reason for following him. So, he ('Umar) said, "Rather, we will follow you because you are our sayyid, and the best of us, and the most beloved of us to the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him". He wanted to make clear through it that: WHAT IS ORDAINED IS

TO GIVE AUTHORITY TO THE BEST, and you are the best of us. So, we will follow you.<sup>1</sup>

The bottomline here is that khilāfah by anyone who is not the best of his time is contrary to the Order of Allāh and the Sunnah of His Messenger, and is therefore both illegal and a bid'ah. That makes the khalāfah himself and all his supporters ringleaders of a bid'ah, as long as they are aware of his deficiency and still uphold his khilāfah. In that way, they would be guilty of creating a new provision in the religion to supplant that of Allāh. The grave danger of all this is captured perfectly in these words of the Messenger of Allāh, documented by Imām al-Nasāī (d. 303 H):

The worst of the (religious) affairs are their innovations, and every innovation is a bid'ah, and every bid'ah is misguidance, and every misguidance ends to the Fire.<sup>2</sup>

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) comments:

Sahīh3

The Command of Allāh and His Messenger is that the best of the Ummah should always be their khalīfah, as testified by 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb. Meanwhile, the innovation in this matter is to make or allow any inferior individual as the khalīfah. This innovation is a bid'ah, and will land whosoever leads, practices or recognizes it in Hellfire. It is understandable then why some of our Sunnī brothers are so hell-bent upon emphasizing the superiority over Abū Bakr over the whole Ummah, followed by 'Umar and 'Uthmān, by all means – even to the extent of committing massacres. The survival of their madhhab depends very heavily on it. Should Abū Bakr, 'Umar or 'Uthmān fall, Sunnīsm itself ceases to exist as a valid entity!

So, certain drastic steps were taken to address the challenge. First, a very wide re-definition was issued for Shī'īsm. This, apparently, was to scare Sunnīs away from researching into the issue. Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Hajar al-'Asqalānī (d. 852 H) takes the podium:

والتشيع محبة على وتقديمه على الصحابة فمن قدمه على أبى بكر وعمر فهو غال في تشيعه ويطلق عليه رافضي ولا فشيعي فإن انضاف إلى ذلك السب أو التصريح بالبغض فغال في الرفض وإن اعتقد الرجعة إلى الدنيا فأشد في الغلو

Shī'īsm is love of 'Alī and the placing of him over the Ṣaḥābah (except Abū Bakr and 'Umar only). Whoever places him above Abū Bakr and 'Umar, such is an extremist in his Shī'īsm, and he is called a Rāfidī. If he does not (place 'Alī over the two), then he is only a Shī'ī. If he added to that (i.e. preference of 'Alī over Abū Bakr and 'Umar) abuse, cursing or open hatred (of Abū Bakr and 'Umar), he is then an extremist in Rafd. If he believes in Rafah into this world, then he is severe in (Rāfidī) extremism.<sup>4</sup>

Therefore, a Sunnī is only someone who considers 'Alī as inferior to Abū Bakr, 'Umar AND 'Uthmān. Whosoever places him above 'Uthmān is a Shī'ī, and whosoever views him as superior to Abū Bakr or 'Umar is a Rāfiḍī. In the Sunnī creed, being a Shī'ī is a bid'ah. Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) says:

أن البدعة على ضربين :فبدعة صغرى كغلو التشيع، أو كالتشيع بلا غلو ولا تحرف، فهذا كثير في التابعين وتابعيهم مع الدين والورع والصدق .فلو رد حديث هؤلاء لذهب جملة من الآثار النبوية، وهذه مفسدة بينة .ثم بدعة كبرى، كالرفض الكامل والغلو فيه

Bid'ah has two types:

The minor bid'ah: like extreme Shī'īsm, or like moderate Shī'īsm, for this was widespread among the Tābi'īn and their followers, despite their devotion, piety and truthfulness. If the aḥādīth of these people were rejected, part of teachings of the Prophet would be lost, and that would be a clear evil.

Then the major bid'ah: like complete rafd and extremism in it.5

By classifying the placing of 'Alī above 'Uthmān as a bid'ah – which leads to Hellfire – the classical Sunnī 'ulamā hoped to put a firm lid on all threats to their madhhab. However, their action has produced some horrible unintended consequences. Many of the Saḥābah were Ramāfid by Sunnī definition, and therefore heretics who will burn forever in the Fire! Imām Ibn 'Abd al-Barr (d. 463 H) identifies some of these Rāfīdī Ṣaḥābah:

Salmān, Abū Dharr, al-Miqdād, Khabāb, Jābir, Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī and Zayd b. Arqam narrated that 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, may Allāh be pleased with him, was the first to accept Islām, and they considered him the most superior (among the Ṣaḥābah).<sup>6</sup>

These senior Ṣaḥābah considered 'Alī as superior to Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān! By Sunnī standards, their bid'ah, therefore, was of the major type! They were complete Rāfiḍis. Another well-known Ṣaḥābī like them was Abū al-Ṭufayl, raḍiyallāh 'anhu. Imām al-Dhahabī states about him:

The name of Abū al-Ṭufayl was 'Āmir b. Wāthilah b. 'Abd Allāh b. 'Amr al-Laythī al-Kanānī al-Ḥijāzī, the Shī'ī. He was from the Shī'ah of Imām 'Alī.'

Imām Ibn 'Abd al-Barr adds:

He was a Shī'ī of 'Alī and considered him the most superior. He used to extol the two Shaykhs, Abū Bakr and 'Umar, and would ask for Allāh's mercy upon 'Uthmān.8

Al-Ḥāfiz explains the words of Ibn 'Abd al-Barr above:

Abū 'Umar said: He accepted the merit of Abū Bakr and 'Umar but he considered 'Alī to be the most superior.9

This creates an impossible dilemma for Sunnī Islām. If Sunnīs stick with their view that Shī'īsm — as defined by them — is a bid'ah, then they must agree that all these fine Ṣaḥābah were heretics with no hope of salvation in the Hereafter. By contrast, if they free the Shī'ī Ṣaḥābah, then they must equally free all other Shī'ah and Rawāfiḍ! What is good for the goose is equally good for the gander. Besides, the Ṣaḥābah, who met the Prophet, are in an even more accountable position on any Islāmic matter than all the generations after them. It gets scary when one considers the possibility that the Messenger of Allāh could have been of the same opinion as the Shī'ī Ṣahābah! If he did, then it would have been Sunnah to place 'Alī over Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān. In that case, the majority view of the Ahl al-Sunnah on the matter would have been a bid'ah - in fact, a compounded bid'ah.

The other step taken by the Sunnī 'ulamā was to confuse their followers on the status and meanings of explicit aḥādīth indicating the overall superiority of Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Tālib over all Ṣaḥābah. The most guilty individual in this regard was none other than "Shaykh al-Islām" Ibn Taymiyyah. Others, such as Imām al-Mubārakfūrī (d. 1282 H), 'Allāmah al-

Albānī, Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ and others, have also followed his steps, albeit at a much lower level. In this book, we will be examining some of such aḥādīth, proving their authenticity absolutely, and analyzing their texts in the light of the Qur'ān and mutamātir Sunnah. Our manhaj in this regard is open, transparent, mathematical and precise. For instance, we have relied very heavily upon the verdicts concerning the individual narrators by al-Ḥāfiz al-'Asqalānī in his legendary reference work, al-Taqrīb. The reasons for this approach are two. First, al-Ḥāfiz Ibn Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī, often fondly referred to simply as al-Ḥāfiz, is one of the greatest Sunnī scholars of rijāl and ḥadīth. 'Allāmah al-Albānī says about him:

لكن من كان في ريب مما أحكم أنا على بعض الأحاديث فليعد إلى فتح الباري فسيجد هناك أشياء كثيرة وكثيرة جداً ينتقدها الحافظ أحمد بن حجر العسقلاني الذي يسمى بحق أمير المؤمنين في الحديث والذي أعتقد أنا وأظن أن كل من كان مشاركاً في هذا العلم يوافقني على أنه لم تلد النساء بعده مثله.

But, whoever is in doubt concerning the verdicts I have given concerning some aḥādīth (in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī), let him refer to Fatḥ al-Bārī, and he will find there lots and lots of things (in Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī) which have been criticized by al-Ḥāfīṭz Aḥmad b. Ḥajar al-ʿAsqalānī, who is rightly named the Amīr al-Mūminīn in Ḥadīth, and whom I believe – and I suppose that anyone who has this knowledge (i.e. science of ḥadīth) would agree with me – that no woman has ever given birth to anyone like him after him.<sup>10</sup>

The phrase "amīr al-mūminīn" is of course a reference to the supreme master.

Secondly, al-Ḥāfiẓ himself states in the Introduction to al-Tagrīb:

I have graded every individual among them with a verdict that contains the most correct of what is said about him, and the most just of the descriptions given for him.<sup>11</sup>

Abū 'Abd al-Raḥmān Muḥammad Nāṣir al-Dīn b. al-Ḥajj Nūḥ b. Tajātī b. Ādam al-Ashqūdrī al-Albānī, Fatāwā (Cairo: Maktabah al-Turāth al-Islāmī; 1st edition, 1414 H), p. 525
 Aḥmad b. 'Alī b. Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī, Taqrīb al-Tahdhīb (Beirut: Dār al-Maktabah al-Ilmiyyah; 2nd edition, 1415 H) [annotator: Muṣtafā 'Abd al-Qādir 'Aṭā], vol. 1, p. 24

In other words, a lot of things have been said about each of the narrators. But, not everything said about them is authentically transmitted, correct or accurate. So, al-Ḥāfiz, who is a king in the Sunnī science of hadīth, has compiled only "the most correct" and "the most just" of the statements made about them. No wonder, top Sunnī hadīth scientists like 'Allāmah al-Albānī and others have relied very heavily upon this al-Tagrīb in all their works. We will be doing the same throughout this book and others. There are two clear advantages in doing this. One, it would ensure the accuracy of our conclusions on the various narrators. Two, it would keep our book concise and neat. As such, we will firstly quote the criticisms of a Sunnī scholar, mostly Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah, against a particular hadīth - which establishes 'Alī's superiorty over all the Şahābah - and then examines the trustworthiness of all its narrators, primarily through al-Tagrib. Where the name of the narrator is not present in al-Taqrīb, then we go for the books of Imām al-Dhahabī, who is equally a superweight in Sunnī ḥadīth sciences, as well as others like 'Allāmah al-Albānī and Shaykh al-Arnāūt.

This humble author has adopted a very strict takhrij style throughout the book. This is why he has excluded ahādīth which he believes to be true, but which do not meet the strict standards of authenticity in the Sunnī hadīth sciences. In particular, we focus on the reliability of the narrators and the full connectivity of the chains. We also seek if there are corroborative supports for either the chains or the texts of the ahādīth. Most importantly, we also investigate any possible hidden defects in the chains, such as tadlīs, poor memory and irsāl of the narrators and present detailed researches to make clarifications wherever necessary. Sometimes, in order to save space, we do simply rely upon explicit authentications of chains and ahādīth by the topmost Sunnī hadīth scientists. Through this methodology, we hope to give the full opportunity to whoever is researching the topic in order to determine the real truth.

Meanwhile, we do not neglect Sunnī arguments and reports in favour of the superiority of Abū Bakr and 'Umar either. We query their authenticity too, in line with strict standards of Sunnī rijāl and further test their compatibility with the Qur'ān and undisputed history. The full details of our investigations are provided in our book, so that our esteemed reader can verify, reason and make his independent conclusions too.

Throughout our book, we have relied upon Sunnī books only, and specifically those of the highest standing in their respected categories. This way, we aim ensure full accuracy in everything. We implore Allāh to forgive us all our mistakes, and to accept this as a worthy act of 'ibādah.

1 ḤADĪTH AL-QADĀ

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

و إما قوله قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم لاقضاكم علي والقضاء يستلزم العلم و الدين فهذا الحديث لم يثبت و ليس له إسناد تقوم به الحجة ... لم يروه أحد في السنن المشهورة و لا المساند المعروفة لا بإسناد صحيح و لا ضعيف و إنما يروي من طريق من هو معروف بالكذب

As for his statement, "The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: The best judge among you is 'Alī", and justice dispensation requires knowledge and religious devotion. But, this hadīth is not authentic, and it has no chain of transmission which makes it a valid proof ... It is not recorded by anyone in the famous Sunan books, and not (by anyone) in the well-known Musnad books – not with a ṣaḥiḥ chain, nor with a ḍa'if chain. It is only narrated through the route of notorious liars.<sup>12</sup>

Meanwhile, Imām Ibn Majah (d. 273 H) records in his Sunan:

Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā — 'Abd al-Wahhāb b. 'Abd al-Majīd — Khālid al-Ḥazā — Abī Qilābah — Anas b. Mālik:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "The most merciful of my Ummah is Abū Bakr. The most severe of them in the religion of Allāh is 'Umar. The most shy of them is 'Uthmān. And the best judge among them is 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib."<sup>13</sup>

This report cancels out the first leg of our Shaykh's claims: that the ḥadīth is not documented in any of the authoritative Sunan and Musnad books – whether with a ṣaḥīḥ chain or even a ḍa'īf one!

So, the next question is: has the ḥadīth truly been narrated by a liar or liars?

The first narrator, Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā is thiqah (trustworthy) without absolutely any doubt. Al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) for instance says about him:

Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā b. 'Ubayd al-'Unazā, Abū Mūsā al-Baṣrī.... Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate).<sup>14</sup>

Elsewhere, he adds about him:

روى عنه (خ) مائة حديث وثلاثة أحاديث ومسلم سبعائة واثنتين وسبعين حديثا

Al-Bukhārī narrated 103 aḥādīth from him (in his Ṣaḥīḥ), and Muslim also narrated 772 aḥādīth (from him in his Ṣaḥīḥ).<sup>15</sup>

Shihāb al-Dīn Aḥmad b. 'Alī b. Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī, Tahdhīb al-Tahdhīb (Dār al-Fikr; 1st edition, 1404 H), vol. 9, p. 378, # 698

Apparently, he was a super-weight in Sunnī aḥādīth.

Al-Ḥāfiz also says about the second narrator:

'Abd al-Wahhāb b. 'Abd al-Majīd b. al-Ṣalt al-Thaqafī, Abū Muḥammad al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy). He changed (i.e. his memory weakened) 3 years before his death.<sup>16</sup>

In his Lisān, he gives further, crucial information about him:

But, his change (in memory) does not harm his aḥādīth, for he never narrated a single ḥadīth during the period of the change.<sup>17</sup>

So, what about the remaining narrators? Shaykh al-Arnāūt saves us a lot of time with this tahqīq:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) — my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — 'Affān — Wuhayb — Khālid al-Ḥazā — Abū Qilābah — Anas b. Mālik — the Prophet, peace be upon him .... Its chain is ṣaḥīḥ UPON THE STANDARD OF THE TWO SHAYKHS.<sup>18</sup>

We understand from this that both Khālid al-Ḥazā and Abū Qilābah are thiqah (trustworthy) narrators of both Ṣaḥiḥ al-Bukhārī and Ṣaḥiḥ Muslim, like Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā.

Interestingly, Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H), Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) and 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) also confirm that the second narrator is like the others too in this regard. The 'Allāmah writes:

أخرجه الترمذي (2 / 309) وابن ماجه (154) وابن حبان (2218) و (2219) و الخاكم (3 / 422) من طريق عبد الوهاب بن عبد المجيد الثقفي حدثنا خالد الحذاء عن أبي قلابة عن أنس قال: قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم: فذكره، وقال الترمذي: " حديث حسن صحيح ". وقال الحاكم: " هذا إسناد صحيح على شرط الشيخين ". ووافقه الذهبي وهو كما قالا.

Al-Tirmidhī (2/309), Ibn Majah (154), Ibn Ḥibbān (2218) and al-Ḥākim (3/422) narrated it through the route of 'ABD AL-WAHHĀB B. 'ABD AL-MAJĪD AL-THAQAFĪ – Khālid al-Hazā – Abū Qilābah – Anas – the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. Al-Tirmidhī said: "The ḥadīth is ḥasan ṣaḥīḥ". Al-Ḥākim (also) said, "This chain is ṣaḥīḥ UPON THE STANDARD OF THE TWO SHAYKHS". Al-Dhahabī concurred with him, and it is (indeed) as they both have stated.<sup>19</sup>

In a simple summary, Ḥadīth al-Qadā – as documented by Imām Ibn Majah – has a chain of transmission that is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) and Muslim (d. 261 H). All its narrators are relied upon in both Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī and Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim, and there is no disconnection anywhere in the chain. Apparently, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's weird, unfounded claim that the ḥadīth is narrated only by notorious liars is itself a sickening rape of the truth!

There is equally a mutāba'ah for Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā copied by Imām al-Haythamī (d. 807 H):

أخبرنا أحمد بن مكرم بن خالد البرتي، حدثنا علي بن المديني، حدثنا عبد الوهاب الثقفي، حدثنا خالد الحذاء، عن أبي قلابة عن أنس بن مالك قال :قال رسول الله -

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: "The most merciful of my Ummah to my Ummah is Abū Bakr. The most severe of them concerning the Command of Allāh is 'Umar. The most shy of them is 'Uthmān. And the best judge among them is 'Alī.<sup>20</sup>

We already know that the last four narrators – including Anas – are thiqah narrators of both Ṣaḥiḥ al-Bukhārī and Ṣaḥiḥ Muslim. So, we only have to find out the status of the first two narrators. Once again, Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ saves us time. Imām Ibn Ḥibbān (d. 354 H) records this chain in his Ṣaḥiḥ:

أخبرنا أحمد بن مكرم بن خالد البرتي قال حدثنا علي بن المديني قال حدثنا معن بن عيسى قال حدثنا مالك بن أنس عن صفوان بن سليم عن عطاء بن يسار عن أبي سعيد الحدري

Aḥmad b. Makram b. Khālid al-Birtī -'Alī b. al-Madīnī — Ma'n b. 'Īsā — Mālik b. Anas — Safwān b. Sulaym — 'Aṭā b. Yasār — Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī<sup>21</sup>

Al-Arnāūţ says:

إسناده صحيح على شرط البخاري رجاله ثقات رجال الصحيح غير علي بن المديني فهن رجال البخاري

Its chain is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of al-Bukhārī. Its narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), narrators of the Ṣaḥāḥ, except 'Alī b. al-Madīnī

Abū Hātim Muḥammad b. Hibbān b. Aḥmad b. Hibbān b. Mu'ādh b. Ma'bad al-Tamīmī al-Dārimī al-Bustī, Şaḥāh Ibn Hibbān bi Tartib Ibn Balbān (Beirut: Muasassat al-Risālah; 2nd edition, 1414 H) [annotators: Muḥammad Nāṣir al-Dīn al-Albānī and Shu'ayb al-Arnāūt], vol. 16, p. 404, # 7393

because he is from the narrators of (Saḥāḥ) al-Bukhārī (only).22

So, both al-Birtī and 'Alī b. al-Madīnī are thiqah (trustworthy) narrators of Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī too. As such, the mutāba'ah of 'Alī b. al-Madīnī to Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā in Ḥadīth al-Qaḍā is ṣaḥīḥ as well, upon the standard of Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī!

The ḥadīth has equally been transmitted from other Ṣaḥābah, apart from Anas. Imām al-Haythamī for instance records:

Narrated Jābir b. 'Abd Allāh al-Anṣārī:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: "The most merciful of my Ummah to my Ummah is Abū Bakr. The kindest of my Ummah to my Ummah is 'Umar. The most shy of my Ummah is 'Uthmān. The best judge of my Ummah is 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib''.<sup>23</sup>

He comments:

Al-Ţabarānī narrated it in al-Awsat, and its chain is hasan.24

In modern prints of Mu'jam al-Awsat of Imām al-Ṭabarānī (d. 360 H), this hadāth, unfortunately, is no longer present! The previous existence of this report in al-Awsat is further confirmed by Imām al-Haytamī (d. 974 H):

In the report of al-Ṭabarānī in al-Awsat, it is recorded: "The most

It has gone missing in the same al-Awsat after the time of al-Haytamī.

Finally, 'Allāmah al-Albānī has copied Ḥadīth al-Qaḍā from yet another Ṣaḥābī, namely Ibn 'Umar:

The most compassionate of my Ummah to my Ummah is Abū Bakr, and the most severe of them in the religion of Allāh is 'Umar. The most shy of them is 'Uthmān and the best judge among them is 'Alī.<sup>26</sup>

CONFESSIONS OF THE ŞAḤĀBAH

The companions of the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, used to admit, unanimously, that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, 'alaihi al-salām, was indeed the best judge among them. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H), for instance records:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Wakī' – Sufyān – Ḥabīb b. Abī Thābit – Sa'īd b. Jubayr – Ibn 'Abbās:

'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, said: "'Alī is the best judge among us, and Ubayy is the best reciter among us."<sup>28</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ says:

Its chain is saḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>29</sup>

&lt;sup>29</sup> Ibid

Imām Ahmad further records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا يحيى بن سعيد عن سفيان حدثني حبيب يعني بن أبي ثابت عن سعيد بن جبير عن بن عباس رضي الله عنها قال: قال عمر على أقضانا وأبي أقرؤنا

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd – Sufyān – Ḥabīb b. Abī Thābit – Sa'īd b. Jubayr – Ibn 'Abbās, may Allāh be pleased with them both:

'Umar said: "'Alī is the best judge among us, and Ubayy is the best reciter among us."30

Al-Arnāūt again comments:

إسناده صحيح على شرط الشيخين

Its chain is sahīh upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>31</sup>

This is the third athar recorded on the same matter by Ahmad b. Hanbal:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا سويد بن سعيد في سنة ست وعشرين ومائتين ثنا على بن مسهر عن الأعمش عن حبيب بن أبي ثابت عن سعيد بن جبير عن بن عباس قال خطبنا عمر رضي الله عنه على منبر رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فقال: على رضى الله عنه أقضانا وأبي رضى الله عنه اقرؤنا

'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, delievered a sermon on the pulpit of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, and said: "Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, is the best judge among us, and Ubayy, may Allāh be pleased with him, is the best reciter."32

Shaykh Shu'ayb al-Arnāūṭ has a simple verdict on it:

Şahīh<sup>33</sup>

Notably, 'Umar mentioned this publicly and none among the Saḥābah present – including the most senior ones - objected. This evidences their unanimous concurrence with him on the matter.

Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) records the same athar in his Ṣaḥiḥ:

'Amr b. 'Alī – Yaḥyā – Sufyān – Ḥabīb – Sa'īd b. Jubayr – Ibn 'Abbās:

'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, said: "The best reciter among us is Ubayy, and the best judge among us is 'Alī."<sup>34</sup>

Apart from 'Umar, all the other Ṣaḥābah also explicitly declared that the best judge among them – including their most senior ones living in Madīnah - was none other than Amīr al-Mūminīn. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records:

أخبرني عبد الرحمن بن الحسن القاضي بهمدان ثنا إبراهيم بن الحسين ثنا آدم بن أبي إياس ثنا شعبة عن أبي إسحاق عن عبد الله قال كنا نتحدث أن أقضى أهل المدينة على بن أبي طالب رضى الله عنه

Madīnah was 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, may Allāh be pleased with him."35

Al-Ḥākim says:

This ḥadīth is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>36</sup>

Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H), on his part, keeps silent about it. The reason is unclear since the athar has a perfectly ṣaḥāḥ chain. Meanwhile, he has personally authenticated the sanad and all its narrators in the same book in other aḥādāth! For example, al-Ḥākim records this chain:

'Abd al-Raḥman b. al-Ḥasan al-Qādī – Ibrāhīm b. al-Ḥusayn – Ādam b. Abī Iyās – Shu'bah – Manṣūr – Ibrāhīm – 'Alqamah – 'Abd Allāh (b. Mas'ūd), may Allāh be pleased with him.<sup>37</sup>

The only differences in this sanad from that of the athar are Manṣūr and Ibrāhīm. Al-Hākim declares:

This ḥadīth is ṣaḥiḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>38</sup>

Interestingly, al-Dhahabī confirms the verdict:

This proves that 'Abd al-Raḥman b. al-Ḥasan al-Qādī, Ibrāhīm b. al-Ḥusayn, Ādam b. Abī Iyās, Shu'bah and 'Alqamah are thiqah (trustworthy) narrators!

But, what is the status Abū Ishāq and 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd – the only remaining narrators of Ibn Mas'ūd's athar? Note this chain documented by Imām al-Ḥākim:

Abū Zakariyāh al-'Anbarī — Muḥammad b. 'Abd al-Salām — Isḥāq — Yaḥyā b. Ādam — Isrāīl — Abū Isḥāq — 'Abd al-Rahman b. Yazīd — 'Abd Allāh (b. Mas'ūd), may Allāh be pleased with him.<sup>40</sup>

Al-Hākim comments:

This ḥadīth is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>41</sup>

Al-Dhahabī also reiterates:

(Ṣaḥiḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim.42

As such, all the narrators of the athar are thiqah (trustworthy).

But then, is there any break between Shu'bah and Abū Isḥāq? We have seen the unbroken connection between all the other narrators except these two. This chain, recorded by al-Ḥākim, puts the seal on things:

<sup>40</sup> Ibid, vol. 2, p. 244, # 2888

Al-Hākim states:

This hadith is sahih upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.44

Al-Dhahabī agrees:

(Ṣaḥāḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim.45

Simply put, the chain of the athar of Ibn Mas'ūd is ṣaḥāḥ. All the narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), and there is no disconnection whatsoever in the sanad.

3 ḤADĪTH AL-QAŅĀ

'ALĪ'S SUPERIOR KNOWLEDGE OF THE QUR'ĀN AND SUNNAH

There is no dispute about the fact that Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, was the most competent in justice dispensation among all the Ṣaḥābah. In fact, he is the best judge in our whole Ummah till the Day of al-Qiyāmah after its Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. On a specific level, he was better - in terms of justice dispensation - than Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān. So, what is the direct implication of this?

In Islām, justice dispensation is based squarely upon the Qur'ān and Sunnah:

So, judge between them by what Allāh has revealed.46

The Qur'an itself, in its entirety, is described as "a judgment" by its Master:

And thus We have sent it down as a judgment in Arabic<sup>47</sup>

As such, complete knowledge of everything in it is required for effective justice dispensation.

Moreover, the Sunnah is the divinely inspired explanations of this "judgment" called al-Qur'ān:

And We have sent down unto you (Muḥammad) al-Dhikr (i.e. the Qur'ān) that you may explain clearly to mankind what is sent down to them.<sup>48</sup>

Apparently, a person does not know the Book of Allāh until he has known its explanations by the Messenger of Allāh. These explanations, according to the same Book, only originated from the Lord as well:

He (Muhammad) never speaks of (his own) desire or caprice. It is nothing but a wally that is revealed (to him).<sup>49</sup>

It is obvious. If anyone were more knowledgeable of the Qur'ān and Sunnah than 'Alī in this Ummah, he ('Alī) would not have been its best judge. It is simply unfathomable that Allāh and His Messenger would have conferred upon him such a rank while there was/is another – in the Ummah as a whole - who was/is more competent with the tools of justice dispensation than he was!

It is noteworthy that knowledge of the revelations of Allāh surpasses mere knowledge of al-ḥalāl (the permissible) and al-ḥarām (the prohibited). It covers everything from the Lord to humanity. Most importantly, merely knowing the legal status of a thing is not enough for justice dispensation. The judge must equally be fully aware of the penalties (if any) prescribed for it, and the best ways and circumstances to exercise personal discretion in different cases in line with the Wish of Allāh. None, apparently, is as competent in these fields as 'Alī.

At this point, it is apposite to quote this groundbreaking riwāyah referenced by al-Ḥāfiz Ibn Kathīr (d. 774 H):

قال شعبة بن الحجاج ، عن سِمَاك ، عن خالد بن عُرْعَرَة أنه سمع عليا وشعبة أيضًا ، عن القاسم بن أبي بزَّة ، عن أبي الطُّقْيل ، سمع عليًا. وثبت أيضًا من غير وجه ، عن أمير المؤمنين علي بن أبي طالب : أنه صعد منبر الكوفة فقال : لا تسألوني عن آية في كتاب الله ، ولا عن سنة عن رسول الله ، إلا أنبأتكم بذلك.

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj, from Simāk, from Khālid b. 'Ar'arah that he heard 'Alī; and Shu'bah again narrated from al-Qāsim b. Abī Barrah from Abū al-Tufayl that he heard 'Alī; and IT IS ALSO AUTHENTICALLY TRANSMITTED through many chains that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib climbed the pulpit of Kūfah and said, "You will not ask me about ANY verse in the Book of Allāh, or about ANY Sunnah from the Messenger of Allāh, except that I will inform you about that."<sup>50</sup>

None of the Şaḥābah was ever able to make a similar claim!

Secondly, justice must be administered with utmost fairness and equity:

If you judge, judge between them with fairness and equity.<sup>51</sup>

This verse allows the use of personal discretion in the administration of justice, especially in all cases where no divinely fixed penalties or judgments are available. But even then, it also reiterates the notion that the judge must know everything in the Qur'ān and the Sunnah! Full knowledge of both is required to determine whether or not there is a fixed penalty or judgment concerning a particular case. If there is none, then the judge uses his discretion. Where the judge does not know whether Allāh has already fixed the judgment for the issue before him – due to an insufficient knowledge of the Book and the Tradition - he is most likely to effect a miscarriage of justice, without even realizing it!

Moreover, the judge must give his judgments with the best interests of fairness and equity at heart. This is the second message of the above verse. Where there is a divinely fixed penalty or judgment, he must apply it in the fairest and most equitable manners. Where there is no such fixed penalty or judgment, then he equally must adopt his personal discretion in ways that best ensure a completely fair and equitable dispensation of justice.

Amīr al-Mūminīn has been declared the best judge by Allāh and His Messenger. Apparently, he is the one, within Islām, with the best knowledge and practice in justice dispensation. Most importantly, he is the fairest and the most equitable among us all – including the Ṣaḥābah - in the application of Allāh's Fixed Verdicts and in the just administration of personal discretion.

The most crucial part of this discourse, probably, is stated in this verse:

O Dāwūd! We have appointed you a khalūfah over the earth. Therefore, judge between mankind with the truth.<sup>52</sup>

First and foremost, it is clear from this verse that justice dispensation is the job of the khalīfah, to the exclusion of all others. He is the judge of "mankind". Every single other human beings comes under his juridical authority. Of course, he might appoint subordinate judges to assist him, under his close supervision. However, the job belongs to him alone. Therefore, whoever is the most qualified to be judge is also the most qualified for the khilāfah!

Besides, the competent judge is he who is able to discern the truth, and who judges with the truth. Judgment with the truth involves the objective application of Allāh's Fixed Verdicts over relevant issues, as well as the selfless administration of personal discretion in deserving cases. The judge therefore must be very intelligent and completely truthful. Application of personal discretion to reach true justice requires an extremely high level of intelligence, selflessness, sincerity and honesty. An unintelligent person cannot be expected to skillfully detect the truth from a clog of complex arguments and proofs before him. Moreover, a corrupt or self-serving fellow cannot be expected to judge others with the truth, or to apply his personal discretion fairly. With these facts in mind, one can then safely conclude and proclaim that Amīr al-Mūminīn - being the best judge in this Ummah - was the most qualified for the khilāfah immediately after the Prophet. In addition, he is the most truthful, the most intelligent, the most selfless, the most sincere, the most honest, and the best in recognizing and applying the truth in this Ummah after the Messenger.

4 ḤADĪTH AL-QAŅĀ

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE I

The khalīfah of Muslims is also their sovereign judge:

O Dāwūd! We have appointed you a khalīfah over the earth. Therefore, judge between mankind with the truth.<sup>53</sup>

Since 'Umar was recognized by most Muslims of his time as their khalīfah, it follows naturally that he was also their sovereign judge. The question is: was 'Umar a competent judge? To find the answer, we must look at some iconic cases decided by 'Umar b. al-Khatṭāb.

Imām Ibn Khuzaymah (d. 311 H) records about an interesting case:

Yūnus b. 'Abd al-A'lā and Muḥammad b. 'Abd Allāh b. al-Ḥakam – Ibn Wahb – Jarīr b. Ḥāzim – Sulaymān b. Mihrān – Abū Zibyān – Ibn 'Abbās:

'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib passed by a lunatic woman from so-and-so tribe, and she had committed adultery. 'Umar ordered that she be stoned to death. So, 'Alī returned her and said to 'Umar, "O Amīr al-Mūminīn! Do you want to stone this (woman)?" He ('Umar) replied, "Yes". He ('Alī) said, "Do you remember that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: 'The pen has been lifted about three people: the mentally ill, the person sleeping until he wakes up, and the child until he becomes an adolescent." He ('Umar) responded, "You have said the truth". So, 'Umar freed her (i.e. the lunatic woman).<sup>54</sup>

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) comments:

Elsewhere, Imām Ibn Khuzaymah also records:

A lunatic woman, who had committed adultery, was brought to 'Umar. So, he consulted with some people about her, and therefore ordered that she be stoned to death. But, 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, ridwānullāh 'alaihi, passed by her and said, "What is the issue with this (woman)"? They replied, "She is a lunatic woman from so-and-so tribe. She committed adultery and 'Umar ordered that she be stoned to death." So, he ('Alī) said, "Return with her (to 'Umar)." Then he ('Alī) came to him ('Umar), and said, "O Amīr al-Mūminīn! Do you know that the pen has been lifted in the case of a lunatic until he is cured, and of someone sleeping until he wakes up, and in the case of a child until he becomes mentally mature?" He ('Umar) replied, "Yes, I do". He ('Alī) asked, "So, why do you want to stone this (woman)?" He ('Umar) replied, "There is NOTHING!" He ('Alī) said, "Free her". So, he ('Umar) freed her, saying Allāhu Akbar!<sup>64</sup>

Reading all the narrations together, one gets the full picture of what happened:

- 1. A lunatic woman was charged with adultery, which she apparently committed in her still extant state of insanity.
- 2. The Shari'ah provides that crimes committed in a state of insanity are not justiciable.
- 3. 'Umar was well aware of this rule, and was fully convinced that the lunatic woman truly committed the adultery in a state of insanity. He nonetheless consulted with his team of judicial advisers (which excluded 'Alī) on the matter, and eventually made up his mind to execute her.
- 4. While convicting the lunatic woman and passing the death sentence against her, 'Umar fully remembered the above-mentioned rule of the Shari'ah.
- 5. Nonetheless, 'Umar ordered the execution of the lunatic woman for "nothing", in his own words.
- 6. Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī saw a clear miscarriage of justice in the judgment of 'Umar, and stood against the order of the commander-in-chief, at great personal risks. He prevented 'Umar's executioners from carrying out their illegal orders.
- 7. 'Alī asked 'Umar if the latter knew the Shari'ah ruling concerning lunatic people. 'Umar replied: "Yes, I do". Surprised, he further asked the latter why he wanted to execute the lunatic woman in that case. 'Umar made no secret of his intention. There was simply "nothing"! There was no reason. He only wished to kill the woman, and that was it!
- 8. 'Alī reminded him of the ḥadīth of the Prophet on the matter. Perhaps, 'Umar had forgotten the source of the Sharī'ī ruling. Luckily, 'Umar admitted to the truth of the hadīth.
- 9. At this point, 'Alī advised him to free the innocent lunatic woman. Fortunately for her, 'Umar accepted 'Alī's advice and allowed her to go free.

Without 'Alī's timely intervention, 'Umar would have deliberately executed the innocent woman for "nothing"!

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE II

Imām Ibn Abī Ḥātim (d. 327 H) records about another iconic judgment delivered by 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb in his capacity as the khalṭfah over the Ummah:

أخبرنا أبي ، ثنا أبو بكر محمد بن بشار ، ثنا إبن أبي عدي ، عن سعيد ، عن قتادة عن أبي حرب ، يعني : ابن أبي الاسود الديلي ، عن أبيه ، ان عمر بن الخطاب ، رفعت اليه امراة ولدت ستة اشهر ، فهم برجمها ، فبلغ ذلك عليا فقال : ليس عليها رجم ، قال الله تعالى : والوالدات يرضعن اولادهن حولين كاملين وستة اشهر ، ذلك ثلاثون شهرا .

My father (Abū Ḥātim) – Abū Bakr Muḥammad b. Bashār – Ibn Abī 'Adī – Saʾīd – Qatādah – Abū Ḥarb b. Abī al-Aswad al-Dīlī – his father (Abū al-Aswad al-Daylī):

A woman was brought to 'Umar b. al-Khatṭāb. She had delivered after (only) six months of pregnancy. So, he ('Umar) resolved to stone her to death. This (decision) reached 'Alī. Therefore, he ('Alī) said, "She does not deserve any penalty of stoning to death. Allāh says: 'The mothers shall give suck to their children for two whole years (2:233)'. This (period) plus six months equals thirty months (mentioned in 46:15 as the total for both pregnancy and suckling)"'.66

Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) submits about the first narrator:

Abū Ḥātim al-Rāzī, Muḥammad b. Idrīs b. al-Mundhir b. Dāwud b. Mihrān: al-imām (the leader in Ḥadīth), al-ḥāfīz (the ḥadīth scientist), al-nāqid (the ḥadīth critic), shaykh al-muḥadīthīn (teacher of the ḥadīth scientists and narrators).<sup>67</sup>

About the second narrator, al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) says:

Muḥammad b. Bashār b. 'Uthmān al-'Abdī al-Baṣrī, Abū Bakr Bandār: Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>68</sup>

What of the third narrator? Al-Dhahabī submits:

Muḥammad b. Ibrāhīm b. Abī 'Adī, Abū 'Amr, from Baṣra: Thiqah (trustworthy)<sup>69</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiẓ agrees:

Muḥammad b. Ibrāhīm b. Abī 'Adī.... Abū 'Amr al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>70</sup>

The fourth narrator is Sa'īd, and al-Ḥāfiz comments on him in this manner:

Sa'īd b. Abī 'Arūbah Mihrān al-Yashkirī, their freed slave, Abū al-Naḍar al-Basrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfiz (a ḥadīth scientist), he wrote books. However, he did a lot of tadlīs, and became confused. He was one of the most authoritative narrators from Qatādah.<sup>71</sup>

Concerning the fifth narrator, al-Ḥāfiz further submits:

Qatādah b. Da'āmah b. Qatādah al-Sudūsī, Aboo al-Khaṭṭaab al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate).<sup>72</sup>

Like the fourth narrator, he too is accused of tadlis, as proclaimed by al-Hāfiz:

Qatādah b. Da'āmah al-Sudūsī al-Baṣrī, the companion of Anas b. Mālik, may Allāh the Most High be pleased with him. He was the hāfiz (hadīth scientist) of his time, and he is famous for tadlīs. Al-Nasāī and others described him with it.<sup>73</sup>

The sixth narrator is trustworthy as well, as affirmed by al-Ḥāfiz:

Abū Ḥarb b. Abī al-Aswad al-Dīlī al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy)<sup>74</sup>

With regards to the last narrator, al-Ḥāfiz states:

Abū al-Aswad al-Dīlī....: Thigah (trustworthy)<sup>75</sup>

In a word, all the narrators are trustworthy. But, there are three issues with the chain. The fourth narrator (Sa'īd) did tadlīs a lot and also became confused. The question is: does his tadlīs affect his narrations from Qatādah, especially as he has narrated in an 'an-'an manner? Moreover, did the third narrator (Ibn Abī 'Adī) hear from him before or during his confusion? Lastly, Qatādah himself was famous for tadlīs. So, does his tadlīs affect his 'an-'an reports from Abū Harb?

Some of these questions are answered in the following isnad documented by Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) in his Ṣaḥīḥ:

Muḥammad b. Bashār — Yaḥyā and Ibn Abī 'Adī — Sa'īd — Qatādah — Anas b. Mālik<sup>76</sup>

Interestingly, this chain is almost identical to the one we are investigating! We see that Sa'īd has narrated 'an-'an from Qatādah, and al-Bukhārī considers the sanad to be ṣaḥāḥ. This proves that Sa'īd's tadlīs does not affect his 'an-'an reports from Qatādah. It is noteworthy that Qatādah's 'an-'an reports from Anas are also accepted as ṣaḥāḥ, as in the above chain.

In this sanad of al-Bukhārī, Ibn Abī 'Adī is conjoined with Yaḥyā. However, in another chain in the same Ṣaḥiḥ, he stands alone:

Muḥammad b. Bashār – Ibn Abī 'Adī – Sa'īd – Qatādah – Anas b. Mālik<sup>77</sup>

As such, Ibn Abī 'Adī authentically transmitted from Saʾīd. He apparently narrated from the Saʾīd before the latter's confusion. Moreover, this isnād reiterates the fact that Saʾīd's 'an-'an reports from Qatādah are ṣaḥāḥ. In other words, his tadlīs does not affect them.

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) confirms all our words:

Ibn al-Muthannā – Ibn Abī 'Adī – Sa'īd – Qatādah.... I (al-Albānī) say: This chain is şaḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>78</sup>

Imām Ibn Khuzaymah (d. 311 H) also records:

Muḥammad b. Bashār and Abū Mūsā — Ibn Abī 'Adī — Sa'īd — Qatādah — Abū Tamīmah — Abū Mūsā al-Ash'arī.<sup>79</sup>

Dr. Al-A'zamī declares:

إسناده صحيح

Its chain is şaḥih80

Needless to say, Ibn Khuzaymah also considers the sanad to be saḥīḥ, and has therefore included it in his Saḥīḥ.

The bottom-line is as follows:

- Ibn Abī 'Adī authentically narrated from Saʾīd, before the latter's confusion.
- 2. The 'an-'an reports of Sa'id from Qatādah are ṣaḥāḥ. The former's tadlīs does not affect them.
- 3. Some 'an-'an reports of Qatādah like those from Anas and Abū Tamīmah are also ṣaḥiḥ. Qatādah's tadlīs has no effect on them.

The big question, at this point, is: what is the status of Qatādah's 'an-'an narrations from Abū Ḥarb? According to high-ranking Sunni muḥadithūn, such narrations are ṣaḥiḥ. For instance, 'Allāmah al-Albānī states:

قلت: وهذا إسناد صحيح

Musaddad – Yaḥyā – (Sa'īd) b. Abī 'Arūbah – Qatādah – Abū Ḥarb b. Abī al-Aswad – his father – 'Alī.

I say: This chain is ṣaḥtḥ.81

This chain, like some others, is almost identical with that of the report from Ibn Abī Ḥātim. Here, the 'Allāmah confirms that the 'an-'an reports of Sa'īd from Qatādah are ṣaḥiḥ, as well as Qatādah's 'an-'an narrations from Abū Ḥarb. Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ too backs him:

Imām Abū Ya'lā further records:

Shaykh Dr. Asad comments:

إسناده صحيح

Its chain is saḥiḥ84

In a simple summary, the athar from Ibn Abī Ḥātim about how 'Umar sentenced a woman to death for delivering the baby only after six months of pregnancy has an impeccably <code>ṣaḥīḥ</code> chain. All the narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), and the <code>sanad</code> is fully connected.

There are some serious substantive and procedural problems with the judgment of 'Umar, which reveal a lot about him. He sentenced the woman to death by stoning. This suggests that he had convicted her of adultery. His only proof against her was that she delivered her baby only after six months of her known pregnancy. In the obviously invalid view of 'Umar, a sixmonth pregnancy was absolutely impossible. As such, the woman must have been secretly pregnant before her husband started counting the days of her pregnancy – apparently, from the date of their last successful encounter (by his calculations). In other words, while her husband was having sexual intercourse with her (and most probably, it was their first time), she was already secretly pregnant for another man.

The Book of Allāh has laid down the procedural law in all cases of zinā:

Those who accuse chaste women, and do not produce four witnesses, flog them with eighty stripes, and reject their testimony forever, they indeed are the liars.<sup>85</sup>

So, in order to establish the charge of zinā against anyone, four witnesses who saw the crime with their own eyes must be called upon to testify. Without the production of those four witnesses, the accuser himself must be penalized, and declared an eternal liar whose future testimonies must always be rejected.

Was 'Umar aware of the above verse? The answer is not clear. What is undeniable however is that he paid absolutely no attention to it. He never demanded the testimony of four eye-witnesses to support his charge of zinā against the woman. He simply convicted her based upon his mere suspicion. This singular incident casts a huge dark cloak over 'Umar till the Hour.

Firstly, 'Umar had wrongly convicted the woman of adultery without evidence. He never demanded or presented four witnesses to support his conviction (which in essence is also an accusation). Therefore, he himself deserved to be flogged with eighty stripes and declared a persona non grata within the Islāmic Ummah. The other persons who dragged the woman to him also needed to be investigated. If they too had accused her of zinā without calling four eye-witnesses to testify, then each of them must also be punished in the same manner as 'Umar.

Secondly, let us assume that 'Umar did not merely rely upon unfounded suspicion in convicting the woman. Rather, four eye-witnesses who saw her in the middle of the adultery were summoned, and they testified. Therefore, she was indeed guilty and truly deserved the stoning penalty. Where then was her partner in the crime? What sentence did 'Umar hand down upon him? If two people committed zinā, is it only the woman that can be punished? Are men supposed to go scotfree for their crimes of adultery? It is extremely strange that 'Umar was itching to send the woman to her grave, without asking a single question about her accomplice!

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE III

The khalīfah of Muslims is their supreme judge on every aspect of their religion, like the Messenger of Allāh. As such, Muslims are required to refer all their religious problems and disputes to him for judgment, and his verdicts are binding over them. This function necessitates that the khalīfah be the most knowledgeable of the Ummah throughout his administration. Otherwise, he would be unfit for the grand office. Issuing correct religious verdicts on all types of religious questions and disputes, from all persons of all calibres, certainly requires unparalleled knowledge.

During his rule, a man came to 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb with his personal religious problem. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records about how the khalīfah handled it:

حدثني عبدالله بن هاشم العبدي حدثنا يحيى (يعني ابن سعيد القطان) عن شعبة قال حدثني الحكم عن ذر عن سعيد بن عبدالرحمن بن أبزي عن أبيه أن رجلا أتى عمر فقال: إني أجنبت فلم أجد ماء فقال لا تصل فقال عار أما تذكر يا أمير المؤمنين إذ أنا وأنت في سرية فأجنبنا فلم نجد ماء فأما أنت فلم تصل وأما أنا فتمعكت في التراب وصليت فقال النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم إنما كان يكفيك أن تضرب بيديك الأرض ثم تنفخ ثم تمسح بها وجمك وكفيك فقال عمر اتق الله يا عار قال إن شئت لم أحدث به

'Abd Allāh b. Hishām al-'Abdī – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd al-Qaṭṭān – Shu'bah – al-

Hakam – Dharr – Sa'īd b. 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Abza – his father:

A man came to 'Umar and said: "I have seminal discharges and I cannot find water (to do the ghusl)". He ('Umar) said, "Do not perform Ṣalāt." So, 'Ammar said, "Do you remember, O Amīr al-Mūminīn, when I and you were in a military detachment and we had seminal discharges and could not find water and you ('Umar) did not perform the Ṣalāt. As for me, I rolled myself in dust and performed the Ṣalāt. So, the Prophet, peace be upon him, said, "It was enough for you to strike the soil with your hands and then blow and then wipe your face and palms". Umar said: "Fear Allāh, O Ammār!" Therefore, he ('Ammār) replied, "If you so like, I would not narrate it".86

There are some really interesting facts in this narration:

- 1. 'Umar and Ammār, radiyallāhu 'anhu, were both together in a military detachment, and they had seminal discharges.
- 2. Ammār rolled himself in the soil in order to cleanse himself for Ṣalāt, due to a lack of water. He had no divine guidance for the act. It was only his intuition.
- 3. 'Umar, on his part, completely refrained from offering any Ṣalāt as long as he could not find water.
- 4. Both recounted their experiences to the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, who taught them tayammum as the correct step should they encounter a similar situation.
- 5. During 'Umar's rule, a man came to him with the same problem that he personally had gone through. But, rather than offer to him the solution of tayammum as taught by the Prophet, 'Umar instructed the man with his own initial wrong step!
- 6. 'Ammār attempted to remind 'Umar of the Sunnah in such situations. But, the latter simply did not want to hear about it!

There are a number of questions here. First and foremost, did 'Umar deliberately reject the Sunnah or not? This depends upon whether he actually remembered the incident involving him and 'Ammār. If he did, and still gave the ruling that he gave, then he would have been contemptuous of the Sunnah. Moreover, even if he had completely forgotten it, why did he not act on 'Ammār's reminder? From the look of it, he was not convinced by 'Ammār's narration. He most probably had very serious doubts about the accuracy of 'Ammār's ḥadīth. Therefore, he saw no real reason to alter his decision on the matter.

So, the best-case scenario is that 'Umar had absolutely forgotten the incident of tayammum, which involved him personally and directly. In addition, when 'Ammār attempted to revive his memory of the event, he had grave trust issues with the latter's report. Therefore, he did not remember, and there was no other reliable source to bring back his memories of the incident. The worst-case scenario is that 'Umar actually remembered the ḥadīth, or was at least successfully reminded of it by 'Ammār. Yet, he thought that his personal solution to the issue before him outweighed the Sunnah of the Messenger of Allāh. As such, he was in contempt of Muḥammad and his teachings.

We will go with the best-case scenario. 'Umar had completely forgotten, and was not successfully reminded. This fact casts a mammoth shadow of doubt over 'Umar's memory power. Since he forgot the incident of tayammum so completely and absolutely, it is extremely uncertain that he was able to remember many – if not most - other teachings of the Prophet that were necessary in his discharge of his day-to-day judicial functions. The end result is that he lacked the requisite scholarly prowess for the office. The natural product of absolutely forgetting anything is complete ignorance of it.

Something that baffles the mind is how 'Umar came to the conclusion that he could issue rulings in the Shari'ah with his personal opinions simply because he had forgotten, or did not know, the correct positions. Is ignorance an excuse for the adoption of personal opinions in the Law of Allāh? The Qur'ān answers:

Whosoever does NOT give rulings, verdicts, judgments, or commands based upon what Allāh has revealed, such people are the infidels.<sup>87</sup>

Therefore, giving a ruling by personal opinion amounts to disbelief (kufi), according to Allāh. Why did 'Umar take such an extreme risk? He should have simply remained silent, or sought the advice of superior jurists like Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, Ibn 'Abbās, radiyallāhu 'anhu, and others. His reliance upon personal opinion in issuing a ruling in the Shari'ah of

Allāh was a very wrong step. It saved neither him, nor the man who came to him for judgment.

Perhaps, the most disturbing part is that the ruling of tayammum is explicitly stated at two different places in the Book of Allāh:

And if you are ill, or on a journey, or one of you comes after answering the call of nature, or you have had sexual intercourse with women and you cannot find water, perform tayammum with clean soil and rub therewith your faces and hands.<sup>88</sup>

It is apparent. Despite the double presence of the ruling of tayammum in the Qur'ān, 'Umar did NOT know it. This raises a blood-red flag on 'Umar's knowledge of the Book of Allāh. Obviously, he was not a hāfīz (memorizer) of the Qur'ān. Secondly, his knowledge of its verses, and of al-Fiqh, must have been extremely deficient, as tayammum is only one of the beginner's courses in Islāmic jurisprudence!

'Umar's controversial judgment expectedly split the Ummah. There were his loyalists who thought that his clearly invalid ruling was more correct than the Qur'ān and Sunnah! There were also his opponents who sided with Allāh and His Messenger. One of the staunchest loyalists of 'Umar was 'Abd Allāh b. Mas'ūd, a very senior Ṣaḥābī. Imām Muslim records:

Yaḥyā b. Yaḥyā, Abū Bakr b. Abī Shaybah and Ibn Numayr — Abū Mu'āwiyah — al-A'mash — Shaqīq:

I was sitting with 'Abd Allāh (b. Mas'ūd) and Abū Mūsā (al-Ash'arī). So, Abū Mūsā asked: "O Abū 'Abd al-Raḥman, what is your opinion: if a man had a seminal discharge and could not find water for one month, how should he do about the Ṣalāt? 'Abd Allāh replied, "He should NOT perform tayammum even if he cannot find water for a month".

Abū Mūsā then said, "What about this verse in Sūrat al-Māidah said, 'And you cannot find water, then perform tayammum with clean soil?" 'Abd Allāh replied, "If they were allowed on the basis of this verse, there is a possibility that they would perform tayammum with soil even if water were available but cold." So, Abū Mūsā said to 'Abd Allāh, "Have you not heard the statement of 'Ammār: 'The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, sent me on an errand and I had a seminal discharge, but could not find water. So I rolled myself in the soil just as a beast rolls itself. Then, I came to the Prophet, peace be upon him then and mentioned that to him and he (the Messenger) said: "It would have been enough for you to do thus". Then he struck the earth with his hands once and wiped his right hand with the help of his left hand and the exterior of his palms and his face'." 'Abd Allāh replied: "Didn't you see that 'Umar was NOT satisfied with the statement of 'Ammār?"<sup>89</sup>

Abū Mūsā was on the side of the Qur'ān and Sunnah, and sought to correct Ibn Mas'ūd on his diehard 'Umarist stance on tayammum. The former quoted the Book of Allāh and the explicit teaching of His Messenger. Ibn Mas'ūd however rejected both, citing excuses. He could not allow the people to follow the Qur'ān, because there was a "possibility" that they would abuse its ruling. Well, this same logic could be employed to turn down everything that Islām teaches! Moreover, Ibn Mas'ūd equally refused the Sunnah of the Prophet only because 'Umar was not satisfied with 'Ammār's hadūth!

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE IV

Tayammum was not the only topic in Islāmic jurisprudence that 'Umar had great difficulty grasping. There were many others, even according to his own confessions. We will be briefly examining a few examples and their implications.

Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) opens the discussion:

حدثنا أحمد بن أبي رجاء حدثنا يحيى عن أبي حيان التيمي عن الشعبي عن ابن عمر رضي الله عنها قال: خطب عمر على منبر رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فقال إنه قد نزل تحريم الخمر وهي من خمسة أشياء العنب والتمر والحنطة والشعير والعسل والخمر ما خامر العقل. وثلاث وددت أن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم لم يفارقنا حتى يعهد إلينا عهدا الجد والكلالة وأبواب من أبواب الربا

Aḥmad b. Abī Rajāh — Yaḥyā — Abū Ḥayyān al-Tamīmī — Shu'bī — Ibn 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with them both:

'Umar delivered a sermon on the pulpit of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, saying, "Verily, there was revealed an order making alcohol harām, and it is made from five things: grape, date, wheat, barley and honey. Alcohol is whatsoever clouds the mind. I wish the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, had not left us before he could explain three matters to us: the inheritance of the grandfather,

kalālah and various types of ribā (usury)."90

Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records too:

Abū Bakr b. Abī Shaybah – 'Alī b. Mas-har – Abū Ḥayyān – al-Sha'bī – Ibn 'Umar:

'Umar delivered a sermon on the pulpit of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. He thanked Allāh and praised him. Then he said, "Now, coming to the point: verily, there was revealed an order making alcohol harām on the day it was revealed. It is made from five things: wheat, barley, date, raisin and honey. Alcohol is anything which clouds the intellect. There are three matters, O people, that I wish the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, had explained to us: inheritance of the grandfather, kalālah and various types of ribā (usury).<sup>91</sup>

وأخبرنا علي بن محمد بن عقبة ثنا الهيثم بن خالد ثنا أبو نعيم ثنا سفيان عن عمرو بن مرة عن مرة عن عمر رضي الله عنه قال ثلاث لأن يكون النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم بينهم لنا أحب إلي من الدنيا وما فيها الخلافة والكلالة والربا

"There are three matters. Had the Prophet, peace be upon him, clearly explained them to us, that would have been more beloved to me than this world and whatsoever is in it: the khilāfah (caliphate), kalālah and ribā (usury)".92

Al-Ḥākim says:

This hadith is sahih upon the standard of the two Shaykhs93

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) agrees:

(Ṣahīh) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim<sup>94</sup>

Imām Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal (d. 241 H) has an even clearer report:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Yaḥyā – Ibn Abī 'Arūbah – Qatādah – Saʾīd b. al-Musayyab:

'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, said: "Verily, the last of what was revealed in the Qur'ān was the Verse of Ribā. And verily, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, died and never explained it. Therefore, avoid ribā and doubt.<sup>95</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ comments:

It is ḥasan. Its narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), narrators of the two Shaykhs.<sup>96</sup>

Apparently, 'Umar did not know the Islāmic rulings and teachings concerning the inheritance of the grandfather (from his grandchild), kalālah, usury (ribā) and the khilāfah. He therefore placed the blame on the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, and accused him of never explaining them to his Ummah. His allegations however directly contradict these verses:

The duty of the Messenger is only to convey in a clear way.<sup>97</sup>

And We have sent down unto you (Muḥammad) al-Dhikr (i.e. the Qur'ān) that you may explain clearly to mankind what is sent down to them.<sup>98</sup>

Therefore, if the Prophet had not explained clearly a single item of his risālah, he would have failed in his mission. Allāh however testifies in favour of His Messenger, that he actually conveyed and explained everything clearly to the Ummah. This was why He declared the religion completed and perfect:

This Day, I have perfected your religion for you, completed My Favour upon you, and have chosen for you Islām as your religion.<sup>99</sup>

This is an unmistakable testimony that the Messenger did explain

everything in a clear, explicit and simple manner to his followers. He successfully fulfilled his mission. It was 'Umar that had once again forgotten completely that the Messenger performed his duty.

One then wonders how 'Umar handled questions and disputes regarding the inheritance of the grandfather, kalālah, usury and the khilāfah that were brought to his court. He either relied upon his personal opinion – as in the case of tayammum – or rather guessed and gambled in his judgments. Another possibility was that he would refer those issues to superior jurists among the Ṣaḥābah, raḍiyallāh 'anhum, for help. In all cases, his competency as even an ordinary judge falls into serious doubt. It gets really worse when one considers that 'Umar was the sovereign judge, and that there was no right of appeal against his rulings and judgments.

Of the four subjects, 'Umar had particular difficulty in grasping kalālah. He never understood it till his death. So, we will flash light upon it, as this situation reveals some more information about him. Imām Muslim records:

حدثنا محمد بن أبي بكر المقدمي ومحمد بن المثنى (واللفظ لابن المثنى) قالا حدثنا يحيى بن سعيد حدثنا هشام حدثنا قتادة عن سالم بن أبي الجعد عن معدان بن أبي طلحة أن عمر بن الخطاب خطب يوم جمعة فذكر نبي الله صلى الله عليه و سلم وذكر أبا بكر ثم قال إني لا أدع بعدي شيئا أهم من الكلالة ما راجعت رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم في شيء ما راجعته في الكلالة وما أغلظ لي في شيء ما أغلظ لي فيه حتى طعن بأصبعه في صدري وقال يا عمر ألا تكفيك آية الصيف التي في آخر سورة النساء ؟ وإني إن أعش أقض فيها بقضية يقضي بها من يقرأ القرآن ومن لا يقرأ القرآن

Muḥammad b. Abī Bakr al-Muqaddamī and Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā — Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd — Hishām — Qatādah — Sālim b. Abī al-Ja'd — Ma'dān b. Abī Ṭalḥah:

'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb delivered a sermon on Friday and mentioned the Prophet of Allāh, peace be upon him, and also mentioned Abū Bakr. Then he said, "I do not abandon behind me anything more important than kalālah. I did not refer to the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, concerning anything as I referred to him concerning kalālah. And he was never as harsh to me concerning anything as he was harsh to me about it, so much that he struck my chest with his fingers and said, "O 'Umar, is the Verse of the Summer, which is at the end of Sūrat al-Nisā, not sufficient for you?" If I ('Umar) lived longer, I would give judge concerning it (i.e. kalālah) with a judgment that would be the precedent for all future judgments concerning it by those who could read the Qur'ān and those who could not read the Qur'ān."<sup>100</sup>

Imām Aḥmad again documents:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا إسهاعيل عن سعيد بن أبي عروبة عن قتادة عن سالم بن أبي الجعد عن معدان بن أبي طلحة قال قال عمر رضي الله عنه: ما سألت رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم عن شيء اكثر مما سألته عن الكلالة حتى طعن بأصبعه في صدري وقال تكفيك آية الصيف التي في آخر سورة النساء

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — Ismā'īl — Sa'īd b. Abī 'Arūbah — Qatādah — Sālim b. Abī al-Ja'd — Ma'dān b. Abī Talhah:

'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, said: "I never asked the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, about anything more (repeatedly) than I asked him about kalālah so much that he struck my chest with his fingers and said, "O 'Umar, is the Verse of the Summer, which is at the end of Sūrat al-Nisā, not sufficient for you?" <sup>101</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūt comments:

Its chain is ṣaḥtḥ upon the standard of Muslim. Its narrators are thiqah (trustworthy). 102

So, 'Umar's most difficult topic was kalālah. Although he was basically clueless about the other topics as well, kalālah proved the most stubborn of them to him. He repeatedly questioned the Messenger of Allāh about it. It was the Prophet's job to explain things clearly to him each time, and we believe he did that each time 'Umar came to him. In the end, the Messenger got frustrated and baffled by 'Umar's inability to comprehend a fairly straightforward topic like kalālah, even after several explanations! What exactly is so difficult about it? Moreover, the Prophet thought that there was a verse about kalālah at the end of Sūrat al-Nisā, which was fully self-explanatory and ordinarily should be sufficient for anyone without further commentary<sup>103</sup>. Why was 'Umar still unable to grasp it, despite the verse and the repeated explanations?

Surprisingly, 'Umar apparently read the Verse of the Summer (before or after the Messenger of Allāh referred him to it) but could not understand its simple rules. Worse still, the Prophet repeatedly explained it to him, and he nonetheless did not get it! This raises some grave concerns about 'Umar's comprehension skills. It also apparently reveals why the Messenger became frustrated and harsh with him.

Does justice dispensation require very high comprehension skills on the part of the judge? We leave the answer to our esteemed reader.

while the latter concerns maternal siblings.

<sup>103</sup> It is Qur'ān 4:176, usually read together with Qur'ān 4:12. Both are about kalālah. Meanwhile, the first is generally believed, among the Ahl al-Sunnah, to be about full siblings,

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE V

As the chief law enforcement officer of the Ummah, the khalīfah has the authority to arrest and prosecute anyone who commits an offence in his presence. There is no requirement anywhere that the crime must be reported to him by someone else before he could arrest and prosecute. Imām 'Abd al-Razzāq (d. 211 H) records an instance where 'Umar, as the khalīfah, invoked this authority:

أخبرنا عبد الرزاق قال :أخبرنا عبيد الله بن عمر عن نافع عن صفية ابنة أبي عبيد . ومعمر عن نافع عن صفية قالت :وجد عمر في بيت رجل من ثقيف خمرا، وقد كان جلده في الخمر فحرق بيته، وقال :ما اسمك؟ قال :رويشد، . قال :بل أنت فويسق

'Abd al-Razzāq – 'Ubayd Allāh b. 'Umar AND Ma'mar – Nāfi' – Safiyyah b. Abī 'Ubayd:

'Umar discovered alcohol in the house of a man from (the tribe of) Thaqīf. He (the man) had already been lashed for alcohol consumption in the past. Therefore, he ('Umar) burnt his house, and asked, "What is your name?" He (the man) replied, "Ruwayshid." He ('Umar) retorted, "Rather, you are Funaysiq (an abusive word)".<sup>104</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) states about the first narrator:

'Abd al-Razzāq b. Hammām b. Nāfi' al-Ḥumayrī, their freed slave, Abū Bakr al-Ṣan'ānī: Thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfīẓ (a ḥadīth scientist). 105

There are two second narrators. So, this is what al-Ḥāfiz has to say about Second Narrator A:

'Ubayd Allāh b. 'Umar b. Ḥafs b. 'Āṣim b. 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb al-'Umarī al-Madanī, Abū 'Uthmān: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate). 106

He also says about Second Narrator B:

Ma'mar b. Rāshid al-Azdī, their freed slave, Abū 'Urwah al-Baṣrī, he lived in Yemen: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), fāḍil (meritorious).<sup>107</sup>

Both second narrators transmitted from Nāfi', about whom al-Ḥāfiz states:

Nāfi', Abū 'Abd Allāh al-Madanī, freed slave of Ibn 'Umar: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), a well-known jurist.<sup>108</sup>

Al-Hāfiz seals it with these comments about the last narrator:

Aḥmad b. 'Alī b. Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī, Taqrib al-Tahdhīb (Beirut: Dār al-Maktabah al-Ilmiyyah; 2nd edition, 1415 H) [annotator: Muṣtafā 'Abd al-Qādir 'Aṭā], vol. 1, p. 599, # 4078

Şafıyyah is also a narrator of Şaḥiḥ Muslim. 110

In summary, the above chain is impeccably sahih. Elsewhere, 'Abd al-Razzāq has recorded the exact same report with this chain:

'Abd al-Razzāk — Ma'mar — Ayūb — Nāfi' - Şafiyyah<sup>111</sup>

The only new name is Ayūb. So, who is he? Al-Ḥāfiẓ answers:

Ayūb b. Abī Tamīmah al-Sakhtayānī, Abū Bakr al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), hujjah (an authority in hadīth), from the greatest jurists and worshippers of Allāh.112

In other words, the athar about 'Umar is doubly sahih!

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) also has some further words:

Al-Dawlābī reported in al-Kunī (1/189) on the authority Ibrāhīm b. 'Abd al-Raḥman b. 'Awf that he said: "I saw 'Umar burning the house of Ruwayshid al-Thaqafī until it became like firebrand or a hot spring. He was our neighbour who sold alcohol." Its chain is şaḥīḥ.

'Abd al-Razzāq also narrated on the authority of Ṣafiyyah bint Abī 'Ubayd, as stated in al-Jāmi' al-Kabīrah (3/204/1) as well as Abū 'Ubayd in al-Amwāl (p. 103) on the authority of Ibn 'Umar, and its chain is ṣaḥīḥ too.<sup>113</sup>

Interestingly, this Ruwayshid was one of the Saḥābah! Al-Ḥāfiz states:

Ruwayshid al-Thaqafī, Abū 'Alāj al-Ṭāifī al-Madanī: He met the Prophet. He also had a story with 'Umar due to his selling of alcoholic drinks. Ibn Abī Dhaib said: Sa'd b. Ibrāhīm b. 'Abd al-Raḥman b. 'Awf narrated to us from his father that 'Umar ordered that the house of Ruwayshid be burnt down. He used to sell alcoholic drinks in it. 'Umar had warned him to desist, but he never desisted.<sup>114</sup>

Elsewhere, he reiterates:

رويشد .... الثقفي .... وله قصة مع عمر في شربه الحمر .... وانما ذكرته في الصحابة لأن من كان بتلك السن في عهد عمر يكون في زمن النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم مميزا لا محالة ولم يبق من قريش وثقيف أحد إلا أسلم وشهد حجة الوداع مع النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم

Ruwayshid ... al-Thaqafī.... He had a story with 'Umar concerning his consumption of alcohol.... I have mentioned him among the Ṣaḥābah only because whosoever was of that age (as Ruwayshid) during the time of 'Umar must certainly have been matured during the time of the Prophet, peace be upon him. Also, there was no one from the tribes of Quraysh and Thaqīf except that he had accepted Islām and had witnessed the Farewell Ḥajj with the Prophet, peace be upon him. 115

To summarize:

- 1. Ruwayshid was one of the Ṣaḥābah of the Prophet, from the tribe of Thaqīf.
- 2. He accepted Islām during the Prophet's lifetime, met the latter, and did the Farewell Ḥajj with him.
- 3. During the rule of 'Umar, Ruwayshid was convicted for alcohol consumption and punished.
- 4. However, after his conviction and punishment, Ruwayshid went ahead to sell alcohol in his house.
- 5. 'Umar warned him to desist from selling alcohol, but he refused to stop.
- 6. So, 'Umar burnt his house where he was selling the alcohol.

The story of Ruwayshid flies in the face of repeated Sunnī claims about the piety and righteousness of all the Ṣaḥābah!

It is a bit unclear on what ground 'Umar burned Ruwayshid's home. Was it to punish him for selling alcohol? Or, was it only an effort to disable him from further trading in alcohol?

One scenario is that the house-burning was inflicted as a judicial punishment. In other words, Ruwayshid was summarily tried, convicted and penalized for trading in alcohol. 'Umar' judicial sentence was that his house should be burnt to ashes. However, where did 'Umar get that idea from? Was it from the Qur'ān? Was it from the Sunnah? Imām Muslim records the standard procedure in a case like this:

حدثنا أحمد بن عيسى حدثنا ابن وهب أخبرني عمرو عن بكير بن الأشج قال بينا نحن عند سليان بن يسار إذ جاءه عبدالرحمن بن جابر حدثه فأقبل علينا سليان فقال

حدثني عبدالرحمن ابن جابر عن أبيه عن أبي بردة الأنصاري: أنه سمع رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم يقول لا يجلد أحد فوق عشرة أسواط إلا في حد من حدود الله

Aḥmad b. 'Īsā – Ibn Wahb – 'Amr – Bukayr b. al-Ashja' Sulaymān b. Yasār – 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Jābir – his father – Abū Bardah al-Anṣārī:

I heard the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, saying: "None is to be given more than ten strokes of the cane (in punishment) except in the case of punishments immutably fixed by Allāh."<sup>116</sup>

So, the question is whether Allāh has immutably fixed the punishment for alcohol sales business or not. Without an iota of doubt, there is no such fixed penalty for it. Therefore, the maximum sentence that can be inflicted upon an alcohol seller is ten lashes. Apparently, 'Umar did not follow the instructions of Allāh in this regard. This brought him face-to-face against this verse:

Whosoever does NOT give rulings, verdicts, judgments, or commands based upon what Allāh has revealed, such people are the infidels.<sup>117</sup>

Another scenario is that 'Umar actually burnt the house down only to forcefully put Ruwayshid out of business, without any intention to touch the latter himself personally for breaking the law. This theory is further strengthened by the fact that 'Umar had earlier warned Ruwayshid to desist (thereby confirming his full knowledge of the alcohol trade). However, he made no effort whatsoever to arrest or prosecute him. When the latter would not listen to him, he burnt down his house – which also served as his brewery and alcohol store – solely to shut down his business. Normally, a caring government closes or destroys illegal ventures within its control. This is usually to protect the public. In addition to that, the same government proceeds to prosecute the owner of the illegal business for his crime. In the case of Ruwayshid, 'Umar merely burnt his alcohol store, but allowed him to go scotfree!

A baffling twist to this whole saga is that when another Ṣaḥābī was discovered, also engaging in alcohol business, 'Umar simply let him be! He did not arrest him. He did not prosecute him. He did not burn his house! Imām Muslim records:

حدثنا أبو بكر بن أبي شيبة وزهير بن حرب واسحاق بن إبراهيم (واللفظ لأبي بكر) قالوا حدثنا سفيان بن عيينة عن عمرو عن طاوس عن ابن عباس قال: بلغ عمر أن سمرة باع خمرا فقال قاتل الله سمرة ألم يعلم أن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم قال لعن الله اليهود حرمت عليهم الشحوم فجملوها فباعوها

Abū Bakr b. Abī Shaybah, Zuhayr b. Ḥarb and Isḥāq b. Ibrāhīm — Sufyān b. ʿUyaynah — ʿAmr — Ṭāwūs — Ibn ʿAbbās:

'Umar was informed that Samrah sold alcohol. So, he said, "May Allāh curse Samrah! Does he not know that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: 'May Allāh curse the Jews. The fat of animals was made ḥarām for them. But they melt it and sold it." 118

Imām Abū Ya'lā (d. 307 H) also documents:

حدثنا أبو خيثمة و أبو سعيد قالا : حدثنا سفيان بن عيينة عن عمرو عن طاووس عن ابن عباس قال : باع سمرة خمرا فقال عمر : قاتل الله سمرة ألم يعلم أن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم قال : لعن الله للهود حرمت عليهم الشحوم فباعوها واكلوا أثمانها ؟

Abū Khaythamah and Abū Sa'īd — Sufyān b. 'Uyaynah — 'Amr — Ṭāwūs — Ibn 'Abbās:

Samrah sold alcohol. So, 'Umar said, "May Allāh curse Samrah! Does he not know that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, 'May Allāh curse the Jews. The fat of animals was made ḥarām for them. So, they sold it and ate its price." 119

Shaykh Dr. Asad comments:

Samrah was a prominent Ṣaḥābī. He too traded in alcohol. But, what was 'Umar's response? He merely cursed him by name, and that was it! There was no arrest, and no prosecution! Samrah's house was equally left intact.

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE VI

Injustice begins the moment a judge begins to show bias towards or against any of the parties before him in any judicial proceedings. He must be completely impartial throughout, and this must be evident in his ruling. The Qur'ān commands:

O you who believe! Stand up firmly for justice, as witnesses to Allāh, even though it be against yourselves, or your parents, or your kin, be he rich or poor, Allāh is more entitled to both (than you). So follow not whims, lest you may avoid justice. And if you distort your witness or refuse to give it, verily Allāh is Ever Well-Acquainted with what you do.<sup>121</sup>

During the rule of 'Umar, a terribly messy case was brought before him involving one of his close friends. Let us see how he handled it. Imām al-Ṭaḥāwī (d. 321 H) records:

'Alī b. 'Abd al-Raḥman – 'Affān b. Muslim and Sa'īd b. Abī Maryam – al-Sarī b. Yaḥyā – 'Abd al-Karīm b. Rashīd – Abū 'Uthmān al-Hindī:

A man went to 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb, may Allāh be pleased with him, and testified against al-Mughīrah b. Shu'bah. So the colour of 'Umar changed. Then, another man came and testified. Therefore, the colour of 'Umar changed (further). Then, another man came and testified. As a result the colour of 'Umar changed (even further) such that we recognized that in him, and he denied (the charge without investigation) due to that. Lastly, another man came, demonstrating with his hands. So, he ('Umar) said, "What do you have (to say), O remover of the punishment!" Abū 'Uthmān (the sub-narrator) then shouted to imitate the shout of 'Umar, such that I ('Abd al-Karīm) was agonized to the point of fainting. He (the fourth man) said, "I saw a disgusting affair." He ('Umar) said, "All praise be to Allāh Who did not allow Shayṭān to rejoice at the misfortune of the Ummah of Muḥammad." So, he ('Umar) ordered that those men be whipped (for allegedly lying against al-Mughīrah). 122

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) has copied it into his al-Irwā, and states about it:

Abū Bakrah, Nāfi' and Shibl b. Ma'bad testified against al-Mughīrah b. But Ziyād came, and 'Umar said, "Here comes a man who will not testify except with the truth." So, he (Ziyād) said, "I saw a disgusting scene, and a spectacle." So, 'Umar punished them with lashing. 124

Imām Ibn Abī Shaybah (d. 235 H) also records:

Abū Bakr – Abū Usāmah – 'Awf – Qasāmah b. Zuhayr:

When the issue between Abū Bakrah and al-Mughīrah b. Shu'bah occurred, Abū Bakrah said, "Desist from or give up concerning our Şalāt, because we will not pray behind you." So, he (al-Mughīrah) wrote to 'Umar about his affair. Therefore, 'Umar (too) wrote back to al-Mughīrah thus: "To begin, an act of yours has been reported to me. If such-and-such (i.e. Abū Bakrah) is corroborated against you, it would have been better for you to have died before this day." So, he ('Umar) wrote to him and the witnesses to come to him. When they got to him, they testified, and Abū Bakrah, Shibl b. Ma'bad, and Abū 'Abd Allāh Nāfi' testified. As such, 'Umar said when these three people testified, "Four (people) oppressed al-Mughīrah." His matter was very unbearable for 'Umar. So, when Ziyād stood to testify, he ('Umar) said, "You will testify with the truth, Allah willing." Then he (Ziyad) testified, saying, "As for adultery, I do not testify in favour of it. However, I saw a disgusting affair." As a result, "Umar said, "Allāh Akbar! Punish them!" So, they (the first three witnesses) were lashed. After Abū Bakrah had been beaten, he stood up and said, "I testify that he (al-Mughīrah) committed adultery". So, 'Umar was about to repeat the punishment upon him. But, 'Alī said, "If you lash him (again), then you must stone your companion (i.e. al-Mughīrah)." Due to this, he ('Umar) left him, and did not beat him. Thus, he (Abū Bakrah) did not falsely accuse anyone of adultery again after that.<sup>126</sup>

Abū Bakr – Ibn 'Ilyah – al-Tamīmī – Abū 'Uthmān:

After Abū Bakrah and his two companions had testified against al-Mughīrah, Ziyād came. So, 'Umar said, "He is a man who will never testify, Allāh willing, except with the truth." He (Ziyād) said, "I saw a spectacle and an evil assembly". So, 'Umar said, "Did you see the kohl stick (i.e. the male private organ of al-Mughīrah) enter the kohl container (i.e. the female private organ of the woman)?" He (Ziyād) replied, "No." Therefore, he ('Umar) ordered that they (Abū Bakr and his two companions) be whipped.<sup>128</sup>

'Allāmah al-Albānī again copies the above and says:

I say: This chain is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs. 129

So, this is the full picture, as gleaned from the reports:

- 1. Abū Bakrah and some other people filed a criminal complaint of adultery against al-Mughīrah b. Shu'bah with 'Umar.
- 2. Al-Mughīrah was a close friend of 'Umar.
- 3. 'Umar summoned the accused who was his friend and the Abū Bakrah team to his court for the trial.
- 4. As Abū Bakrah and two other people testified, 'Umar the judge increasingly blushed. Convicting and sentencing al-Mughīrah was very unbearable for him. So, he dismissively denied the reports of Abū Bakrah and his team.
- 5. It was a case of adultery, and four witnesses were required. Ziyād was the fourth to testify. Like others, he came all the way from

- Baṣra (where al-Mughīrah was governor for 'Umar prior to the trial) to Madīnah to testify against al-Mughīrah in a case of adultery. But, before he began his testimony, 'Umar made some direct moves to entice him and to intimidate him.
- 6. First, 'Umar called him "the remover of the punishment'. This was an obvious suggestion to Ziyād that he must contradict his colleagues. He simply had no other choice but to remove the sentence of death still hanging over the neck of al-Mughīrah.
- 7. 'Umar also described him as the one who would testify with the "truth". This was another clear signal to him to contradict his colleagues. It showed that the khalifah had blacklisted Ziyād's colleagues for testifying against al-Mughīrah. If Ziyād wanted to get into the good books of the powerful khalīfah, he must tell only what 'Umar would accept as the "truth".
- 8. Finally, 'Umar shouted at him, with such distressing force that it could cause some people to pass out! The intention, obviously, was to unsettle and intimidate him. Going against the khalifah could have highly devastating consequences. The message was unmistakable.
- 9. So, Ziyād got the signal, and went against his colleagues. He denied having seen a sexual penetration. One wonders why then he had taken all the pain to come to Madīnah from Iraq! Was it not to testify against al-Mughīrah for adultery? Something clearly was not right here. Ziyād was altering his testimony in the light of the new circumstances. In any case, he admitted to seeing "a disgusting affair" and "a disgusting scene", apparently involving al-Mughīrah and the accused woman, which involved "an evil assembly" of both accused persons.
- 10. 'Umar the judge became joyous, thanking Allāh, and ordered Abū Bakrah and his colleagues to be flogged for allegedly lying against al-Mughīrah!
- 11. After the lashing, Abū Bakrah stood up, and re-testified to al-Mughīrah's adultery despite the clear dangers.
- 12. 'Umar intended to re-lash him but 'Alī, as usual, saved Abū Bakrah with his knowledge.

To 'Umar, this was fair, impartial hearing!

An interesting side to this discussion is that 'Umar actually did not ordinarily seem to place much value on the Qur'ānic requirement for four witnesses in the case of adultery. For instance, he convicted a woman simply for having only a six-month pregnancy! He never asked for any four witnesses. Rather, he did not even request for any testimony from anyone!

However, when his close friend was involved, he became extraordinarily strict with the requirement, and displayed brutal bias in favour of the accused throughout the proceedings.

The testimony of Ziyād itself embarrassingly reveals the direct influence of 'Umar's intimidation and enticement over the former. Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī explains the circumstances of al-Mughīrah's alleged adultery:

وساق قصة المغيرة هذه من طرق كثيرة محصلها أن المغيرة بن شعبة كان أمير البصرة لعمر فأتهمه أبو بكرة وهو نفيع الثقفي الصحابي المشهور وكان أبو بكرة ونافع بن الحرث بن كلدة الثقفي وهو معدود في الصحابة وشبل بكسر المعجمة وسكون الموحدة ابن معبد بن عتيبة بن الحرث البجلي وهو معدود في المخضرمين وزياد بن عبيد الذي كان بعد ذلك يقال له زياد بن أبي سفيان أخوه من أم أمهم سمية مولاة الحرث بن كلدة فاجتمعوا جميعا فرأوا المغيرة متبطن المرأة وكان يقال لها الرقطاء أم جميل بنت عمرو بن الأفقم الهلالية وزوجها الحجاج بن عتيك بن الحرث بن عوف الجسمي

The story of al-Mughīrah has been transmitted THROUGH SEVERAL CHAINS. Its summary is that al-Mughīrah b. Shu'bah was the governor of Baṣra for 'Umar. Abū Bakrah, whose real name was Nafi' al-Thaqafī, accused him (of adultery). He (Abū Bakrah) is a well-known Ṣaḥābī. There was Abū Bakrah. There was (also) Nāfī' b. al-Ḥarith b. Kildah al-Thaqafī, who is counted among the Ṣaḥābah. There was Shibl b. Ma'bad b. 'Utaybah b. al-Ḥarith al-Bajalī (as well), and he was considered to be among those (Ṣaḥābah) who witnessed both the Jāhiliyyah and the Prophetic era. (Finally), there was Ziyād b. 'Ubayd – who was later called Ziyād b. Abī Sufyān – (and he was) his (Abū Bakrah's) brother from their grandmother, Sumayyah freed maid of al-Ḥarith b. Kildah. THEY ALL HAD GATHERED TOGETHER and had seen al-Mughīrah in a secret affair with the woman called al-Riqṭāh Umm Jamīl bint 'Amr al-Afqam al-Ḥilāliyyah, and her husband was al-Ḥajjāj b. 'Utaybah b. al-Ḥarith b. 'Awf al-Jashmī.130

There were four of them together, including Ziyād. They all together saw al-Mughīrah having a secret affair with Umm Jamīl, whose husband was al-Hajjāj. The other three witnesses saw al-Mughīrah's male organ entering

Umm Jamīl's female organ, and all of these three were totally trustworthy Ṣaḥābah of the Messenger, by Sunnī standards. How then on earth did Ziyād miss that?! It seems fair to conclude that he was deliberately concealing the most crucial part of his testimony. It was simply impossible for him not to have seen what the others saw, especially as he was not described as suffering from any eye problems. Moreover, what really did Ziyād mean by having seen "a disgusting affair" between the couple? Was he not actually implying the adultery of al-Mughīrah and Umm Jamīl? From the look of things, Ziyād saw what the three Ṣaḥābah saw, but decided to be ambiguous and to double-speak after 'Umar enticed and intimidated him. If the khalīfah had not intervened, he most probably would have only corroborated his co-witnesses.

Anyway, there are some damning consequences in this particular case for Sunnī Islām. Abū Bakrah, Shibl and Nāfi' b. al-Ḥarith were Ṣaḥābah. Abū Bakrah in particular was a prominent Ṣaḥābī, whose aḥādīth are documented in the two Ṣaḥīḥs, and in all other authoritative Sunnī books, in abundance. Of special interest is the fact that Abū Bakrah was the main complainant against al-Mughīrah, and he never repented from it. After being lashed by 'Umar, he still reiterated his claim that al-Mughīrah was an adulterer. 'Allāmah al-Albānī copies a further report in this regard:

واسناده صحيح أيضا. وعيينة بن عبد الرحمن هو ابن جوشن الغطفاني وهو ثقة كأسه.

Then he (al-Bayhaqī)<sup>131</sup> recorded through the route of 'Uyaynah b. 'Abd al-Raḥman from his father from Abū Bakrah, and he mentioned the story of al-Mughīrah, and (then) said:

We got to 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, and Abū Bakrah testified, as well as Nāfi' and Shibl b. Ma'bad. When Ziyād was called, he said, "I saw a disgusting act." Therefore, 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, said Allāh Akbar, and thereby summoned Abū Bakrah and his two companions and beat them. So, Abū Bakrah said, that is, after he had been punished, "I SWEAR BY ALLĀH, I am saying the truth. He (al-Mughīrah) did what we have testified against him about." Therefore, he ('Umar) intended to beat him (again). But, 'Alī said, "If you beat this one, then you must stone that one."

Its chain is ṣaḥīḥ too. 'Uyaynah b. 'Abd al-Raḥman is Ibn Jawshan al-Ghaṭfānī and he is thiqah (trustworthy), like his father.<sup>132</sup>

By all accounts therefore, all aḥādīth by Abū Bakrah must be thrown away by the Ahl al-Sunnah wa al-Jamā'ah as fairytales of a "liar". It is the Order of Allāh, as long as he is believed to have failed to prove his charge against al-Mughīrah. This is where the great dilemma hides for our Sunnī brothers. Allāh has stated:

Those who accuse chaste women, and do not produce four witnesses, flog them with eighty stripes, and reject their testimony FOREVER. THEY INDEED ARE THE LIARS, EXCEPT THOSE WHO REPENT thereafter and make corrections. Verily, Allāh is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>133</sup>

He also proclaims:

Why did they not produce four witnesses? Since they have not produced the witnesses, THEN IN THE SIGHT OF ALLĀH, THEY ARE THE LIARS.<sup>134</sup>

Imām 'Abd al-Razzāq (d. 211 H) reiterates the fact which connects Abū Bakrah to the above verses:

عبد الرزاق عن معمر عن الزهري عن ابن المسيب قال :شهد على المغيرة بن شعبة ثلاثا بالزنا، ونكل زياد، فحد عمر الثلاثة، وقال لهم :توبوا تقبل شهادتكم، فتاب رجلان ولم يتب أبو بكرة، فكان لا يقبل شهادته، وأبو بكرة أخو زياد لامه، فلماكان من أمر زياد ماكان، حلف أبو بكرة أن لا يكلم زيادا أبدا، فلم يكلمه حتى مات

'Abd al-Razzāq – Ma'mar – al-Zuhrī – Ibn al-Musayyab:

Three people testified against al-Mughīrah b. Shu'bah for adultery. But Ziyād recoiled. So, 'Umar punished the three (with lashing), and said to them, "Repent, and your (future) testimonies will be accepted." So, two of the men repented but Abū Bakrah did not repent. Therefore, his testimonies were no longer accepted. Abū Bakrah was a maternal brother of Ziyād. When what happened in the case of Ziyād occurred, Abū Bakrah swore that he would never again speak to Ziyād. As such, he never again spoke to him till his death.<sup>135</sup>

The chain is ṣaḥiḥ, and has been so declared by the top muḥadithūn of the Ahl al-Sunnah. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H), for instance, has relied upon this chain in his Sahih:

Everything therefore boils down to this insoluble Sunnī maze:

- 1. Anyone who accuses another of adultery must present four witnesses.
- 2. If he is unable to do so, then he must be whipped by the authorities.
- 3. He must be asked to repent. If he does, his future testimonies are accepted.
- 4. If he refuses to repent, then he becomes a liar in the Sight of Allāh, and his testimonies must be rejected till the Hour.
- 5. Abū Bakrah accused al-Mughīrah, 'Umar's close friend and governor over Baṣra, of adultery, and presented four eye-witnesses (including himself).
- 6. All four witnesses came all the way from Iraq to modern-day Saudi Arabia to testify against al-Mughīrah in a case of adultery.
- 7. However, 'Umar enticed and intimidated the fourth of them, just as he was about to give his testimony. He (the fourth witness) thereby "recoiled" and made ambiguous, ambivalent statements instead.
- 8. So, the case against al-Mughīrah failed due to the fourth witness's action.
- 9. Abū Bakrah and the other two witnesses therefore were whipped by 'Umar. They were thereafter asked by him to repent so that their future testimonies became acceptable. The other two repented (most probably from pressure), while Abū Bakrah swore by Allāh that he was truthful in his testimony against al-Mughīrah. He preferred to be branded "a liar" by the state, and that his future testimonies be rejected, rather than to falsify what he knew to be the truth.
- 10. Abū Bakrah also believed that Ziyād (his maternal brother), who "recoiled", had wronged him terribly. So, he stopped speaking to Ziyād from that moment till his death!
- 11. Whoever believes that Abū Bakrah was wrong in his testimony must also accept that he was "a liar" in the Sight of Allāh, due to his refusal to repent. The Qur'ān is very explicit in this regard, and gives no exception. As a result, such a person must reject all of Abū Bakrah's ahādīth.
- 12. However, the Ahl al-Sunnah consider Abū Bakrah to be perfectly trustworthy in everything he said, before and after the incident! Yet, they maintain that 'Umar was correct to have whipped him!
- 13. But, it was either 'Umar treated Abū Bakrah unjustly, or Abū Bakrah was truly a liar in the Sight of Allāh. There is no third option to it.

Our Sunnī brothers want to eat their cake and still have it. However, they can only do one of both. Their position on Abū Bakrah is a strategic do-ordie affair, which they can never let go. This, in reality, merely deepens their dilemma. If they accepted that Abū Bakrah, a prominent Ṣaḥābī, was a liar in the Sight of Allāh, then they would have opened a door that could only lead to the complete collapse of their entire religion in no time! Yet, their pro-Abū Bakrah stance only fuels the theory that al-Mughīrah was truly guilty of adultery, but that 'Umar deliberately manipulated the judicial system to shield his dear friend from justice. Moreover, in the course of doing that, the khalīſah inflicted immense injustice upon Abū Bakrah for telling the truth.

10 ḤADĪTH AL-QADĀ

AN AGE OF JUNGLE JUSTICE VII

No one ever knew that looking handsome could become a criminal offence until the rule of 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb. The grand Sunnī muffasir, Imām al-Alūsī (d. 1270 H), proclaims:

It is authentically transmitted that 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb, may Allāh the Most High pleased be pleased him, banished Naṣr b. Ḥajjāj to Baṣra because - due to his good looks, some women were obsessed with him.<sup>142</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H) also submits:

وقد أخرج بن سعد والخرائطي بسند صحيح عن عبد الله بن بريدة قال بينها عمر بن الخطاب يعس ذات ليلة في خلافته فإذا امرأة تقول هل من سبيل إلى خمر فأشربها أو من سبيل إلى نصر بن حجاج فلما أصبح سأل عنه فأرسل إليه فإذا هو من أحسن الناس شعرا وأصبحهم وجما فأمره عمر أن يطم شعره ففعل فخرجت جبهته فازداد حسنا فأمره أن يعتم فازداد حسنا فقال عمر لا والذي نفسي بيده لا تجامعني ببلد

فأمر له بما يصلحه وصيره إلى البصرة

Ibn Sa'd and al-Kharāiṭī have recorded with a ṣaḥīḥ chain from 'Abd Allāh b. Buraydah who narrated:

While 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb was on patrol one night during his khilāfah, there was a woman (he overheard) saying, "Is there a way to get to alcohol to drink, or a way to get to Naṣr b. Ḥajjāj?" In the morning, he ('Umar) asked about him (Naṣr), and summoned him. He was one of the most beautiful of mankind in terms of the hair, and one of their most good-looking. So, he ('Umar) ordered him to collect his hair. He did so, and his forehead appeared. As a result, he became even more handsome. He ('Umar) ordered him (again) to wear a turban. But, his beauty increased (nonetheless). So, 'Umar said, "No! I swear by the One in Whose Hand my life is, you cannot stay WITH ME in the same town". Therefore, he ordered what befitted him and relocated to Baṣra. 143

Naṣr b. al-Ḥajjāj, one of the Ṣaḥābah, committed no other "crime" than that he looked very handsome. For that, he was summarily tried and penalized, forcibly "relocated" to Baṣra. 'Umar was the first human being to do this throughout history. However, in April 2013, the Saudi authorities followed his precedent in a very famous, severely embarrassing case<sup>144</sup> that caused widespread worldwide mockery of Islām over the internet. Three Emirati men were deported by Riyadh to the United Arab Emirates literally for being "too handsome"!

'Umar's reason for banishing Naṣr seems even weirder than the "punishment" itself. If we assumed that the khalīfah expelled him because "women were obsessed with him", were there no women in Baṣra? Apparently, no matter the claims, the true motive behind 'Umar's action had nothing to do with women. In fact, the khalīfah himself outlined his justification in very clear words: he could not tolerate living in the same city with Naṣr. So if 'Umar had later moved to Baṣra he would still have rebanished Naṣr to another faraway town. From all indications, it seems that the khalifah was only very bitter about the latter's good looks.

In any case, it is pretty obvious that 'Umar would never have tolerated the presence of Prophet Yūsuf, 'alaihi al-salām, in Madīnah had the latter lived during the former's rule. These are Allāh's Words concerning His prophet:

وقال نسوة في المدينة امرأت العزيز تراود فتاها عن نفسه قد شغفها حبا إنا لنراها في ضلال مبين فلما سمعت بمكرهن أرسلت إليهن وأعتدت لهن متكأ وآتت كل واحدة منهن سكينا وقالت اخرج عليهن فلما رأينها كبرنه وقطعن أيديهن وقلن حاش لله ما هذا بشرا إن هذا إلا ملك كريم

And the women in the city said, "The Queen is seeking to seduce her young man (i.e. Yūsuf, her slave then). Indeed, she loves him violently. Verily, we see her in plain error." So when she (the queen) heard of their (the women's) accusation, she sent for them and prepared a banquet for them; she gave each one of them a knife (to cut the foodstuff with), and she said (to Yūsuf), "Come out before them." Then, when they saw him, they exalted him AND CUT THEIR HANDS. They said, "Allāh forbid! THIS IS NOT A MAN! This is none other than a noble angel!" 145

These were the women of ancient Egypt. Prophet Yūsuf was so handsome that they could not believe that he was even a man! So, one can safely conclude that the noble prophet had superhuman beauty. What strengthens this submission is that these women, in their trance over the sight of him, were absentmindedly cutting their hands with knives, without flinching! With these facts, Naṣr b. al-Ḥajjāj was apparently a very ugly duckling compared to Yūsuf b. Ya'qūb, the prophet of Allāh. Interestingly, the pagan king of Egypt tolerated and honoured Prophet Yūsuf in his city, even in his palace! By contrast, if it had been during 'Umar's khilāfah, he would have banished the prophet to a very distant land! The khalāfah simply could not accommodate in his city any man like Naṣr or Yūsuf.

'ALĪ VERSUS 'UMAR

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) launches a spirited campaign to bring down 'Alī's status as the best judge in the Ummah in order to place 'Umar above him. He simply cannot stomach the possibility of Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, surpassing the second Sunnī khalīfah in anything, especially in such highly sensitive, knowledge-based areas as justice dispensation. The reason for these panicky moves can be discerned from these words of our dear Shaykh:

In (Sunan) al-Tirmidhī and others, it is narrated from him, peace and blessings be upon him, that he said, "If I had not been sent as a messenger among you, 'Umar would have been sent as a messenger among you instead." The text of al-Tirmidhī reads, "If there were to be a prophet after me, it would have been 'Umar'. Al-Tirmidhī says: A hasan ḥadīth. 146

Elsewhere, he reiterates this:

It is recorded in (Sunan) al-Tirmidhī: "If I had not been sent as a messenger among you, 'Umar would have been sent as a messenger instead and if there were to be a prophet after me, it would have been 'Umar''.<sup>147</sup>

Those two one-sided, sectarian reports establish two realities:

- 1. 'Umar and the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, had equal credentials and abilities to be the master of the prophets, sent to the entirety of mankind till the Hour. Therefore, 'Umar was a perfect replacement for the Prophet.
- 2. Due to 'Umar's status as the sole match in qualification to the Messenger, he was the only one qualified to be the first prophet after Muḥammad, had prophethood not ceased.

The bottom-line is that 'Umar was far better than Abū Bakr in all ways and in all things! So, if 'Alī were superior to 'Umar, then he was the master of both the first and the second khalīfahs. In any case, those two hadīths are one-sided (and therefore of no probative value in our research), and contradict the Verse of Iṣtafā, the Verse of Taṭhīr and several ṣaḥīḥ and mutawātir aḥādīth (such as Ḥadīth al-Ghadīr, Ḥadīth al-Manzilah, Ḥadīth al-Tayr, Ḥadīth al-Thaqalayn, etc). The most important part is that both reports about 'Umar go against well-established historical facts about him, his knowledge and his abilities. From all angles, both ḥadīths were motivated by polemical motives, and manufactured to "raise the stakes" for the second khalīfah.

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah makes an interesting strike:

There were LOTS of fatwas from 'Umar, 'Alī and others that contradicted the revealed texts (i.e the Qur'ān and Sunnah), such that al-Shāfi'ī compiled a whole volume on the contradictions of 'Alī and Ibn Mas'ūd (to the Qur'ān and Sunnah), and Muḥammad b. Naṣr

al-Marūzī compiled a huge book on that.148

He concedes that both 'Umar and Ibn Mas'ūd contradicted the Qur'ān and Sunnah massively in their verdicts. We agree with him, as there exists solid evidence from both Sunnī and Shī'ī sources confirming that. It is a wonder then how our dear Shaykh manages to believe that 'Umar was perfectly fit for prophethood despite this embarrassing fact! What else would he have been other than a prophet who would have opposed the Qur'ān and the Sunnah on 'lots' of occasions?! This reality reveals that the purely onesided, sectarian ḥadūths could not have genuinely originated from the Messenger of Allāh. He never uttered anything that falls out of line with simple logic.

But then, did Imām al-Shāfi'ī and al-Marūzī really compiled books detailing Amīr al-Mūminīn Alī's "contradictions" to the Qur'ān and Sunnah? Well, there is no evidence of any such books in our times! Besides, our dear Shaykh seems confused on the exact authorship of those "books". First, he claims that both al-Shāfi'ī and al-Marūzī wrote separate books. However, this is a contrary submission he also makes:

Al-Shāfi'ī AND Muḥammad b. Naṣr al-Marūzī compiled a huge book about what the Muslims rejected from the statement of 'Alī, because the statement of others from the Ṣaḥābah were more in compliance with the Qur'ān and Sunnah.<sup>149</sup>

So, it was after all a joint authorship! What exactly do we believe now? Moreover, where exactly is this book? Has anyone in history ever quoted it? Has anyone in history ever referenced it? The reality is that no such book ever existed! Imām al-Subkī (d. 773 H) reveals the truth about the book of al-Marūzī:

وقال أبو ذر محمد بن محمد بن يوسف القاضى كان الصدر الأول من مشايخنا يقولون رجال خراسان أربعة ابن المبارك ويحبى بن يحبى واسحاق بن راهويه ومحمد بن نصر المروزى وقال أبو بكر الصيرفى لو لم يصنف المروزى إلا كتاب القسامة لكان من

Abū Dharr Muḥammad b. Muḥammad b. Yūsuf al-Qāḍī said, "The pioneers among our Shaykhs used to say that the scholars of Khurāsān (in Iran) were four: Ibn al-Mubārak, Yaḥyā b. Yaḥyā, Isḥāq b. Rāhwayh and Muḥammad b. Naṣr al-Marūzī." Abū Bakr al-Ṣayarfī said, "If al-Marūzī had never authored any book except Kitāb al-Qasāmah alone, he would nonetheless have been among the most knowledgeable of mankind. Meanwhile, he wrote many books other than it." Shaykh Abū Isḥāq al-Shīrāzī said, "Muḥammad (b. Naṣr al-Marūzī) wrote books which contained reports and Islāmic jurisprudence, and was one of the most knowledgeable of mankind concerning the differences of the Ṣaḥābah and those after them on al-aḥkām (jurisprudence). He wrote a book concerning the contradictions of Abū Ḥanīfah to 'Alī and 'Abd Allāh (b. Mas'ūd), may Allāh be pleased with them both. 150

So, the book – in reality - was only about Abū Ḥanīfah's contradictions to 'Alī and Ibn Mas'ūd! We leave the judgment to the esteemed reader.

There are authentic Sunnī reports which further expose the fallacy of the allegations of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah against Amīr al-Mūminīn. For instance, Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي حدثني يحيى عن الأعمش عن عمرو بن مرة عن أبي البختري عن على رضي الله عنه قال: بعثني رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم إلى اليمن وأنا حديث السن قال قلت تبعثني إلى قوم يكون بينهم أحداث ولا علم لي بالقضاء قال ان الله سيهدى لسانك ويثبت قلبك قال فما شككت في قضاء بين أثنين بعد

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا يحيى بن آدم ثنا إسرائيل عن أبي إسحاق عن حارثة بن مضرب عن على رضي الله عنه قال: بعثني رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم إلى اليمن فقلت إنك تبعثني إلى قوم وهم أسن مني لأقضي بينهم فقال اذهب فإن الله سيهدي قلبك ويثبت لسانك

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) — my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — Yaḥyā b. Ādam — Isrāīl — Abū Isḥāq — Ḥārithah b. Muḍrab — 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, sent me to Yemen. So, I said, "You are sending me to a people who are older than me that I should judge between them." He replied, "Go, for Allāh will guide your heart and make firm your tongue." 158

Shaykh al-Arnā'ūţ states:

Its chain is şaḥīḥ<sup>159</sup>

Whenever Amīr al-Mūminīn set out to judge on any matter, Allāh would always guide both his heart and his tongue, and would also make them firm. This removes the possibility of error or misguidance in whatsoever judgments he ever gave:

ومن يهد الله فما له من مضل

And whomsoever Allāh guides, for him there can be NO

With this in mind, it is apparent that whosoever attributes errors to the judgments and verdicts of 'Alī is actually attributing them to Allāh as well! So, we ask Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah and his followers: was it Allāh Who was "guiding" his heart and his tongue to those "contradictions" to the Qur'ān and Sunnah? We seek His refuge from such blasphemy. No truth – whether in narrations or mere submissions – can be in anything that denigrates the Almighty Lord.

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

We do not agree that 'Alī was the overall best of his time. Rather, the best of this Ummah after its Prophet are Abū Bakr, then 'Umar, as is authentically narrated from 'Alī and others. 161

It is true that our Sunnī brothers consider Abū Bakr to be the best of our Ummah, followed only by 'Umar. However, during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, it was a different story entirely. There is irrefutable evidence in the Sunnī books establishing that the Ṣaḥābah used to consider Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, to be their best during the lifetime of the Messenger. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) presents one of such proofs:

حدثنا عبد الله قال حدثني أبي قثنا محمد بن جعفر نا شعبة عن أبي إسحاق عن عبد الرحمن بن يزيد عن علقمة عن عبد الله قال : كنا نتحدث ان أفضل أهل

المدينة على بن أبي طالب

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — Muḥammad b. Ja'far — Shu'bah — Abū Isḥāq — 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd — 'Alqamah — 'Abd Allāh (b. Mas'ūd):

"We used to say that the overall best of the people of Madīnah was 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib."<sup>162</sup>

"We" (in the ḥadīth)<sup>163</sup> apparently refers to the Ṣaḥābah generally, and more specifically to the most senior of them living in Madīnah. Ibn Mas'ūd was obviously making a reference to a past which was then different from the present. This was why he said "we USED TO". In other words, at that point in time when he was making his statement, things had become different. People were now giving 'Alī's place to another person. Ibn Mas'ūd was, no doubt, speaking about the time of the Prophet. All the most senior Ṣaḥābah and their neighbours were living in Madīnah with the Messenger of Allāh. The phrase "people of Madīnah" originally referred to them (excluding only the Prophet, of course). These, needless to say, included Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān.

So, is the above report authentic? Al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) says about the first narrator:

'Abd Allāh b. Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal al-Shaybānī, Abū 'Abd al-Raḥman: son of the Imām, thiqah (trustworthy). 165

What about his father? Al-Ḥāfiẓ answers:

Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal b. Hilāl b. Asad al-Shaybānī al-Marūzī, a Baghdād resident, Abū 'Abd Allāh: One of the Imāms, thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfiz, jurist, hujjah (an authority).<sup>166</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz also has these comments about the third narrator:

Muḥammad b. Ja'far al-Hazalī al-Baṣrī, better known as Ghandar: Thiqah (trustworthy), ṣaḥāḥ al-kitāh (i.e. aḥādāth from his books are ṣaḥāḥ) except that there was some negligence in him.<sup>167</sup>

Whatever negligence he had does not affect his aḥādīth from Shu'bah at all. He used to accurately record the latter's reports. So, he narrated them from his books with perfect precision. Al-Ḥāfiẓ provides further information in this respect:

وقال ابن محدي كنا نستفيد من كتب غندر في شعبة وكان وكيع يسميه الصحيح الكتاب. وقال أبو حاتم عن محمد بن ابان البلخي قال ابن محدي غندر أثبت في شعبة مني وقال ابن المبارك إذا اختلف الناس في حديث شعبة فكتاب غندر حكم بينهم وقال ابن أبي حاتم سألت أبي عن غندر فقال كان صدوقا وكان مؤدبا وفي حديث شعبة ثقة

Ibn Mahdī said: "We used to benefit from the books of Ghandar on Shu'bah. Wakī' named him ṣaḥiḥ al-kitāb." Abū Ḥātim narrated from Muḥammad b. Abān al-Balakhī that Ibn Mahdī said: "Ghandar is more accurate than me as far as Shu'bah is concerned." Ibn al-Mubārak said, "When the people disagree about the ḥadīth of Shu'bah, the book of Ghandar used to judge between them." Ibn Abī Ḥātim said: "I asked my father about Ghandar and he replied, 'He was ṣadūq (very truthful), and was a teacher and in the ḥadīth of Shu'bah, he is thiqah

(trustworthy).""168

The fourth narrator, Shu'bah, is a pillar of Sunnī aḥādīth. Al-Ḥāfiz gives the catch-phrases about him:

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj b. al-Ward al-'Atkī, their freed slave, Abū Busṭām al-Wāsiṭī, al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfiz, extremely precise. Al-Thawrī used to say: "He was the amīr al-mūminīn (the supreme leader) in al-Ḥadīth."<sup>169</sup>

Abū Isḥāq al-Sabī'ī is the fifth narrator, and al-Ḥāfiz has this to say about him:

'Amr b. 'Abd Allāh b. 'Ubayd .... Abū Isḥāq al-Sabī'ī: Thiqah (trustworthy); narrated a lot (of aḥādūth), a great worshipper (of Allāh), from the third (ṭabaqat). He became confused (in his narrations) during the end part of his lifetime.<sup>170</sup>

Of course, Shu'bah heard from him before the memory loss. 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) explains:

Sufyān al-Thawrī and Shu'bah also narrated from Abū Isḥāq, although both did not mention the Descent. The reports of both of them (from Abū Isḥāq) are more authentic, because they both heard from him

BEFORE he became confused.<sup>171</sup>

Another relevant point is that Abū Ishāq is a mudalis and has, on the surface, narrated the report of Ibn Mas'ūd above is an 'an-'an form from 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd. However, the tadlīs does NOT, in reality, affect the 'an-'an reports of Abū Ishāq – among others - as long as it is Shu'bah narrating from him. Allāmah al-Albānī states further:

Al-Tirmidhī said: "A ḥasan ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīth, al-Thawrī and Shu'bah narrated it from ('an) Abū Isḥāq."

I say: It is (truly ḥasan ṣaḥiḥ) as he (al-Tirmidhī) has stated, and both of them (i.e. al-Thawrī and Shu'bah) narrated from him (i.e. Abū Isḥāq) before his confusion. As for Shu'bah, he never narrated anything from him (i.e. Abū Isḥāq) except what he (Abū Isḥāq) explicitly stated to have directly heard from the person he is narrating from (i.e. taḥdīth), as stated in his tarjamah (biography). Due to his (Shu'bah's) narration from him (i.e. Abū Isḥāq), the problem of his tadlīs is removed.<sup>172</sup>

In a clearer word, whenever Shu'bah narrates from Abū Isḥāq (as in this case of Ibn Mas'ūd's ḥadīth), all the problems associated with the latter's reports are removed. The former narrated from him before his confusion in his aḥādīth, and never transmitted any tadlīs-infested reports from him. So, whenever Shu'bah narrates an 'an-'an report from Abū Isḥāq, there actually is taḥdīth by the latter from his Shaykh. The 'an-'an form is only Shu'bah's convenience style. No wonder, Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) includes this sanad in his Ṣaḥīḥ:

Sulaymān b. Ḥarb - Shu'bah - Abū Isḥāq - 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd.<sup>173</sup>

This is an 'an-'an report by Abū Ishāq from 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd (the same Shaykh as in the athar of Ibn Mas'ūd). Nevertheless, Imām al-Bukhārī considers the chain to be sahīh.

Imām Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal has also documented a similar 'an-'an chain:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Yazīd – Shu'bah – Abū Isḥāq – Abū Maysarah.<sup>174</sup>

Al-Arnāūţ comments:

Its chain is saḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs. 175

'Allāmah al-Albānī too authenticates yet another 'an-'an chain of Abū Isḥāq:

Its chain: Ḥafṣ b. 'Umar — Shu'bah — Abū Isḥāq — al-Aswad — 'Abd Allāh.

I say: This chain is şaḥīḥ upon the standard of al-Bukhārī. 176

Imām Abū Ya'lā (d. 307 H) also documents an 'an-'an chain by Abū Isḥāq, from 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd, like al-Bukhārī:

Ishāq — 'Abd al-Ṣamad — Shu'bah — Abū Isḥāq — 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd — al-Aswad<sup>177</sup>

Shaykh Dr. Asad gives this verdict:

إسناده صحيح

Its chain is sahih178

Let us now move to the sixth narrator in the sanad of Ibn Mas'ūd's athar. 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd. The status of 'Abd al-Raḥman as a thiqah (trustworthy) narrator of Ṣaḥāḥ al-Bukhārī is already well-known. Nonetheless, we are pleased to present this further confirmation by al-Hāfiz:

'Abd al-Raḥman b. Yazīd b. Qays al-Nakha'ī, Abū Bakr al-Kūfī: Thiqah (trustworthy). 179

Finally, concerning the seventh and last narrator ('Alqamah), al-Ḥāfiz al-'Asqalānī proclaims with full strength:

'Alqamah b. Qays b. 'Abd Allāh al-Nakha'ī al-Kūfī: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), faqīh (a jurist), 'ābidun (a great worshipper of Allāh).<sup>180</sup>

With this, it is absolutely clear and undeniable that Ibn Mas'ūd's report that the Ṣaḥābah used to consider 'Alī as the overall best among them has an impeccably ṣaḥīḥ chain. All the narrators are thiqah, and the chain is fully and perfectly connected.

Even then, the same athar has been recorded with a second ṣaḥīḥ chain in that same Faḍāil al-Ṣaḥābah:

حدثنا عبد الله قال حدثني جدي قثنا أبو قطن قثنا شعبة عن أبي إسحاق عن عبد الله بن يزيد عن علقمة عن عبد الله وهو بن مسعود قال : كنا نتحدث ان أفضل أهل المدينة علي بن أبي طالب

'Abd Allāh (b. Muḥammad b. 'Abd al-'Azīz al-Baghwī) — my grandfather (Aḥmad b. Munī' al-Baghwī) — Abū Qaṭan — Shu'bah — Abū Isḥāq — 'Abd Allāh b. Yazīd — 'Alqamah — 'Abd Allāh b. Mas'ūd:

"We used to say that the overall best of the people of Madīnah was 'Alī b. Abī Tālib." <sup>181</sup>

We already know the status of Shu'bah, Abū Isḥāq and Alqamah. So, let's find out about these new names.

This is al-Ḥāfiz's verdict on the first narrator of this new sanad:

عبد الله بن محمد بن عبد العزيز أبو القاسم البغوي الحافظ الصدوق مسند عصره ....قلت وقد وثقه الدارقطني والخطيب وغيرهما قال الخطيب كان ثقة ثبتا مكثرا فهما عارفا .... قلت الرجل ثقة مطلقا

hāfiz, al-ṣadūq (the extremely truthful), the top scholar of his time.... I (al-'Asqalānī) say: He has been declared thiqah (trustworthy) by al-Daraqutnī, al-Khatīb and others. Al-Khatīb said, "He was thiqah (trustworthy), accurate, and narrated a lot (of aḥādīth)".... I (al-'Asqalānī) say: The man is absolutely thiqah (trustworthy). 182

Concerning his grandfather, al-Ḥāfiz further submits:

Aḥmad b. Munī' b. 'Abd al-Raḥman, Abū Ja'far al-Baghwī...: Thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfīz.<sup>183</sup>

Abū Qaṭan too is thiqah (trustworthy), as confirmed by al-Ḥāfiẓ:

'Amr b. al-Haytham b. Qaṭan ... Abū Qaṭan al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>184</sup>

Of course, 'Abd Allāh b. Yazīd was a junior Ṣaḥābī, and therefore needed no investigation. He is automatically thiqah (trustworthy). Al-Ḥāfīz states:

'Abd Allāh b. Yazīd b. Zayd b. Ḥuṣayn al-Anṣārī al-Khaṭmī: a junior Ṣaḥābī. He was the walī (ruler) of Kūfah for Ibn al-Zubayr. 185

So, we have a second impeccable sanad for the hadīth.

SHAYKH IBN TAYMIYYAH RAISES OBJECTIONS

Our Shaykh (d. 728 H) is obviously not comfortable with the fact that the Şaḥābah used to consider Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, to be superior to Abū Bakr during the lifetime of the Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. So, he fights back:

الشيعة الأولى أصحاب علي لم يكونوا يرتابون في تقديم أبي بكر وعمر عليه كيف وقد ثبت عن علي من وجوه متواترة أنه كان يقول خير هذه الأمة بعد نبيها أبو بكر وعمر ولكن كان طائفة من شيعة علي تقدمه على عثمان وهذه المسألة أخفى من تلك ولهذا كان أئمة أهل السنة كلهم متفقين على تقديم أبي بكر وعمر من وجوه متواترة كما هو مذهب أبي حنيفة والشافعي ومالك وأحمد بن حنبل والثوري والأوزاعي والليث بن سعد وسائر أئمة المسلمين من أهل الفقه والحديث والزهد والتفسير من المتقدمين والمتأخرين

The early Shī'īs, the companions of 'Alī, did not doubt the superiority of Abū Bakr and 'Umar over him. How can they when it has been narrated in mutawātir reports from 'Alī that he used to say: "The best of this Ummah after its Prophet are Abū Bakr and 'Umar'? However, some of the Shī'īs of 'Alī used to consider him superior to 'Uthmān, and this issue is more unclear than that. This is why all the Imāms of the Ahl al-Sunnah were unanimous on the superiority of Abū Bakr and 'Umar as reported in mutawātir reports. This was the view of Abū Ḥanīfah, Shāfi'ī, Mālik, Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal, al-Thawrī, al-

Awzā'ī, al-Layth b. Sa'd and all the other Imāms of the Muslims, from the jurists, the ḥadīth experts, the ascetics and the exegetes, from the early and later generations. <sup>186</sup>

Here, he is taking the battle even to the Shī'ī home ground! According to him, not a single one of those that are followed by the Ahl al-Sunnah, including the Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn, ever believed that Amīr al-Mūminīn was superior to either Abū Bakr or 'Umar. There was absolute unanimity among them concerning the superiority of the duo over 'Alī. Moreover, even the early Shī'īs — whom he identified as the companions of Amīr al-Mūminīn — shared the same view! Rather, 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib himself used to teach his followers that Abū Bakr and 'Umar were the best of the Ummah after its Messenger. Therefore, all the early Sunnīs and Shī'īs had a full consensus that both Abū Bakr and 'Umar were better than 'Alī in the Sight of Allāh.

So, did Ibn Mas'ūd tell a lie? We will soon find out which party is telling the truth, and which is not. Our Shaykh proceeds:

وقد ثبت في الصحيحين عن عبد الله بن عمر قال كنا نفاضل على عهد رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم أبو بكر ثم عمر ثم عثمان وفي لفظ ثم ندع أصحاب النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم لا نفاضل بينهم فهذا إخبار عما كان عليه الصحابة على عهد النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم من تفضيل أبي بكر ثم عمر ثم عثمان وقد روى أن ذلك كان يبلغ النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم فلا ينكره

It has been authentically transmitted in the two Ṣaḥāḥs from 'Abd Allāh b. 'Umar that he said: ''We used to consider Abū Bakr to be the best during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, and then 'Umar, and then 'Uthmān" and in another version, "Then we would leave all the other Ṣaḥābah of the Prophet, peace be upon him, and we did not consider any of them to be superior to another." This is information concerning what the Ṣaḥābah believed during the lifetime of the Prophet, peace be upon him, in that they considered Abū Bakr to be the most superior, then 'Umar, and then 'Uthmān. It has been narrated that this reached the Prophet, peace be upon him, and he did not oppose it.<sup>187</sup>

The plot deepens considerably here. There is a direct contradiction between the reports of Ibn Mas'ūd and Ibn 'Umar. One of them, definitely, was incorrectly attributing things to his colleagues. As such, we must investigate their irreconciliable claims in order to determine which of them reflects the true story.

Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) has documented the submission of Ibn 'Umar:

حدثني محمد بن حاتم بن بزيغ حدثنا شاذان حدثنا عبد العزيز ابن أبي سلمة الماجشون عن عبيد الله عن نافع عن ابن عمر رضي الله عنها قال : كنا في زمن النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم لا نعدل بأبي بكر أحدا ثم عمر ثم عثمان ثم نترك أصحاب النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم لا نفاضل بينهم.

Muḥammad b. Ḥatim b. Bazīg — Shādhān — 'Abd al-'Azīz b. Abī Salamah al-Mājishūn — 'Ubayd Allāh — Nāfi' — Ibn 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with them both:

During the lifetime of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, we never considered anyone as equal to Abū Bakr, then 'Umar, and then 'Umar. Then, we leave the Ṣaḥābah of the Prophet, peace be upon him, and we did not consider any of them to be superior to another.'188

In simpler terms, the Ṣaḥābah – as alleged by Ibn 'Umar – viewed Abū Bakr to be their best, then 'Umar, and then 'Uthmān. Apart from the trio, those Ṣaḥābah did not consider any other among them to be superior to another. Without doubt, this ḥadīth targets Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, as it places him on the same level with all other Ṣaḥābah, apart from the three khalīfahs. Al-Bukhārī has even attributed a similar report to him:

Muḥammad b. Kathīr — Sufyān — Jāmi' b. Abī Rāshid — Abū Ya'lā — Muḥammad b. al-Ḥanafiyyah:

I asked my father ('Alī), "Who is the best of mankind after the Messenger of Allāh?" He replied, "Abū Bakr." I said, "Then who?" He replied, "'Umar." I feared that he would (also) mention 'Uthmān. So, I asked, "Then you?" He replied, "I am only an ordinary Muslim." <sup>189</sup>

This report, however, makes no sense in line with 'Alī's documented opinions of Abū Bakr and 'Umar! Imām Muslim (d. 261 H), for instance, quotes the second khalīfah saying to both Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī and 'Abbās:

فلما توفي رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم قال أبو بكر أنا ولي رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم .... فرأيته كاذبا آثما غادرا خائنا والله يعلم إنه لصادق بار راشد تابع للحق ثم توفي أبو بكر وأنا ولي رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم وولي أبا بكر فرأيتاني كاذبا آثما غادرا خائنا

When the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, died, Abū Bakr said: "I am the walī of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him.".... So both of you ('Alī and 'Abbās) thought him (i.e. Abū Bakr) to be a liar, sinful, treacherous and dishonest. And Allāh knows that he was really truthful, pious, rightly-guided and a follower of the truth. Abū Bakr died and I became the walī of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, and the walī of Abū Bakr. So both of you thought me to be a liar, sinful, treacherous and dishonest. 190

He considered both Abū Bakr and 'Umar as sinful, treacherous and dishonest liars! How then could he possibly have graded both people as the best of the Ummah? Does it make sense that Amīr al-Mūminīn thought that sinful, treacherous and dishonest liars were better than himself and everyone else?! Besides, on what basis would he have declared himself an ordinary Muslim – equal with all others - despite everything that Allāh and His Prophet had publicly and privately said about him? We believe that Imām 'Alī was an outstandingly intelligent, sincere believer in Allāh and His Messenger, who could never have made such illogical comments. What we find, therefore, in the books of the Ahl al-Sunnah concerning his alleged admission of the superiority of Abu Bakr and 'Umar over himself are only cheap polemical stunts pulled by some enthusiastic Sunnīs.

However, in the case of Ibn 'Umar, what has been transmitted from him coincides perfectly with his character and beliefs. He certainly believed in the superiority of Abū Bakr, then his father 'Umar, and then 'Uthmān, above all other Ṣaḥābah. Moreover, he never recognized the khilāfah of 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, citing a self-made excuse, as al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) confirms:

وإنما لم يذكر ابن عمر خلافة علي لأنه لم يبايعه لوقوع الاختلاف عليه كها هو مشهور في صحيح الاخبار وكان رأى أنه لا يبايع لمن لم يجتمع عليه الناس ولهذا لم يبايع أيضا لابن الزبير ولا لعبد الملك في حال اختلافهها وبايع ليزيد بن معاوية ثم لعبد الملك بن مروان بعد قتل بن الزبير

Ibn 'Umar did not mention the khilāfah of 'Alī only because he did not give bay'ah (oath of allegiance) to the latter, due to the difference of opinions concerning him as it is well-known in the ṣaḥiḥ reports. His (Ibn 'Umar's) view was that he would not give bay'ah to anyone who was not universally acknowledged (as khalifah) by all the people. This was why he also did not give bay'ah to Ibn al-Zubayr and 'Abd al-Malik during their disagreement. And he gave ba'yah to Yazīd b. Mu'āwiyah, and then to 'Abd al-Malik b. Marwān after the killing of Ibn al-Zubayr.<sup>191</sup>

His excuse, of course, was defeated by his ba'yah to Yazīd b. Mu'āwiyah, the killer of Imām al-Ḥusayn. The khilāfah of Yazīd was never universally accepted. This was why there were repeated revolts against him anyway, resulting in infamous episodes in Islāmic history – such as his massacres in Makkah and Madīnah, and at Karbalā. Interestingly, like his pretext for delegitimizing the khilāfah of Amīr al-Mūminīn, Ibn 'Umar's claim that the Ṣaḥābah never considered anyone among themselves as superior to another - apart from Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān - lacks truth! The reality is far different. For instance, Allāh states:

لا يستوي القاعدون من المؤمنين غير أولي الضرر والمجاهدون في سبيل الله بأموالهم وأنفسهم على القاعدين درجة وكلا وعد الله المجاهدين على القاعدين أجرا عظيما درجات منه

Not equal are those of the believers who sit (i.e. do not participate in jihād) - except those who are disabled - and those who do jihād in the Cause of Allāh with their wealth and their lives. Allāh has made those who do jihād with their wealth and their lives superior in (spiritual) rank above those who sit. Unto each, Allāh has promised good. But Allāh has made those who do jihād to be superior to those who sit with a huge reward, ranks from Him.<sup>192</sup>

The Ṣaḥābah were in two groups: those who participated in jihād with their wealth and lives and those who held back. Allāh declared the former to be superior above the latter in ranks. Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, of course, never voluntarily missed the battlefield, and he equally never fled – not even once – no matter how deadly things became. Moreover, although he was poor, he still spent his little wealth in the Way of Allāh. By contrast, Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān have been authentically documented to have fled the battlefield at various times! In other words, they were escaping nith their lives from jihād. They might have done jihād with their wealth – which is debatable, anyway. However, they certainly were not doing it nith their lives. So, why on earth would the Ṣaḥābah place Abū Bakr above 'Alī, despite Allāh's clear verdict? Did they not believe in the Qur'ān? Worse still, why would they consider Amīr al-Mūminīn to be equal in rank with those of the Ṣaḥābah who used to flee from the battlefield, and with those who used to stay away from jihād?

The Qur'an adds:

وما لكم ألا تنفقوا في سبيل الله ولله ميراث الساوات والأرض لا يستوي منكم من أنفق من قبل الفتح وقاتل أولئك أعظم درجة من الذين أنفقوا من بعد وقاتلوا وكلا وعد الله الحسنى والله بما تعملون خبير

And what is the matter with you that you do not spend in the Way of Allāh? And to Allāh belongs the heritage of the heavens and the earth. Not equal among you are those who spent and fought before the Conquest (of Makkah), these ones are higher in (spiritual) rank than those who spent and fought afterwards. But to all, Allāh has promised the best. And Allāh is All-Aware of what you do.<sup>193</sup>

Yet, the Ṣaḥābah – according to Ibn 'Umar – did not believe this verse! Therefore, they used to consider 'Alī, who spent and fought before the Conquest of Makkah, as equal with others among them who only spent and fought after it. It is indeed a lose-lose situation for our Sunnī brothers. If they agreed that the Ṣaḥābah believed in and practised the above verses, then they must reject the report of Ibn 'Umar as only his mere wishful thinkings and hallucinations. On the other hand, if they chose to believe Ibn 'Umar, in such a case, they would be left with no other choice but to proclaim the kufr of the Ṣaḥābah!

14 ḤADĪTH AL-TAFDĪL

IS 'AISHAH REALLY THE BEST OF THE UMMAH?

Officially, Abū Bakr is the best of this Ummah, after its Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, according to the Ahl al-Sunnah. 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) for instance submits:

I say: the fact that Abū Bakr, may Allāh be pleased with him, was the most beloved of mankind to him (i.e. the Prophet), peace be upon him, is consistent with the fact that he was the best of the rightly guided khalīfahs in the view of the Ahl al-Sunnah.<sup>194</sup>

However, this belief directly contradicts their "authentic" ḥadīth. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا يحيى بن حاد قال انا عبد العزيز بن المحتار عن خالد الحذاء عن أبي عثمان قال حدثني عمرو بن العاص قال بعثني رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم على جيش ذات السلاسل قال فأتيته قال قلت يا رسول الله أي

In other words, Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah is the overall best of this Ummah, above Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān, according to the Sunnī-only report. It is, however, at this point that things get really messy! Allāh has stated concerning two of the wives of His Prophet:

واذ أسر النبي إلى بعض أزواجه حديثا فلما نبأت به وأظهره الله عليه عرف بعضه وأعرض عن بعض فلما نبأها به قالت من أنبأك هذا قال نبأني العليم الحبير إن تتوبا إلى الله فقد صغت قلوبكما وإن تظاهرا عليه فإن الله هو مولاه وجبريل وصالح المؤمنين والملائكة بعد ذلك ظهير عسى ربه إن طلقكن أن يبدله أزواجا خبرا منكن مسلمات مؤمنات قانتات تائبات عابدات سائحات ثنبات وأبكارا

And when the Prophet disclosed a matter in confidence to one of his wives, so when she told it, and Allāh made it known to him, he informed part thereof and left a part. Then when he told her thereof, she said, "Who told you this?" He said, "The All-Knower, the All-Aware has told me." If you two repent to Allāh, for your hearts have deviated. But if you both help each other against him, then

Allāh is His Helper (against you both), and Jibrīl, and the righteous believers, and furthermore, the angels are his helpers. It may be if he divorced you that his Lord will give him instead of you, wives better than you: Muslims, believers, obedient, repentant, devoted, fasting – whether previously married or virgins.<sup>197</sup>

Imām Ibn al-Jawzī (d. 597 H) has this exegesis:

ثم خاطب عائشة وحفصة، فقال: {إن تتوبا إلى الله } أي :من التعاون على رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم بالإيذاء {فقد صغت قلوبكما} قال ابن عباس :زاغت، وأثمت قال الزجاج :عدلت، وزاغت عن الحق قال مجاهد :كنا نرى قوله عز وجل :{فقد صغت قلوبكما} شيئا هينا حتى وجدناه في قراءة ابن مسعود :فقد زاغت قلوبكما.

Then He (Allāh) addresses 'Āishah and Ḥafṣah, saying: {If you both repent to Allāh}, meaning from helping each other against the Messenger of Allāh to hurt him. {For your hearts have deviated} Ibn 'Abbās said: "They (the hearts) deviated (zāghat) and committed a sin." Al-Zajāj said, "They (the hearts) deviated, and deviated from the Truth." Mujāhid said, "We used consider His Words, the Almighty {for your hearts have deviated} has something easy until we found it in the recitation of Ibn Mas'ūd as: {for your hearts have deviated (zāghat)}".198

Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) also records:

Hārūn b. Sa'īd al-Aylī – 'Abd Allāh b. Wahb – Sulaymān b. Bilāl – Yaḥyā – 'Ubayd b. Ḥunayn – 'Abd Allāh b. 'Abbās:

I hesitated for a (whole) year, and I had intended to ask 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb concerning a verse. But I could not ask him out of fear of him, until he went out for Ḥajj and I accompanied him. During his return, while we were still on the way, he stepped aside towards an Arāk tree to ease himself. So, I waited for him until he finished. I then walked along with him, and said, "O Amīr al-Mūminīn! Who were the two women who helped each other against the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, among his wives?" He replied, "They were Ḥafṣah and 'Āishah."

There are three things here:

- 1. Both 'Āishah, and especially Ḥafsah, betrayed the confidence of the Messenger of Allāh.
- 2. Both of them literally helped each other against him in order to hurt him.
- 3. The hearts of both of them had deviated from the Truth. This is very obvious, anyway. No one with a clean heart would ever help another against the Messenger in any circumstance.

Interestingly, the above verses were the last updates by Allāh on the hearts of both women. Nothing else was revealed thereafter by Him to discharge them, or to indicate their repentance. It is a matter of great interest then that the deviation of their hearts means they both have little or no hope of salvation in the Hereafter:

The Day whereon neither wealth nor sons will avail, except him who brings to Allāh a clean heart.<sup>200</sup>

The perturbing question here is: how is 'Āishah the best of this Ummah, after its Prophet, despite that she was a deviant in the Sight of Allāh? Are our Sunnī brothers telling us that Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān were worse than deviants? Besides, Allāh mentions the existence of women who would be better wives to His Prophet; if case he divorced 'Āishah and Ḥafṣah. Does this fact alone not debunk the Sunnī aḥādīth on the superiority of Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah as mere sectarian polemical artwork?

15 ḤADĪTH SALŪNĪ

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

أما قول علي سلوني فإنماكان يخاطب بهذا أهل الكوفة ليعلمهم العلم والدين فإن غالبهم كانوا جمالا لم يدركوا النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم وأما أبو بكر فكان الذين حول منبره هم اكابر أصحاب النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم الذين تعلموا من رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم العلم والدين فكانت رعية أبي بكر أعلم الأمة وأدينها وأما الذين كان علي يخاطبهم فهم من جملة عوام الناس التابعين وكان كثير منهم من شرار التابعين ولهذا كان علي رضي الله عنه يذمهم ويدعو عليهم وكان التابعون بمكة والمدينة والشام والبصرة خبرا منهم

As for the statement of 'Alī "Ask me", he only addressed this to the people of Kūfah to teach them knowledge and the religion, because most of them were ignorant people who never met the Prophet, peace be upon him. As for Abū Bakr, those who were around his pulpit were the most senior of the Ṣaḥābah of the Prophet, peace be upon him, who learnt knowledge and the religion from the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. So, the subjects of Abū Bakr were the most knowledgeable of the Ummah and the best in religious practice. However, those whom 'Alī was addressing, they were commoners among the Tābi'īn, and a lot of them were the evil ones among the Tābi'īn. This was why 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, criticized and cursed them, and the Tābi'īn in Makkah, Madīnah, Syria and

Başra were better than them.<sup>201</sup>

He equally adds:

فقول علي لمن عنده بالكوفة سلوني هو من هذا الباب لم يقل هذا لابن مسعود ومعاذ وأبي بن كعب وأبي الدرداء وسلمان وأمثالهم فضلا عن أن يقول ذلك لعمر وعثمان ولهذا لم يكن هؤلاء ممن يسأله فلم يسأله قط لا معاذ ولا أبي ولا ابن مسعود ولا من هو دونهم من الصحابة

The statement of 'Alī "Ask me" to those with him in Kūfah was in this regard. He never said this to Ibn Mas'ūd, Mu'ādh, Ubayy b. Ka'b, Abū Dardā, Salmān or others like them, much less saying that to 'Umar and 'Uthmān. This is why these people were not among those who asked him. They never asked him (anything) – not Mu'ādh, not Ubayy, not Ibn Mas'ūd and not others from the Ṣaḥābah.<sup>202</sup>

It is obvious from the words of our dear Shaykh that he accepts the authenticity of Ḥadīth Salūnī. He is not calling it "a lie" or "a fabrication", or da'īf or similar terms. Rather, he conceded that the event did happen. However, he attempts to downplay the unmatched significance of the hadīth. To him, there is nothing special in it. After all, Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, was — according to our Shaykh — only offering that challenge to ignorant, evil people. He never dared present it to any of the Ṣaḥābah! By contrast, Abū Bakr displayed his knowledge in the blessed presence of the most knowledgeable and the best of this entire Ummah.

In order to weigh the positives and negatives of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's submissions, we must first understand the context of Ḥadūth Salūnī. Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr (d. 774 H) helps on this:

قال شعبة بن الحجاج ، عن سِمَاك ، عن خالد بن عُرْعَرَة أنه سمع عليا وشعبة أيضًا ، عن القاسم بن أبي برَّة ، عن أبي الطُّقْيل ، سمع عليًا. وثبت أيضًا من غير وجه ، عن أمير المؤمنين علي بن أبي طالب : أنه صعد منبر الكوفة فقال : لا تسألوني عن آية في كتاب الله ، ولا عن سنة عن رسول الله ، إلا أنبأتكم بذلك.

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj, from Simāk, from Khālid b. 'Ar'arah that he heard 'Alī; and Shu'bah again narrated from al-Qāsim b. Abī Barrah from Abū al-Tufayl that he heard 'Alī; and IT IS ALSO AUTHENTICALLY TRANSMITTED through many chains that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib climbed the pulpit of Kūfah and said, "You will not ask me about ANY verse in the Book of Allāh, or about ANY Sunnah from the Messenger of Allāh, except that I will inform you of that."<sup>203</sup>

Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) also records:

أخبرنا أبو الحسن علي بن محمد بن عقبة ثنا الحسن بن علي بن عفان ثنا محمد بن عبيد الطنافسي ثنا بسام بن عبد الرحمن الصيرفي ثنا أبو الطفيل قال رأيت أمير المؤمنين علي بن أبي طالب رضي الله عنه قال على المنبر فقال: سلوني قبل أن لا تسألوني ولن تسألوا بعدي مثلي

Imām Ibn Jarīr al-Ṭabarī (d. 310 H) further documents:

Ibn al-Muthannā – Muḥammad b. Ja'far – Shu'bah – al-Qāsim b. Abī Bazzah – Abū al-Ţufayl:

I heard 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, saying, "You will not ask me about ANY articulate Book or ANY bygone Sunnah, except that I will tell you." So, Ibn al-Kawā asked him about al-Zāriyāt, and he replied, "It is the winds". <sup>206</sup>

This same sanad is relied upon by Imām Muslim in his Ṣaḥiḥ:

Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā and Muhammad b. Bashār — Muḥammad b. Ja'far — Shu'bah — al-Qāsim b. Abī Bazzah — Abū al-Ţufayl<sup>207</sup>

This should be sufficient to establish the status of the above report as saḥiḥ. However, the athar proves a very heavy fact – that 'Alī knew everything in all revealed scriptures as well as everything in the Sunnah of every single prophet and messenger till the Seal of them. This naturally includes the Suḥūf, the Tawrah, the Zabūr, the Injūl, and the Qur'ān. Amīr al-Mūminīn had perfect knowledge of them all. He also had complete knowledge of the Sunnah of every single one of the 124,000 prophets sent by Allāh. Due to the significance of this athar, we will further confirm its authenticity to remove any possible doubts about it.

Al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H) says about its first narrator:

Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā b. 'Ubayd al-'Unazā, Abū Mūsā al-Baṣrī.... Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate).<sup>208</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz also has these comments about the second narrator:

Muḥammad b. Ja'far al-Hazalī al-Baṣrī, better known as Ghandar: Thiqah (trustworthy), ṣaḥāḥ al-kitāb (i.e. aḥādāth from his books are ṣaḥāḥ) except that there was some negligence in him.<sup>209</sup>

Whatever negligence he had does not affect his aḥādīth from Shu'bah, the third narrator, at all. He used to accurately record the latter's reports. So, he narrated them from his books with perfect precision. Al-Ḥāfiẓ provides further information in this respect:

وقال ابن محدي كنا نستفيد من كتب غندر في شعبة وكان وكيع يسميه الصحيح الكتاب. وقال أبو حاتم عن محمد بن ابان البلخي قال ابن محدي غندر أثبت في شعبة مني وقال ابن المبارك إذا اختلف الناس في حديث شعبة فكتاب غندر حكم بينهم وقال ابن أبي حاتم سألت أبي عن غندر فقال كان صدوقا وكان مؤدبا وفي حديث شعبة ثقة

Ibn Mahdī said: "We used to benefit from the books of Ghandar on Shu'bah. Wakī' named him ṣaḥiḥ al-kitāb." Abū Ḥātim narrated from Muḥammad b. Abān al-Balakhī that Ibn Mahdī said: "Ghandar is more accurate than me as far as Shu'bah is concerned." Ibn al-Mubārak said, "When the people disagree about the ḥadīth of Shu'bah, the book of Ghandar used to judge between them." Ibn Abī Ḥātim said: "I asked my father about Ghandar and he replied, 'He was ṣadūq (very truthful), and was a teacher and in the ḥadīth of Shu'bah, he is thiqah (trustworthy)."<sup>210</sup>

The third narrator, Shu'bah, is a pillar of Sunnī aḥādīth. Al-Ḥāfiz gives the catch-phrases about him:

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj b. al-Ward al-'Atkī, their freed slave, Abū Busṭām al-Wāsiṭī, al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), hāfīz (a ḥadīth scientist), extremely precise. Al-Thawrī used to say: "He was the amīr al-mūminīn (the supreme leader) in al-Ḥadīth."<sup>211</sup>

This is what al-Ḥāfiz establishes about the fourth narrator as well:

Al-Qāsim b. Abī Bazzah al-Makkī, free slave of Banū Makhzūm, the Qārī (the Qur'ān reciter): Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>212</sup>

The last narrator, Abū al-Ṭufayl, was a Ṣaḥābī. So, normally, he was absolutely thiqah (trustworthy) by Sunnī standards. Al-Ḥāfiẓ affirms his status:

عامر بن واثلة بن عبد الله بن عمرو بن جحش الليثي أبو الطفيل وربما سمي عمرا ولد عام أحد ورأى النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم وروى عن أبي بكر فمن بعده وعمر إلى أن مات سنة عشر ومائة على الصحيح وهو آخر من مات من الصحابة قاله مسلم وغيره.

Tufayl. Perhaps, he was named Amr. He was born during the year of Uḥud, and he saw the Prophet, peace be upon him. He narrated from Abū Bakr and all those after him. He lived till 110 H, based upon the correct opinion, and was the last of the Ṣaḥābah to die, according to (Imām) Muslim and others.<sup>213</sup>

This last fact reveals the fallacy of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's claim that Amīr al-Mūminīn never presented the challenge to any of the Ṣaḥābah! Abū al-Tufayl was in the mosque when Imām 'Alī made his declaration, and none was excluded from it. We will further investigate this particular unfounded submission of our dear Shaykh, in greater detail, later.

Let us now examine the fourth ṣaḥiḥ report of Ḥadīth Salūnī from the Sunnī books. Imām 'Abd al-Razzāq records:

'Abd al-Razzāq — Ma'mar — Wahb b. 'Abd Allāh — Abū al-Ṭufayl:

I witnessed 'Alī while he was delivering a sermon and saying, "Ask me! I swear by Allāh, you will not ask me about ANYTHING that will occur up till the Day of Resurrection except that I will inform you of it. Ask me about the Book of Allāh. I swear by Allāh, there is NOT a single verse except that I know whether it was revealed during the night or during the day, or on a level land or on a mountain.<sup>214</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz states about the first narrator:

'Abd al-Razzāq b. Hammām b. Nāfi' al-Ḥumayrī, their freed slave, Abū

Bakr al-Ṣan'ānī: Thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfīz (a ḥadīth scientist).215

He also says about the second narrator:

Ma'mar b. Rāshid al-Azdī, their freed slave, Abū 'Urwah al-Baṣrī, he lived in Yemen: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), fāḍil (meritorious).<sup>216</sup>

What about the third narrator? This is his verdict:

Wahb b. 'Abd Allāh b. Abī Dubayy al-Hunāī al-Kūfī, he has been attributed to his grandfather: Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>217</sup>

We already know about Abū al-Ţufayl. So, this fourth riwāyah too is ṣaḥiḥ.

A simple summary of the ath $\bar{a}r$  is this:

- 1. 'Alī challenged the people to ask him about anything. He never limited the challenge. Rather, he left it open: "Ask me!"
- 2. He claimed perfect knowledge of the Qur'ān and Sunnah, as well as of all the revealed scriptures of the past prophets and their respective Sunnahs.
- 3. He also encouraged them to ask him about anything that would occur till the Hour. He had complete knowledge of that too.
- 4. He specifically warned the people after once he died, there would never be anyone like him again till the Day of Resurrection.

Apparently, this goes beyond merely scaring some ignorant, evil fellows with some limited knowledge. Rather, the question is: was/is anyone else ever capable of making similar claims?

16 HADĪTH SALŪNĪ

IMPLICATIONS OF THE REPORTS

The first and only creature to have ever made claims and offered challenges similar to those in Ḥadāth Salūnī was the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa wa ālihi. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records:

وحدثني حرملة بن يحيى بن عبدالله بن حرملة بن عمران التجيبي أخبرنا ابن وهب أخبرني يونس عن ابن شهاب أخبرني أنس بن مالك أن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم خرج حين زاغت الشمس فصلى لهم صلاة الظهر فلما سلم قام على المنبر فذكر الساعة وذكر أن قبلها أمورا عظاما ثم قال من أحب أن يسألني عن شيء فليسألني عنه فوالله لا تسألوني عن شيء إلا أخبرتكم به ما دمت في مقامي هذا قال أنس بن مالك فا كثر الناس البكاء حين سمعوا ذلك من رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم وا كثر رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم وا أكثر رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم من أن يقول سلوني برك عمر فقال رضينا بالله ربا وبالإسلام دينا وبحمد رسولا قال فسكت رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم حين قال عمر ذلك ثم قال رسول الله عليه و سلم عين قال عمر ذلك ثم قال رسول الله عليه و سلم حين قال عمر ذلك ثم قال رسول الله عليه و سلم الله عليه و سلم حين قال عمر ذلك ثم قال رسول الله عليه و سلم أولى والذي نفس محمد بيده لقد عرضت علي الجنة والنار آنفا في عرض هذا الحائط فلم أركاليوم في الخير والشر

Ḥarmala b. Yaḥyā b. 'Abd Allāh b. Ḥarmala b. 'Imrān al-Tajībī – Ibn Wahb – Yūnus – Ibn Shihāb – Anas b. Mālik:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, came out when the sun had passed the meridian, and led them in Salāt al-Zuhr. When he said the salām, he stood upon the pulpit, and mentioned the Hour, and mentioned great affairs that would occur before it. Then he said, "Whosoever wishes to ask me about ANYTHING, let him ask me. I swear by Allāh, you will not ask me about ANYTHING except that I will inform you of it as long as I remain in this position of mine." So, the people wept a lot when they heard that from the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. Then the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, repeatedly said "Ask me!" several times. So, 'Abd Allāh b. Ḥudhāfah stood up and said, "Who is my father, O Messenger of Allāh?" He (the Prophet) replied, "Your father is Hudhāfah." When the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, continuously repeated "Ask me!" several times, 'Umar knelt down and said, "We are well-pleased with Allāh as Lord, and with Islām as religion, and with Muḥammad as Messenger." So, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, kept quiet so long as 'Umar was saying that. Then the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "It is near. I swear by the One in Whose Hand the life of Muhammad is, there was presented to me the Paradise and the Hellfire in the nook of this enclosure, and I did not see as much good and evil as I have seen today."218

Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) also records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا بن أبي عدي عن حميد عن أنس قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم Y لا تسألوني عن شيء إلى يوم القيامة الاحدثتكم قال فقال عبد الله بن حذافة يا رسول الله من أبي قال أبوك حذافة

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Ibn Abī 'Adī – Hamīd – Anas:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "You will not ask me about ANYTHING (that will occur) up till the Day of Resurrection except that I will tell you." So, 'Abd Allāh b. Ḥudhāfah said, "O Messenger of Allāh, who is my father?" He replied, "Your father is Hudhāfah".<sup>219</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ comments:

Its chain is sahih upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>220</sup>

These were momentous words. He offered them a challenge that was clearly beyond human capability. The Ṣaḥābah were awed. They never fathomed the existence of a man who could answer any question about anything – any verse in any revealed scripture, any Sunnah of any prophet, any private secrets of anyone, science, medicine, technology, astronomy, and so on. Anything! Nothing whatsoever was excluded. They were challenged to ask anything about anything! 'Abd Allāh b. Ḥudhāfah exploited the opportunity to verify his paternity – which, of course, was part of "anything". The other Ṣahābah were too overwhelmed with awe to ask any question. The Prophet kept challenging them. But, all that they could do was weep. If anyone makes a similar challenge today, he would be humiliated immediately with very simple questions. The only creature that was capable of making the same challenge as the Messenger of Allāh had done was none other than Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām.

This relevant athar is documented in Fadāil al-Sahābah of Imām Ahmad:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – 'Uthmān b. Abī Shaybah – Sufyān – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd – Sa'īd: "There was never anyone among the Saḥābah of the Prophet, peace be upon him, who used to say "Ask me!" except 'Alī b. Abī Tālib.<sup>221</sup>

Its chain is saḥiḥ<sup>222</sup>

As for Abū Bakr and 'Umar, both of them did not even have sufficient knowledge of either the Qur'ān or Sunnah – much less anything else! For instance, 'Umar did not know the basic Islāmic ruling on tayammum. Imām Muslim records:

'Abd Allāh b. Hishām al-'Abdī – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd al-Qaṭṭān – Shu'bah – al-Hakam – Dharr – Sa'īd b. 'Abd al-Rahman b. Abza – his father:

A man came to 'Umar and said: "I have seminal discharges and I cannot find water (to do the ghush)". He ('Umar) said, "Do not perform Salāt."<sup>223</sup>

Meanwhile, this is the answer to that question in the Qur'an:

And if you are ill, or on a journey, or one of you comes after answering the call of nature, or you have had sexual intercourse with women and you cannot find water, perform tayammum with clean soil and rub therewith your faces and hands.<sup>224</sup>

'Umar apparently did not know the verses, or even the explicit Prophetic traditions which also explain the matter. As such, it was naturally impossible for him to have issued any challenge to any people to ask him anything! He completely lacked the capability, and would have been instantly humiliated with such beginner's topics as tayammum. Moreover, as Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) records below, 'Umar also lacked knowledge of some other topics in

Aḥmad b. Abī Rajāh — Yaḥyā — Abū Ḥayyān al-Tamīmī — Shu'bī — Ibn 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with them both:

'Umar delivered a sermon on the pulpit of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, saying, "Verily, there was revealed an order making alcohol harām, and it is made from five things: grape, date, wheat, barley and honey. Alcohol is whatsoever clouds the mind. I wish the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, had not left us before he could explain three matters to us: the inheritance of the grandfather, kalālah and various types of ribā (usury)."225

But, it was not only 'Umar. Abū Bakr too, as the khalīfah – and therefore the chief religious authority of the Muslims, was asked a beginner's question by one of his subjects. It however turned out that the khalīfah actually had no clue! Allāh states:

That We pour forth water in abundance, and We split the earth in clefts, and We cause therein the grain to grow, and grapes and clover plants, and olives and date-palms, and gardens, dense with many trees, and fruits and herbage, a benefit for you and your cattle.<sup>226</sup>

This (Qur'ān) is a clear Arabic tongue.227

We have sent it down as an Arabic Qur'ān in order that you may understand.<sup>228</sup>

Verily, We have made it a Qur'ān in Arabic that you may be able to understand.<sup>229</sup>

Therefore, anyone with a proficient knowledge of the Arabic language will always understand the verses of the Qur'ān – at least in their literal senses – perfectly. During the khilāfah of Abū Bakr, a man came to him about the word "herbage" in the above passage. He did not understand what it meant. Perhaps, the man was a Persian, Roman or African. It is also possible that he was an Arab, but one without a sound knowledge of his native language. So, how did the khalīfah explain to him?

Al-Ḥāfiz Ibn Ḥajar al-'Asqalānī (d. 852 H) records:

ومن وجه آخر عن إبراهيم النخعي قال قرأ أبو بكر الصديق وفاكهة وأبا فقيل ما الأب فقيل كذا وكذا فقال أبو بكر ان هذا له التكلف أي أرض تقلني أو أي سماء تظلني إذا قلت في كتاب الله بما لا أعلم وهذا منقطع بين النخعي والصديق وأخرج أيضا من طريق إبراهيم التيمي ان أبا بكر سئل عن الأب ما هو فقال أي سماء تظلني فذكر مثله وهو منقطع أيضا لكن أحدهما يقوي الآخر

And it is narrated from another chain on the authority of Ibrāhīm al-Nakha'ī:

Abū Bakr al-Ṣiddīq recited "and fruits and herbage". So, someone asked, "What is herbage?" Another person answered, "It is so-and-so". Therefore, Abū Bakr said, "This one (i.e. this question) is overburdensome. Which earth will carry me and which sky will shield me if I say concerning the Book of Allāh THAT WHICH I HAVE NO KNOWLEDGE OF." This is munqati' (disconnected) between al-Nakha'ī and al-Ṣiddīq. It is also recorded through the route of Ibrāhīm al-Tamīmī that Abū Bakr was asked about herbage, what it was, and he replied, "Which sky would shield me...." and he mentioned the like of it (i.e. what Ibrāhīm al-Nakha'ī narrated). This one too is munqati'. However, each one of the two (reports) STRENGTHENS the other.<sup>230</sup>

So, Abū Bakr, despite being from Quraysh – who spoke the purest Arabic dialect – did not know what "herbage" meant in the Qur'ān! Apparently, though an Arab, the first Sunnī khalifah had deficient knowledge of his own native language. Considering that the Book of Allāh was revealed in "clear" Arabic, that fact alone naturally made him an incompetent interpreter of the divine Scripture.

'Umar too had a similar condition. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records:

DID THE ŞAḤĀBAH ASK 'ALĪ?

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) claims:

أما قول علي سلوني ... وأما الذين كان علي يخاطبهم فهم من جملة عوام الناس التابعين وكان كثير منهم من شرار التابعين

As for the statement of 'Alī "Ask me" ... those whom 'Alī was addressing, they were commoners among the Tābi'īn, and a lot of them were the evil ones among the Tābi'īn.<sup>234</sup>

He clarifies further:

The statement of 'Alī "Ask me" TO THOSE WITH HIM IN KŪFAH was in this regard. He never said this to Ibn Mas'ūd, Mu'ādh, Ubayy b. Ka'b, Abū Dardā, Salmān or others like them.... They never asked him (anything) – not Mu'ādh, not Ubayy, not Ibn Mas'ūd

and NOT others from the Sahābah. 235

The patent purpose of the above submissions is to downplay the importance of Amīr al-Mūminīn's, 'alaihi al-salām, challenge. However, what really mattered was the quality of the challenge, and not its audience. As we have demonstrated, neither Abū Bakr nor 'Umar was ever capable of issuing the same challenge as Amīr al-Mūminīn did, not even to school kids. Meanwhile, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah is actually wrong in his claims concerning the people of Kūfah, and the Ṣaḥābah, with regards to the challenge of 'Alī.

To get a clearer picture, let us present this narration of Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H):

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Ḥusayn b. Muḥammad and Abū Naʾīm al-Maʾanī – Faṭr – Abū al-Ṭufayl:

'Alī, may Allāh the Most High be pleased with him, gathered people at Raḥbah (an area in Kūfah), and said to them, "I implore with Allāh to testify every single Muslim who heard what the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said while standing on the Day of Ghadīr Khumm. So, thirty people stood up - Abū Na'īm said: lots of people stood up - and testified that while holding his (i.e. 'Alī's) hand, he (the Prophet) said to the people, "Do you know that I am more entitled to the believers than themselves?" They replied, "Yes, O Messenger of Allāh." He (the Prophet) said, "Whosoever I am his mawlā, this too is his mawlā. O Allāh, be the friend of whosoever is his friend, and be the enemy of whosoever is his enemy."236

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ states:

Its chain is sahīh237

All those thirty – or actually, lots of - people who stood up to testify were Ṣaḥābah, and they were among the people of Kūfah! The challenge of Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī was directed towards them too, along with the other residents of the city. This reality cuts off the first leg of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's apparently fallacious submission.

At this point, it becomes imperative to ask. Did the Ṣaḥābah ever consult Amīr al-Mūminīn to gain knowledge in their religion? Our dear Shaykh claims that they never did. But, is that the case? 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) replies:

أخرجه ابن أبى شيبة فى " المصنف " (2/44/11) من طريق سعيد بن المسيب: " أن رجلا من أهل الشام يقال له (ابن حبرى) وجد مع امرأته رجلا فقتلها , أو قتلها , فرفع إلى معاوية فأشكل عليه القضاء فى ذلك , فكتب إلى أبى موسى أن سل عليا عن ذلك , فسأل أبو موسى عليا

Ibn Abī Shaybah recorded it in al-Musnaf (2/44/11) from the route of Sa'īd b. Jubayr:

A Syrian man called Ibn Ḥabrī caught a man with his wife, and therefore killed him or killed both of them. So, his case was brought to Mu'āwiyah. However, he had problem on how to do justice in that. As such, he wrote to Abū Mūsā to ask 'Alī concerning that. Therefore, Abū Mūsā asked 'Alī.<sup>238</sup>

The 'Allāmah comments:

I say: Its narrators are trustworthy. However, there is disagreement over whether Sa'īd b. Musayyab heard from 'Alī or not.<sup>239</sup>

Of course, the correct opinion is that he heard from 'Alī, as declared by al-Hāfiz:

Sa'īd b. al-Musayyab b. Ḥuzn b. Abī Wahb b. 'Amr b. 'Āiz b. 'Imrān b. Makhzūm al-Qurshī al-Makhzūmī. He narrated from Abū Bakr in a mursal form, and from 'Umar, 'Uthmān, 'Alī, Sa'd b. Abī Waqqās....<sup>240</sup>

It was only from Abū Bakr that he did not hear directly. As for 'Umar, 'Uthmān, 'Alī and all the other people from whom Sa'īd b. al-Musayyab heard, they are grouped together in the same unbroken, long list of names. Moreover, Imām al-Tirmidhī (d. 279 H) records this chain:

Aḥmad b. Munī' – Ismā'īl b. Ibrāhīm – 'Alī b. Yazīd – Sa'īd b. al-Musayyab – 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib.241

'Allāmah al-Albānī backs him:

Sahih<sup>243</sup>

Simply put, the athar from al-Muṣnaf of Ibn Abī Shaybah has a ṣaḥḥ chain. It is a very interesting narration, indeed. Mu'āwiyah – a Ṣaḥābī - was the rebel leader who was waging war against Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, the khalīfah. Yet, despite his bloody insurgency, he turned to 'Alī for solution to his judicial problem. That was an extreme step, which revealed Mu'āwiyah's unconditional acknowledgement that 'Alī's knowledge was unmatched and unique. Moreover, Abū Mūsā, whom Mu'āwiyah sent, was another Ṣaḥābī who could have offered a solution if he had any! This incident effectively buries the remains of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's claims.

But, there is more! The second rebel leader who also waged a bloody campaign against 'Alī was Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah. Imām Aḥmad records another interesting narration:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا عبد الرزاق أخبرنا سفيان عن عمرو بن قيس عن الحكم عن القاسم بن مخيمرة عن شريح بن هانئ قال: أتيت عائشة رضي الله عنها أسألها عن الحفين فقالت عليك بابن أبي طالب فاسأله فإنه كان يسافر مع رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فأتيته فسألته

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – 'Abd al-Razzāq – Sufyān – 'Amr b. Qays – al-Ḥakam – al-Qāsim b. Makhīrah – Shurayḥ b. Hānī:

I went to 'Āishah, may Allāh be pleased with her, and asked her about the two khuffs. So, she said, "You MUST go to Ibn Abi Ṭālib and ask him, because he used to go on journeys with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him." So, I went to him and asked him.<sup>244</sup>

Al-Arnāūt says:

Imām Abū Ya'lā (d. 307 H) further documents:

Abū Khaythamah – Abū Mu'āwiyah – Al-A'mash – al-Ḥakam – al-Qāsim b. Makhīrah – Shurayḥ b. Hānī:

I asked 'Āishah concerning wiping over the two khuffs. So, she said, "Go to 'Alī and ask him, because he is more knowledgeable of that than me." So, I went to 'Alī and asked him about the wiping.<sup>246</sup>

Shaykh Dr. Asad comments:

One crucial point here is that Shurayḥ b. Hānī was a Ṣaḥābī too. Al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) states:

Do we really have to make any further comments at this point? Perhaps, we should just close things with these words of Imām Ibn al-Athīr (d. 630 H):

وروى يزيد بن هارون عن قطر عن أبي الطفيل قال قال بعض أصحاب النبي لقد كان لعلي من السوابق ما لو أن سابقة منها بين الخلائق لوسعتهم خيرا وله في هذا أخبار كثيرة نقتصر على هذا منها ولو ذكرنا ما سأله الصحابة مثل عمر وغيره رضي الله عنهم لأطلنا

Yazīd b. Hārūn narrated from Faṭr from Abū al-Ṭufayl who said, "Some of the Ṣaḥābah of the Prophet said: 'There are certain unmatched qualities and ranks of 'Alī that if any of them had been distributed among all creation, it would bring good to all of them'. There are LOTS of reports in this regard in his favour. We are only mentioning a few. ## 18 ḤADĪTH AL-ʿILM

ESTABLISHING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) claims:

و الجواب أن اهل السنة يمنعون ذلك و يقولون ما اتفق عليه علماؤهم أن اعلم الناس بعد رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم أبو بكر ثم عمر و قد ذكر غير واحد الإجاع على أن أبا بكر اعلم الصحابة كلهم

The Rāfiḍī said: "The third (point) is that he ('Alī) is the most knowledgeable of mankind after the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him."

The answer is that the Ahl al-Sunnah reject that and say what their scholars unanimously agree upon that the most knowledgeable of mankind after the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, was Abū Bakr, then 'Umar. Several people have mentioned the consensus upon the fact that Abū Bakr was the most knowledgeable of all the Ṣaḥābah altogether.<sup>250</sup>

It is one thing to make a claim. It is another for it to be valid. In exactly what way was Abū Bakr, for instance, more knowledgeable than Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām? 'Alī is the best judge of this entire Ummah – a far better judge than either Abū Bakr or 'Umar. Justice dispensation, of course, requires very advanced knowledge of the Qur'an and Sunnah. Since Amīr al-Mūminīn was a better judge than both Abū Bakr and 'Umar, he definitely had better knowledge of the Book of Allāh and the traditions of His Messenger, sallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, than the duo. Moreover, while 'Alī had perfect knowledge of the Qur'an and Sunnah, as well as that of all previous Scriptures and Sunnahs, and issued public challenges to this effect, neither Abū Bakr nor 'Umar even knew the meaning of "herbage" in the Book of Allāh! 'Umar, in particular, lacked knowledge of such topics in Islāmic jurisprudence as tayammum, kalālah, ribā, inheritance of the grandfather, and whether pregnancy could be only for six months or not! Yet, he was supposedly more knowledgeable than 'Alī according to the weird logic of some folks.

Our dear Shaykh has cited a general Sunnī clerical consensus about Abū Bakr's scientific superiority over the Ummah. The key question, however, is whether the Messenger of Allāh was part of this consensus. If he was not, then such an agreement lacks any merit. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records the Prophet's opinion on the matter:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا أبو أحمد ثنا خالد يعني بن طهان عن نافع بن أبي نافع عن معقل بن يسار قال: وضأت النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم ذات يوم فقال هل لك في فاطمة رضي الله عنها تعودها فقلت نعم فقام متوكئا على فقال أما انه سيحمل ثقلها غيرك ويكون أجرها لك قال فكأنه لم يكن على شيء حتى دخلنا على فاطمة عليها السلام فقال لها كيف تجدينك قالت والله لقد اشتد حزني واشتدت فاقتي وطال سقمي قال أبو عبد الرحمن وجدت في كتاب أبي بخط يده في هذا الحديث قال أو ما ترضين أني زوجتك أقدم أمتي سلما وا كثرهم علما وأعظمهم حلما

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) - Abū Aḥmad – Khālid b. Ṭahmān – Nāfi' b. Abī Nāfi' – Ma'qil b. Yasār:

I was with the Prophet, peace be upon him, one day. Then he said, "Would you like to visit Fāṭimah, may Allāh be pleased with her?" I said, "Yes." So, he stood up, leaning on me, and said, "But, someone else apart from you will soon bear its weight and its reward will be for you." It was as though I was carrying nothing until we entered upon Fāṭimah, peace be upon her. He (the Prophet) said to her, "How do you feel?" She answered, "By Allāh, my grief has intensified, my want has worsened and my sickness has lasted long." He said, "Are you not satisfied that I have married you to the one who was the first of my Ummah to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them?"<sup>251</sup>

Imām al-Haythamī (d. 807 H) states about this report:

Aḥmad and al-Ṭabarānī recorded it with narrators who have (all) been graded thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>252</sup>

At another place, al-Haythamī again comments on the same hadīth with the same chain:

Aḥmad and al-Ṭabarānī narrated it. In the chain is Khālid b. Ṭahmān. Abū Ḥātim and others declared him thiqah (trustworthy). The remaining narrators are (all) thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>253</sup>

But Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ disagrees:

إسناده ضعيف

Its chain is da'īf.254

Strangely, al-Arnāūt gives no reason for his verdict, especially in the case of such a sensitive ḥadūth! Meanwhile 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) seems to have noticed this omission. In his al-Da'īfah, after quoting the exact report above, the 'Allāmah states:

أخرجه أحمد (5/ 26) ، ومن طريقه ابن عساكر (12/ 89/ 1) .

قلت: وهذا إسناد ضعيف؛ رجاله ثقات؛ غير خالد بن طهان بفضعفه الا <sup>1</sup>كثرون. وقال ابن معين: "ضعيف خلط قبل موته بعشر سنين، وكان قبل ذلك ثقة".

Aḥmad (5/26) recorded it, and from his route Ibn Asākir (12/89/1).

I say: This chain is da'īf. Its narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), except Khālid b. Ṭahmān for the majority declared him da'īf. Ib Ma'īn said, "He is da'īf. He became confused ten years before his death. But, before that he was thiqah (trustworthy)."<sup>255</sup>

So, both Imām al-Haythamī and 'Allāmah al-Albānī agree that all the narrators except Khālid were thiqah (trustworthy). However, while al-Haythamī maintains that even Khālid was graded unconditionally thiqah (trustworthy), al-Albānī argues that the majority actually considered him da'īf. In a rather weird move, 'Allāmah al-Albānī makes no attempt to, at least, list out the names of some of these "majority". The best that he has offered is only one name: Yaḥyā b. Ma'īn! Interestingly, the same 'Allāmah even goes ahead to refute himself elsewhere:

As for Abū al-'Alā al-Khafāf, his name is Khālid b. Ṭahmān, and he is ṣadūq (very truthful), although he became confused.<sup>256</sup>

This is the correct view, according to al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) as well:

خالد بن طهان الكوفي وهو خالد بن أبي خالد وهو أبو العلاء الخفاف مشهور بكنيته صدوق رمي بالتشيع ثم اختلط

Khālid b. Tahmān al-Kūfī, and he is Khālid b. Abī Khālid, and he is Abū al-'Alā al-Khafāf, well-known with his kunya (nickname): Şadūq (very truthful), accused of Shī'ism. He later became confused.<sup>257</sup>

Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) has the same opinion:

Khālid b. Ṭahmān Abū al-ʿAlā al-Kūfī, al-Khafāf, he narrated from Anas and a number (of others) while al-Faryābī and Aḥmad b. Yūnus (also) narrated from him: Ṣadūq (very truthful), a Shī'ī. Ibn Ma'īn declared him ḍa'īf.<sup>258</sup>

Apparently, Khālid was thiqah (trustworthy) or at least ṣadūq (very truthful). However, ten years before his death, his memory faded. In line with the Sunnī ḥadīth principles, when a reliable narrator with a failed memory transmits a report, we first ask if the specific report under study was narrated by him before or during his illness. If there is clear evidence that he transmitted the ḥadīth during his days with a sound memory, then it is accepted from him unconditionally. However, in all other cases, a further question is asked. Was his memory failure a serious one or not? The answer to that, as we will prove shortly, determines the final step. Meanwhile, 'Allāmah al-Albānī here gives explanations on the case of a narrator with a serious memory failure:

I say: He is thiqah (trustworthy) despite his confusion. A confused narrator like him has three statuses:

- 1. To know that he narrated the hadīth before the confusion.
- 2. To know that he narrated the ḥadīth during the confusion.
- 3. Not knowing whether he narrated it before or after.

It is only in the first status that his aḥādīth are accepted as ḥujjah (authority), and not in the other two statuses.<sup>259</sup>

The first question then is: did Khālid narrate Ḥadīth al-Ilm to Abū Aḥmad before his confusion or otherwise?

There is a difference of opinion on this. For instance, Imām al-Ghazālī (d. 505 H) states:

ولأحمد والطبراني من حديث معقل بن يسار وضأت النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم ذات يوم فقال هل لك في فاطمة تعودها الحديث وفيه أما ترضين أن زوجتك أقدم أمتي سلما وا كثرهم علما وأعظمهم حلما وإسناده صحيح

Aḥmad and al-Ṭabarānī narrated from the <code>hadīth</code> of Ma'qil b. Yasār: "I helped the Prophet, peace be upon him, to perform ablution one day. Then he said, 'Would you like to visit Fāṭimah?'" Part of the <code>hadīth</code> is this: "'Are you not satisfied that I have married you to the one who was the first of my Ummah to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them?"' Its chain is <code>sahīh</code>.<sup>260</sup>

He apparently believes that Abū Aḥmad heard the ḥadūth from Khālid before the latter's confusion. Meanwhile, 'Allāmah al-Albānī and Shaykh al-Arnāūt disagree. To them, he transmitted the report during the last ten years of his life. For the purpose of our research, we stick with the duo. Therefore, we will proceed in our investigation on the basis of an unproved assumption that Khālid narrated Ḥadūth al-Tlm with a failed memory.

The next question then is: did Khālid have a serious memory problem? Imām Ibn Ḥibbān says "no":

Khālid b. Tahmān.... He made mistakes and hallucinated.<sup>261</sup>

That expression is used only in mild cases. Where the memory failure is serious, the muḥadithūn of the Ahl al-Sunnah employ terms like "he made mistakes a lot" <sup>262</sup> and "he hallucinated a lot" <sup>263</sup>. Khālid did NOT make mistakes a lot, and never hallucinated a lot. Truly, his memory failure caused him to make mistakes, and to hallucinate. But, things were never serious. His mistakes and hallucinations were only occasional. Therefore, he still transmitted completely authentic aḥādūth during those last ten years of his lifetime. So, 'Allāmah al-Albānī tells us about another narrator who was exactly like Khālid:

والجريري- واسمه سعيد بن إياس- محتج به في "الصحيحين "؛ وإن كان اختلط قبل موته بثلاث سنين، ولكن لم يفحش اختلاطه، وكأنه لهذا احتج به ابن حبان في "صحيحه" تبعًا لـ "الصحيحين" وا عنه، فمثله ينبغي أن يحتج به ما لم يظهر خطؤه، فإذا توبع أو كان له شواهد-كما هو الشأن في حديثه هذا-؛ فلا يضر غرابته فيه إن شاء الله تعالى.

Al-Jurayrī – and his name is Sa'īd b. Iyās – IS RELIED UPON AS A ḤUJJAH IN THE TWO ṢAḤĪḤS, despite he became confused three years before his death. HOWEVER, HIS CONFUSION WAS NOT SERIOUS. Perhaps, it was for this reason that Ibn Ḥibbān has (also) relied upon him as a ḥujjah in his Ṣaḥīḥ, copying the two Ṣaḥīḥs, and has narrated a lot from him. In the case of a narrator like him, it is appropriate to take him as a ḥujjah where his mistake is not evident. So, where he is supported by another narrator in narrating the same report from the same person, or there are corroborating reports – as in the case of this ḥadīth

- then his oddness does no harm to it inshā Allāh Ta'lā.<sup>264</sup>

Armed with this information, one can confidently say that Ḥadīth al-Ilm, as narrated by Khālid – even without support or corroboration – is at least ḥasan in itself. Imām al-Tirmidhī<sup>265</sup> and Shaykh Dr. Asad<sup>266</sup> also grade the chain of Khālid b. Ṭahmān as ḥasan, while Imām al-Ḥākim maintains that his sanad is actually solidly ṣaḥīḥ<sup>267</sup>. As such, the verdicts of both 'Allāmah al-Albānī and Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ concerning Ḥadīth al-Ilm are hasty and contrary to evidence. What is more? There also are a lot of corroborating reports testifying for the ḥadīth!

عن علي قال : خطب أبو بكر وعمر فاطمة إلى رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فأبى رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم عليها فقال عمر : أنت لها يا علي قال : مالي من شيء إلا درعي وجملي وسيفي فتعرض علي ذات يوم لرسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فقال : يا علي هل لك من شيء ؟ قال : جملي ودرعي أرهنها فزوجني رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فاطمة فلما بلغ فاطمة ذلك بكت فدخل عليها رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فقال : ما لك تبكين يا فاطمة والله أنكحتك اكثرهم علما وأفضلهم حلما وأقدمهم سلما وفي لفظ : أولهم سلما

armour, my camel and my sword?" So, 'Alī approached the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, one day and he (the Prophet) said, "O 'Alī! Do you have anything?" He replied, "My camel and my armour." I mortgaged both of them. So, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, married Fāṭimah to me. When the news got to Fāṭimah, she wept. As a result, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, went to her and said, "Why are you weeping, O Fāṭimah? I swear by Allāh, I have married you to the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them, and the first of them to accept Islām."<sup>268</sup>

Al-Hindī comments:

Ibn Jarīr (al-Ṭabarī) recorded it AND DECLARED IT ṢAḤĪḤ. Al-Dawlābī also recorded it in al-Dhurriyah al-Ṭāhirah.<sup>269</sup>

Imām al-Ṭabarānī (d. 360 H) records another:

حدثنا إسحاق بن إبراهيم الدبري عن عبد الرزاق عن وكيع بن الجراح قال أخبرني شريك عن أبي إسحاق: أن عليا رضي الله عنه لما تزوج فاطمة رضي الله عنها قالت للنبي صلى الله عليه و سلم : زوجتنيه أعيمش عظيم البطن فقال النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم :لقد زوجتكه وإنه لأول وإنه لأول أصحابي سلما وا كثرهم علما وأعظمهم حلما

19 ḤADĪTH AL-'ILM

PROVING ITS TAWATTUR

This hadāth has been narrated by a large number of the Ṣaḥābah. We will be presenting some of them, within the limits of the length of our book. To save space, we will be quoting only the chains and the words of the Prophet as reported by each Ṣaḥābī, except where doing this is unnecessary. Imām Ibn Asākir (d. 571 H) records the first riwāyah:

أخبرنا أبو القاسم بن السمرقندي أنا عاصم بن الحسن بن محمد بن عاصم أنا أبو عمر بن محمدي أنا أبو العباس بن عقدة نا الفضل بن يوسف الجعفي نا محمد بن عكاشة نا أبو المغراء وهو حميد بن المثنى عن يحيى بن طلحة النهدي عن أيوب بن الحز عن أبي إسحاق السبيعي عن الحارث عن على قال:

Verily, Fāṭimah complained to the Messenger of Allāh. So he said, "Are you not pleased that your husband was the first of my Ummah to accept Islām, and the most clement of them, and the most knowledgeable of them"?<sup>272</sup>

He records also:

أخبرنا أبو القاسم عبد الصمد بن محمد بن عبد الله أنا أبو الحسن علي بن محمد بن أحمد بن محمد بن محمد بن محمد بن محمد بن محمد بن محمد بن يعيور عن وأحمد بن موسى بن إسحاق قالا نا ضرار بن صرد نا عبد الكريم بن يعفور عن جابر عن أبي الضحى عن مسروق عن عائشة قالت حدثتني فاطمة ابنة محمد أن النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم قال لها زوجتك أعلم المؤمنين علما وأقدمهم سلما وأفضلهم حلما

Ibn Asākir proceeds to cite a further sanad for the report of 'Āishah from Fātimah.<sup>274</sup> Then he records:

أخبرنا أبو غالب بن البنا أنا أبو محمد الجوهري أنا أبو محمد عبد العزيز بن الحسن بن علي بن أبي صابر نا أبو حبيب العباس بن أحمد بن محمد البرتي نا إسماعيل يعني ابن موسى نا تليد بن سليمان أبو إدريس عن أبي الجحاف عن رجل عن أساء بنت عميس قالت قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم لفاطمة زوجتك أقدمهم سلما وأعظمهم حلموا كثرهم علما

Of course, Imām Aḥmad documents his own report with a hasan chain:

Imām Ibn Asākir again records:

Buraydah – his father (Buraydah):

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said... "O Fāṭimah! Are you not pleased that your husband was the first of them to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them?"<sup>277</sup>

Imām al-Ṭabarānī (d. 360 H) has a relevant report too:

Muḥammad b. 'Uthmān b. Abī Shaybah – Muḥammad b. 'Ubayd al-Muḥāribī – 'Abd al-Karīm b. Ya'qūb – Jābir – Abū al-Ṭufayl - 'Āishah:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, complained in my room. So, Fāṭimah came to him, walking. I swear by the One in Whose Hand is 'Āishah's life, her style of walking was the same as that of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. Therefore, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, told her something privately. She therefore wept. Then he told her another thing privately, and she laughed. So, I said, "I do not think it is appropriate to laugh on a day like this, which is more deserving of weeping." I said, "O Fāṭimah, tell me what he told you." She replied, "I will not as long as the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, sees your place (i.e. is alive)." Therefore, when the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, passed away, I asked her, and she said, "The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said: 'Verily, Jibrīl used to present the Qur'ān to me once every year, but has presented it twice to me this year. I do not see except that I have been called (into the Presence of Allāh) and I will answer (i.e. die soon). Therefore, fear Allāh.' So, I became sad. Then he told me privately and said, 'Are you not pleased that your husband was the first of all Muslims to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them? For verily you are the mistress of the women of my Ummah, as Maryam was the mistress of the women of her people?" 278

فقال: يرويه أبو إسحاق السبيعي، واختلف عنه؛ فرواه عمر بن المثنى، سئل الشيخ عنه، فقال: لا أعرفه إلا في هذا عن أبي إسحاق، عن البراء .وخالفه إسحاق بن إبراهيم الأزدي، شيخ كوفي من الشيعة؛ فرواه عن أبي إسحاق، عن زيد بن أرقم.

He was asked about the ḥadīth of Abū Isḥāq, from al-Barā, from Fāṭimah, daughter of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him:

When 'Alī married her, she said (to her father), "You have married me to someone with excited legs, and a big belly." So, he (the Prophet) replied, "Verily, he was the first of them to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them."

He (al-Dāraquṭnī) said: "Abū Isḥāq al-Sabī'ī narrated it, and it is differently narrated from him. So, 'Umar b. Al-Muthannā narrated it." The Shaykh (al-Dāraquṭnī) was asked about him, and he replied, "I do not know him except in this (ḥadīth) from Abū Isḥāq, from al-Barā. But Isḥāq b. Ibrāhīm al-Azdī, a Kūfan Shī'ī Shaykh, narrated differently from him and narrated it from Abū Isḥāq from Zayd b.

Argam.<sup>279</sup>

Let's see what 'Allāmah al-Khawārazmī (d. 568 H) has on the matter as well:

وأخبرني شهردار هذا إجازة، أخبرنا عبدوس هذا كتابة، حدثنا أبو طالب، حدثنا ابن مردويه، حدثنا أحمد بن محمد بن عاصم، حدثنا عمران بن عبد الرحيم، حدثنا أبو الصلت الهروي، حدثنا حسين بن حسن الأشقر، حدثنا قيس، عن الأعمش، عن عباية بن ربعي، عن أبي أيوب :ان النبي صلى الله عليه وآله مرض مرضة فأتته فاطمة تعوده فلما رأت ما برسول الله صلى الله عليه وآله من الجهد والضعف استعبرت فبكت حتى سالت الدموع على خديها، فقال لها رسول الله صلى الله عليه وآله بن أقدمهم سلما "عليه وآله :يا فاطمة ان لكرامة الله عز وجل إياك زوجك من أقدمهم سلما "وأكثرهم علما"

The Prophet, peace be upon him and his family, was sick. So, Fāṭimah visited him. When she saw how the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him and his family, was, in terms of struggle and weakness, she shed tears and wept till there were tears on her cheeks. Therefore, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him and his family, said, "O Fāṭimah! It is through Allāh's Honour of you that your husband was the first of them to accept Islām, and the most knowledgeable of them, and the most clement of them."<sup>280</sup>

Imām al-Jāḥiz (d. 255 H) even has some further crucial information:

وروى عبيد الله بن موسى والفضل بن دكين والحسن بن عطية قالوا :حدثنا خالد بن طهان عن نافع بن أبي نافع عن معقل بن يسار قال .... فقال لها :أما ترضين أنى زوجتك أقدم أمتي سلما وا كثرهم علما، وأفضلهم حلما ؟ قالت :بلى، رضيت يا رسول الله.

SOME FURTHER SHAWĀHID

Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records:

فحدثنا بشرح هذا الحديث الشيخ أبو بكر بن إسحاق أنا الحسن بن علي بن زياد السري ثنا حامد بن يحيى البلخي بمكة ثنا سفيان عن إسهاعيل بن أبي خالد عن قيس بن أبي حازم قال كنت بالمدينة فبينا أنا أطوف في السوق إذ بلغت أحجار الزيت فرأيت قوما مجتمعين على فارس قد ركب دابة وهو يشتم علي بن أبي طالب والناس وقوف حواليه إذ أقبل سعد بن أبي وقاص فوقف عليه فقال : ما هذا ؟ فقالو : رجل يشتم علي بن أبي طالب فتقدم سعد فأفرجوا له حتى وقف عليه فقال : يا هذا على ما تشتم علي بن أبي طالب ألم يكن أول من أسلم ألم يكن أول من صلى مع رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ألم يكن ازهد الناس ألم يكن أعلم من صلى مع رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم ألم يكن ازهد الناس ألم يكن أعلم ألم يكن صاحب راية رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم في غزواته ؟ ثم استقبل القبلة ورفع يديه وقال : اللهم إن هذا يشتم وليا من أوليائك فلا تفرق هذا الجمع حتى تريهم قدرتك قال قيس : فو الله ما تفرقنا حتى ساخت به دابته فرمته على همته في تلك الأحجار فانفلق دماغه ومات

I was in Madīnah. While I was moving around in the market, oil stones arrived. So, I saw some people crowding around a Persian man who was riding an animal and cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib. People stood round him when Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāş turned and stood in front of them and he asked, "What is this?" They replied, "A man cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib." So, Sa'd moved forward and they made way for him until he stood before him and said, "O you! On what basis do you curse 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib? Is he not the first to accept Islām? Is he not the first to perform Şalāt with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him? Is he not the most ascetic of mankind? Is he not the most knowledgeable of mankind?" He mentioned (the merits of 'Alī) until he said, "Is he not the son-in-law of the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, who married his daughter? Is he not the flagbearer of the Messenger of Allāh in his battles?" Then he faced the Qiblah and raised his hand and said, "O Allāh! This one curses one of your beloved friends. Therefore, do not let this crowd disperse before you show them Your Power."

Qays said: "By Allāh, we had not dispersed when the animal capsized him and threw him on his head into those stones. So, his brain broke open and he died."<sup>285</sup>

Al-Hākim declares:

This hadīth has a şaḥīḥ chain.<sup>286</sup>

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) confirms:

(Ṣaḥiḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim<sup>287</sup>

Of course, the context of Sa'd's words is clear. After the Messenger of Allāh, şallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, 'alaihi alsalām, is the most knowledgeable of all mankind, from the beginning of existence till the Hour. That naturally includes both Abū Bakr and 'Umar. This is a very powerful testimony from one of the most senior Ṣaḥābah, and one of the earliest Muslims. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) claims the ijmā' of Sunnī 'ulamā that Abū Bakr and 'Umar were more knowledgeable than 'Alī. Apparently, Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāṣ, radiyallāhu 'anhu, was not part of that consensus, nor was the Messenger of Allāh!

Imām Ḥasan b. 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, is the best of the Ahl al-Bayt, 'alaihim al-salām, after the Prophet and Amīr al-Mūminīn. Imām Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal (d. 241 H) records his opinion too:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا وكيع عن إسرائيل عن أبي إسحاق عن عمرو بن حبشي قال خطبنا الحسن بن علي بعد قتل علي رضي الله عنها فقال: لقد فارقكم رجل بالأمس ما سبقه الأولون بعلم ولا أدركه الآخرون

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Wakī' – Isrāīl – Abū Isḥāq – 'Amr b. Ḥabashī:

Al-Ḥasan b. 'Alī delievered a sermon to us after the killing of 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, and said: "Verily, a man has left you yesterday. The anwalūn (people of old)<sup>288</sup> never surpassed him in knowledge, and the ākhirūn (later ones)<sup>289</sup> never reach his level (in knowledge).<sup>290</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ says:

حسن

&lt;sup>289</sup> The term is a reference to all human generations since the start of our Ummah till the Qiyāmah. See, among others, Qur'ān 56:14. This is especially the case since it is used in contrast to anwalūn. It therefore refers to all humans who are later in time than the anwalūn, and that only refers to humanity since Muḥammad.

This confirms the words of Sa'd. None among those who had died among the Ṣaḥābah – including Abū Bakr and 'Umar – ever reached the level of Amīr al-Mūminīn in knowledge. In fact, none among all past human generations from Ādam was ever more knowledgeable than 'Alī. Moreover, apart from Muḥammad himself<sup>292</sup>, no other human being in our Ummah has ever attained, and none will ever reach, 'Alī's level in knowledge till the Day of Resurrection. Apparently, al-Ḥasan too was not part of the so-called consensus of Sunnī 'ulamā!

Let us seal this with the words of a top-ranking Sunnī scholar. His name was 'Aṭā. Imām al-Dhahabī proclaims about him:

'Aṭā b. Abī Rabāḥ, the master of the Tābi'īn in knowledge, piety, and generosity during his era in Makkah. He narrated from 'Āishah, Abū Hurayrah and the senior (Ṣaḥābah). He lived 90 years or a little over. He was an hujjah (authority), an Imām of great significance. Abū Ḥanīfah learned from him, and said, "I have never seen anyone like him". 293

Al-Hāfiz also submits:

عطاء بن أبي رباح .... نزيل مكة واحد الفقهاء والأئمة

'Aṭā b. Abī Rabāḥ.... He lived in Makkah. He was one of the jurists intended to say "the people of Madīnah apart from the Messenger of Allāh" but dropped the last part because it was patently unnecessary.

&lt;sup>292</sup> Generalized statements like that of Imām al-Ḥasan were always made against the backdrop of an implied understanding that the Messenger of Allāh was excluded. We already quoted in this book a ṣaḥiḥ ḥadīth with this wording: "We used to say that the best judge among the people of Madīnah was 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, may Allāh be pleased". Of course, Prophet Muḥammad too was living in Madīnah at those same times! However, this speaker

and Imāms.294

So, was this great Imām part of the alleged "consensus"? Imām Ibn Abī Shaybah (d. 235 H) records:

'Abdah b. Sulaymān – 'Abd al-Malik b. Abī Sulaymān:

I said to 'Aṭā: "Was there ANYONE among the Ṣaḥābah of the Messenger of Allāh who was more knowledgeable than 'Alī?" He replied, "I swear by Allāh, I do NOT know any such person!"<sup>295</sup>

Al-Hāfiz (d. 852 H) states about the first narrator:

'Abdah b. Sulaymān al-Kalābī, Abū Muḥammad al-Kūfī, it is said that his name was 'Abd al-Raḥman: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate).<sup>296</sup>

Concerning the second narrator, he says:

'Abd al-Malik b. Abī Sulaymān Maysarah al-'Arzamī: Şadūq (very truthful), he had hallucinations.<sup>297</sup>

21 ḤADĪTH AL-ISTISLĀM

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) admits that Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, was the first human being ever to accept Islām from the Messenger of Allāh, şallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi:

Then, in it (i.e. the report) is the statement "Alī performed Ṣalāt six months before anyone else", this (statement) is one which is known to be necessarily fallacious, because between his ('Alī's) acceptance of Islām and the acceptance of Islām by Zayd, Abū Bakr and Khadījah was only a distance of one day or a period like that. So, how did he perform Ṣalāt six months before anyone else?<sup>298</sup>

So, 'Alī accepted Islām one whole day before Khadījah, Zayd and Abū Bakr. But then, our dear Shaykh has a surprise package for us:

The claim that 'Alī was the first to perform Ṣalāt with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, is impossible. Rather, the majority of the people hold a contrary view, and believe that Abū Bakr perform Ṣalāt before him (i.e. 'Alī).<sup>299</sup>

One wonders. Since Amīr al-Mūminīn accepted Islām before Abū Bakr, how come the latter offered Ṣalāt before him? Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah attempts to solve the puzzle:

The people disagreed about who accepted Islām first. It is said that Abū Bakr was the first to accept Islām, and therefore accepted Islām before 'Alī. It is (also) said that 'Alī accepted Islām before him. However, 'Alī was a child, and the acceptance of Islām by a child, there is disagreement over it (i.e. its validity) among the 'ulamā. Meanwhile, there is no disagreement about the fact that the acceptance of Islām by Abū Bakr was more perfect and more beneficial (than that of 'Alī).<sup>300</sup>

He adds:

والصبي المولود بين أبوين كافرين يجري عليه حكم الكفر في الدنيا باتفاق المسلمين وإذا أسلم قبل البلوغ على قولين للعلماء وإذا أسلم قبل البلوغ على قولين للعلماء بخلاف البالغ فإنه يصير مسلما باتفاق المسلمين فكان إسلام الثلاثة مخرجا لهم من الكفر باتفاق المسلمين وأما إسلام على فهل يكون مخرجا له من الكفر على قولين مشهورين ومذهب الشافعي أن إسلام الصبي غير مخرج له من الكفر

A child born to two pagan parents is considered a pagan in this world by the consensus of Muslims. If he accepts Islām before maturity, is he considered a Muslim before he reaches maturity? There are two opinions among the 'ulamā, as opposed to the situation of a matured person (who accepts Islām) because he (the matured person) is considered a Muslim by the consensus of Muslims. So, the acceptance of Islām by the three (i.e. Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān) took them out of paganism by the consensus of Muslims. However, the acceptance of Islām by 'Alī, did it take him out of paganism? There are two well-known opinions. The opinion of (Imām) al-Shāfi'ī was that the acceptance of Islām by a child does not take him out of paganism.<sup>301</sup>

Our Shaykh has not explicitly endorsed either of the two opinions. Nonetheless, we will proceed with the assumption that Imām al-Shāfi'ī was correct.

The first question here is: was 'Alī really a "child" when he accepted Islām? Imām Ibn 'Abd al-Barr (d. 463 H) answers:

قال أبو عمر قيل أسلم على وهو ابن ثلاث عشرة سنة وقيل ابن اثنتي عشرة سنة وقيل ابن خمس عشرة وقيل ابن ست عشرة وقيل ابن عشر وقيل ابن ثمان....

وذكر أبو زيد عمر بن شبة قال حدثنا سريج بن النعان قال حدثنا الفرات بن السائب عن ميمون بن محران عن ابن عمر رضي الله عنها قال أسلم علي بن أبي طالب وهو ابن ثلاث وستين سنة قال أبو عمر رحمه الله هذا أصح ما قيل في ذلك

Abū 'Umar said, "It is said that 'Alī accepted Islām when he was thirteen years old. It is said that he was twelve years old. It is said that he was sixteen years old. It is said that he was eight years old. It is said that he was eight years old....

Abū Zayd 'Umar b. Shaybah mentioned that – Surayj b. al-Nu'mān – al-Furāt b. al-Sāib – Maymūn b. Mahrān – Ibn 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with them both: "Alī b. Abī Ṭālib accepted Islām while he was THIRTEEN YEARS OLD and died when he was sixtythree years old". Abū 'Umar, may Allāh be merciful to him, said: "This is the most correct opinion on the matter". 302

Therefore, 'Alī was thirteen years old when he accepted Islām at the hands of the Messenger of Allāh. But, was he a matured person then, or was he still a child? Let us get the testimony of an eye-witness. Imām al-Haythamī (d. 807 H) records:

Narrated Abū Rāfi':

The first to accept Islām among the male adults was 'Alī and the first to accept Islām from the female adults was Khadījah.<sup>303</sup>

Al-Haythamī comments:

Al-Bazzār recorded it and its narrators are narrators of the Sahāh304

So, Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī was an "adult" when he accepted Islām. Therefore, his Islām was – in terms of quality - as "perfect" as that of Abū Bakr and the other khalīfahs. Moreover, 'Alī accepted Islām about twenty hours or more before Zayd, Abū Bakr and Khadījah, according to the admission of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah. Therefore, he enjoyed precedence in his "perfect" Islām over all others. This is further confirmed by this ḥadīth documented by Imām al-Ṭabarānī (d. 360 H):

حدثنا الحسن بن عبد الأعلى النرسي الصنعاني، حدثنا عبد الرزاق، حدثنا سفيان الثوري، عن سلمة بن كهيل، عن أبي صادق، عن عليم الكندي، عن سلمان الفارسي رضي الله عنه قال :أول هذه الأمة ورودا على نبيها، أولها إسلاما، على بن أبي طالب

"The first of this Ummah to meet its Prophet (on the Day of Resurrection) will be the first of them to accept Islām, 'Alī b. Abī Tālib." 305

Shaykh al-Ḥājī comments:

The chain: Al-Haythamī said, "Its narrators are thiqah (trustworthy)". Ḥamadī al-Salafī also said: "I say: Tbrāhīm and al-Ḥasan are among those narrators who transmitted from 'Abd al-Razzāq during his confusion."<sup>306</sup>

In simple words, the narrators are all trustworthy indeed. However, al-Hasan narrated from 'Abd al-Razzāq after the latter's memory failure and during the consequent confusion. However, the report of 'Abd al-Razzāq is corroborated by this report, recorded by Imām Ibn Abī Shaybah (d. 235 H):

Mu'āwiyah b. Hishām – Qays – Salamah b. Kuhayl – Abū Şādiq – 'Alīm – Salmān:

"The first of this Ummah to meet its Prophet (on the Day of Resurrection will be the first of them to accept Islām, 'Alī b. Abī Tālib." 307

We already know about the trustworthiness of Salamah, Abū Ṣādiq and 'Alīm al-Kindī. What about Mu'āwiyah and Qays? Al-Ḥāfiẓ (d. 852 H) states about Mu'āwiyah:

305 Abū al-Qāsim Sulaymān b. Aḥmad al-Ṭabarānī, Kitāb al-Awāil (Beirut: Muasassat al-Risālah; 3rd edition, 1408 H) [annotator: Muḥammad Shakūr b. Maḥmūd al-Ḥājī], p. 78, # 51 306 Ibid

العباس صدوق له أوهام

Mu'āwiyah b. Hishām al-Qaṣār, Abū al-Ḥasan al-Kūfī, freed slave of Banū Asad, he is also Mu'āwiyah b. Abī al-'Abbās: Ṣadūq (very truthful), he had hallucinations.<sup>308</sup>

Qays is almost like that too, according to al-Ḥāfiẓ:

Qays b. al-Rabī' al-Asadī, Abū Muḥamamd al-Kūfī: Ṣadūq (very truthful). His memory deteriorated when he became old, and his son told him things that were not part of his (original) aḥādīth, and he (Qays) narrated them as aḥādīth.<sup>309</sup>

Both were very truthful, but with varying memory problems. Nonetheless, their report is a very good shāhid for the riwāyah of 'Abd al-Razzāq. As a result, one can safely conclude that the athar of Salmān al-Fārisī above, narrated by 'Abd al-Razzāq, is ṣaḥiḥ bi shawāhidih. Therefore, Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib was the first human being, and the first male adult, to accept Islām.

Imām al-Tirmidhī (d. 279 H) records a ḥadīth that further corroborates this submission:

Muḥammad b. Bashār and Muḥammad b. al-Muthannā — Muḥammad b. Ja'far — Shu'bah b. 'Amr b. Marrah — Abū Ḥamza, who was a man from the Anṣār — Zayd b. Arqam:

Notably, along with Ibn 'Abbās and Abū Rāfi', those were nine Ṣaḥābah. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records about the tenth Ṣaḥābī —Sa'd b. Abī Waqqās:

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) confirms:

With the above, it can be confidently declared that the reports stating that 'Alī was the first ever to accept Islām are mutawātir, and therefore absolutely true and undisputable. Moreover, that fact is further corroborated by another mutawātir tradition of the Prophet – Ḥadīth al-Ilm – narrated by fourteen of the Sahābah!

Additional evidence that Amīr al-Mūminīn had become an "adult" before he recited the shahādah of Islām lies in the fact that the Prophet performed the congregational prayers with him. He would not do that with a child! The report of Sa'd b. Abī Waqqās is already cited above. Meanwhile, there is corroboration in this ḥadīth documented by Imām al-Tirmidhī:

Sahīh320

Imām Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal (d. 241 H) records a shāhid for the above report:

'Abd Allāh (b. Ahmad) – my father (Ahmad b. Hanbal) – Yazīd b. Hārūn – Shu'bah – 'Amr b. Marrah – Abū Ḥamzah – Zayd b Arqam:

"The first to perform Salāt with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, was 'Alī, may Allāh the Most High be pleased with him."321

Quite surprisingly, Shaykh al-Arnāūt states about it:

إسناده ضعيف

Its chain is  $da'if^{322}$

As usual, he has given no reason for the weird verdict. So, let us independently verify the strength of that sanad. Is the above report authentic? Or, is it really weak?

Al-Ḥāfiz says about the first narrator:

'Abd Allāh b. Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal al-Shaybānī, Abū 'Abd al-Raḥman: son of the Imām, thiqah (trustworthy).323

He further states about the second narrator:

أحمد بن محمد بن حنبل بن هلال بن أسد الشيباني المروزي نزيل بغداد أبو عبد الله أحد الأئمة ثقة حافظ فقمه حجة

Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal b. Hilāl b. Asad al-Shaybānī al-Marūzī, a Baghdād resident, Abū 'Abd Allāh: One of the Imāms, thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfīz (a ḥadīth scientist), jurist, ḥujjah (an authority).<sup>324</sup>

Concerning the third narrator, the verdict is the same, according to al-Ḥāfiẓ:

Yazīd b. Hārūn b. Zāzān al-Sulamī, their freed slave, Abū Khālid al-Wāsiṭī: Thiqah (trustworthy), extremely precise, a great worshipper of Allāh.<sup>325</sup>

The fourth narrator, Shu'bah, needs no introduction. Al-Ḥāfiz makes some ground-breaking pronouncements about him nonetheless:

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj b. al-Ward al-'Atkī, their freed slave, Abū Busṭām al-Wāsiṭī, al-Baṣrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), hāfiz (a ḥadīth scientist), extremely precise. Al-Thawrī used to say: "He was the amīr al-mūminīn (the supreme leader) in al-Ḥadīth."<sup>326</sup>

He has a very simple verdict about the fifth narrator as well:

'Amr b. Marrah b. 'Abd Allāh b. Ṭāriq al-Jamalī al-Murādī, Abū 'Abd Allāh al-Kūfī, the blind person: Thiqah (trustworthy), a great

worshipper of Allāh. He did NOT do tadlīs.327

The last narrator is like that too, as pronounced by al-Ḥāfiz:

Ṭalḥah b. Yazīd al-Aylī, the freed slave of the Anṣār, he lived in Kūfah: Al-Nasāī declared him thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>328</sup>

So, all the narrators are thiqah (trustworthy), and there is no evidence of disconnection in the chain. As such, the isnād is ṣaḥiḥ without a doubt! 'Allāmah al-Albānī also states about another ḥadīth with a very similar sanad:

أخرجه أبو داود ... من طريق شعبة عن عمرو بن مرة قال: سمعت أبا حمزة أنه سمع زيد بن أرقم قال.... قلت: وهذا سند صحيح رجاله رجال الشيخين غير أبي حمزة واسمه طلحة بن يزيد الأنصاري فمن رجال البخاري، ووثقه ابن حبان والنسائي.

Abū Dāwud recorded it ... through the route of Shu'bah - 'Amr b. Marrah - Abū Ḥamzah - Zayd b. Arqam.... I (al-Albānī) say: This chain is ṣaḥīḥ. Its narrators are narrators of the two Shaykhs apart from Abū Ḥamzah, and his name is Ṭalḥah b. Yazīd al-Anṣārī and he is from the narrators of al-Bukhārī. Ibn Ḥibbān and al-Nasāī declared him thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>329</sup>

In conclusion, the chain of Zayd b. Arqam's report that 'Alī was the first human being to perform Ṣalāt with the Prophet, recorded in Musnad Ahmad, is impeccably ṣahāh. All the narrators are trustworthy, and there is no disconnection in the chain whatsoever. As such, Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ's tad'īf of the sanad has no academic basis.

CORRECTING AN EXAGGERATION

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states about both Abū Bakr and 'Umar:

The People of Knowledge, concerning both of them, say that the most ascetic of mankind after the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him – in terms of legitimate ascetism – are Abū Bakr and 'Umar. This is because Abū Bakr earned some wealth and spent all of it in the Path of Allāh.<sup>330</sup>

He adds:

Ibn Ḥazm said: "Some people say that 'Alī was the most ascetic of them". He (Ibn Ḥazm) replied, "This ignorant one has lied."<sup>331</sup>

So, let us see the faces of some of these "ignorant liars". Im $\bar{a}$ m al-Ḥ $\bar{a}$ kim (d. 403 H) records:

Abū Bakr b. Isḥāq – al-Ḥasan b. 'Alī b. Ziyād al-Sirrī – Ḥāmid b. Yaḥyā al-Balakhī –Sufyān – Ismā'īl b. Abī Khālid – Qays b. Abī Ḥāzim:

I was in Madīnah. While I was moving around in the market, oil stones arrived. So, I saw some people crowding around a Persian man who was riding an animal and cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib. People stood round him when Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāṣ turned and stood in front of them and he asked, "What is this?" They replied, "A man cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib." So, Sa'd moved forward and they made way for him until he stood before him and said, "O you! On what basis do you curse 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib? Is he not the first to accept Islām? Is he not the first to perform Ṣalāt with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him? Is he not the most ascetic of mankind?"332

Al-Hākim declares:

هذا حديث صحيح الإسناد

This ḥadīth has a ṣaḥīḥ chain.<sup>333</sup>

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) confirms:

(Ṣaḥiḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim<sup>334</sup>

One would never have guessed correctly that the Ahl al-Sunnah consider Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāṣ, raḍiyallāhu 'anhu - one of the most senior Ṣaḥābah and one of the earliest converts to Islām - to be an ignorant liar! Wait a minute! How come the testimony of Sa'd - an eye-witness - was ignorant fallacy while that of Sunnī scholars, born centuries after him, is sound knowledge? Has the world really turned upside down?

Interestingly, another big Sunnī name features prominently on the list of "ignorant liars". Al-Ḥāfiz Ibn Kathīr (d. 774 H) copies this report:

وقال يحيى بن معين :عن علي بن الجعد عن الحسن بن صالح قال :تذاكروا الزهاد عمر بن عبد العزيز فقال قائلون :فلان، وقال قائلون :فلان، فقال عمر بن عبد العزيز :أزهد الناس في الدنيا على بن أبي طالب.

Yaḥyā b. Ma'īn – 'Alī b. al-Ja'd – al-Ḥasan b. Ṣāliḥ:

They mentioned ascetism in the presence of 'Umar b. 'Abd al-'Azīz. Some people said, "So-and-so (is the most ascetic)". Others said, "So-and-so (is the most ascetic)". So, 'Umar b. 'Abd al-'Azīz said, "The most ascetic of mankind - as far as this world (i.e. material possessions, power, and worldly pleasures) is concerned - is 'Alī b. Abī Tālib."<sup>335</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz says about the first narrator:

يحيى بن معين بن عون الغطفاني مولاهم أبو زكريا البغدادي ثقة حافظ مشهور إمام الجرح والتعديل

Yaḥyā b. Ma'īn b. 'Awn al-Ghaṭfānī, their freed slave, Abū Zakariyāh al-Baghdādī: Thiqah (trustworthy), a well-known ḥāfiẓ (ḥadīth scientist), Imām of al-jarḥ wa al-ta'dīl.336

Concerning the second narrator, he also states:

'Alī b. al-Ja'd b. 'Ubayd, Abū al-Ḥasan al-Jawharī al-Baghdādī: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate), he was accused of Shī'īsm.<sup>337</sup>

Lastly, he has this verdict on the third narrator:

Al-Ḥasan b. Ṣāliḥ b. Ḥayy, and he was Ḥayyān b. Shufay al-Hamdānī al-Thawrī: Thiqah (trustworthy), a jurist, a great worshipper of Allāh, he was accused of Shī'īsm.<sup>338</sup>

The sanad, therefore, is ṣaḥīḥ. All the narrators are trustworthy, and there is no disconnection among the narrators. So, 'Umar b. 'Abd al-'Azīz – the righteous khalīfah in the sight of most of the Ahl al-Sunnah – was actually an "ignorant liar" according to the view of Imām Ibn Ḥazm, endorsed by Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah!

It is fair, at this point, to compare the asceticism of either Abū Bakr or 'Umar with that of 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, for further verification. We prefer 'Umar for the research, since more materials are available on his lifetime and death than on his predecessor. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah claims that 'Umar was more ascetic than 'Alī. Let us test the submission against reality. We open the investigation with this athar from Ṣaḥāḥ al-Bukhārī.

حدثنا محمد بن سلام أخبرنا مخلد بن يزيد أخبرنا ابن جريج قال أخبرني عطاء عن عبيد الله بن عمير: أن أبا موسى الأشعري استأذن على عمر بن الخطاب رضي الله عنه فلم يؤذن له وكأنه كان مشغولا فرجع أبو موسى ففرغ عمر فقال ألم أسمع

Muḥammad b. Salām — Mukhlid b. Yazīd — Ibn Jurayḥ — 'Aṭā — 'Ubayd Allāh b. 'Umayr:

Abū Mūsā al-Ash'arī sought permission of 'Umar b. al-Khattaab, may Allāh be pleased with him, to enter his house. But, he ('Umar) did not give him permission. It was as though he ('Umar) was busy. So Abū Mūsā went back. When 'Umar finished his job, he asked, "Didn't I hear the voice of 'Abd Allāh b. Qays (i.e. the real name of Abū Mūsā)? Allow him to come in." It was said, "He (Abū Mūsā) has returned." So, he ('Umar) sent for him and (on his arrival), he (Abū Mūsā) said, "We were ordered to do so". 'Umar told him, "Bring witness in proof of that." Abū Mūsā went to the assembly of the Anṣār and asked them. They said, "None amongst us will testify to that except the youngest of us, Abū Sa'īd Al-Khudrī." Abū Mūsā then took Abū Sa'īd Al-Khudrī (to 'Umar) and 'Umar said "Has this order of the Messenger of Allāh been hidden from me? I used to be busy trading in markets."339

Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records another report with some more details:

حدثني عمرو بن محمد بن بكير الناقد حدثنا سفيان بن عيينة حدثنا والله يزيد بن حصيفة عن بسر بن سعيد قال سمعت أبا سعيد الحدري يقول كنت جالسا بالمدينة في مجلس الأنصار فأتانا أبو موسى فزعا أو مذعورا قلنا ما شأنك ؟ قال أن عمر أرسل إلي أن آتيه فأتيت بابه فسلمت ثلاثا فلم يرد علي فرجعت فقال ما منعك أن تأتينا ؟ فقلت إني أتيت فسلمت على بابك ثلاثا فلم يردوا علي فرجعت وقد قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم إذا استأذن أحدكم ثلاثا فلم يؤذن له فليرجع فقال عمر أقم عليه البينة والا أوجعتك فقال أبي بن كعب لا يقوم معه إلا

أصغر القوم قال أبو سعيد قلت أنا أصغر القوم قال فاذهب به

'Amr b. Muḥammad b. Bukayr al-Nāqid — Sufyān b. 'Uyaynah — Yazīd b. Ḥuṣayfah — Busr b. Sa'īd — Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī:

I was sitting in Madīnah in the assembly of the Anṣār when Abū Mūsā came to us trembling with fear. We said, "What is the problem with you?" He replied, "Umar sent for me. So, I went to his door, and said as-salām 'alaikum three times and he did not reply me. Therefore, I returned. On that, he said, "Why did you not come to us?" I said, "I came to you and said as-salām 'alaikum three times at your door but I was not given any response. So, I returned. The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, had said, 'When any of you seeks permission to enter three times, and he is not permitted, he must turn back". So, 'Umar said, "Bring evidence to support it. Otherwise, I will take you to task." Ubayy b. Ka'b said, "None shall stand with him (to testify) but the youngest of the people." Abū Sa'īd said, "I am the youngest". He (Ubayy) said, "Then go with him." 340

'Umar literally heard him saying as-salāmu 'alaikum three times, but did not respond. In line with the Sunnah, Abū Mūsā returned. Strangely, 'Umar proceeded to accuse him of NOT having come to his door at all despite his message! That certainly was a deliberately false accusation from the khalīfah of the believers! In any case, Abū Mūsā explained himself, and excused his action through the Sunnah of the Messenger, sallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. Quite weirdly, 'Umar had absolutely no clue about this Sunnah! From the narrations, it is clear that all the Anṣār knew of the Prophetic order. In what looks like a humiliation of the khalīfah, they randomly picked the youngest of them, to narrate it to him. But, what was 'Umar's excuse? He used "to be busy trading in markets". 'Umar was moving from market to market doing business in order to make money. Therefore, he did not have time to learn the Sunnah from the Messenger! As such, he was clueless about even some of the most basic Sunnahs.

Apparently, money had more priority over the Sunnah in the sight of 'Umar. What about 'Alī? Al-Hāfiz Ibn Kathīr states:

عن القاسم بن أبي بزَّة ، عن أبي الطُّقْيل ، سمع عليه ًا. وثبت أيضًا من غير وجه ، عن أمير المؤمنين علي بن أبي طالب : أنه صعد منبر الكوفة فقال : لا تسألوني عن آية في كتاب الله ، ولا عن سنة عن رسول الله ، إلا أنبأتكم بذلك.

Shu'bah b. al-Ḥajjāj, from Simāk, from Khālid b. 'Ar'arah that he heard 'Alī; and Shu'bah again narrated from al-Qāsim b. Abī Barrah from Abū al-Tufayl that he heard 'Alī; and IT IS ALSO AUTHENTICALLY TRANSMITTED through many chains that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib climbed the pulpit of Kūfah and said, "You will not ask me about ANY verse in the Book of Allāh, or about ANY Sunnah from the Messenger of Allāh, except that I will inform you about that."<sup>341</sup>

'Alī knew all the Sunnahs, without absolutely any exception. The only way he was able to achieve this was that he placed the supreme priority upon learning the Qur'ān and Sunnah from the Messenger of Allāh. In all honesty, it is extremely difficult, if not entirely impossible, to rationalize how our Ahl al-Sunnah brothers reach their conclusion that 'Umar was more ascetic or more knowledgeable than 'Alī!

As a final point, let us compare both 'Umar and 'Alī from another angle. Imām Ibn Shabah (d. 262 H) records:

Mūsā b. Ismā'īl – Salām b. Abī Muṭī' – Ayūb:

I said to Nāfi', "Did 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with him, have any debt?" So, he replied, "From where can 'Umar claim to have any debt when a man from his inheritors sold his inheritance for 100,000 (dinars)?" <sup>342</sup>

&lt;sup>342</sup> Abū Zayd 'Umar b. Shabah al-Numayrī al-Baṣrī, Tārīkh al-Madīnah al-Munanwarah (Beirut: Dār al-Kutub al-'Ilmiyyah; 1417 H) [annotators: 'Alī Muḥammad Dandal and Yāsīn Sa'd al-Dīn Bayān], vol. 2, p. 88, # 1603

Al-Ḥāfiz has this to say about the report:

فروى عمر بن شبة في كتاب المدينة بإسناد صحيح ان نافعا قال من أين يكون على عمر دين وقد باع رجل من ورثته ميراثه بمائة الف انتهى وهذا لا ينفي ان يكون عند موته عليه دين فقد يكون الشخص كثير المال ولا يستلزم نفي الدين عنه فلعل نافعا أنكر ان يكون دينه لم يقض

'Umar b. Shabah recorded in Kitāb al-Madīnah with a şaḥīḥ chain that Nāfi' said, "From where can 'Umar claim to have any debt when a man from his inheritors sold his inheritance for 100,000 (dinars)?". This does not negate the possibility that when he died he had a debt. The person can be very rich person. But, that does not necessarily mean that he does not have any debt. Perhaps, Nāfi' was denying the existence of any unpaid debt for him.<sup>343</sup>

The dinar was the default Arabian currency at that time. It was a gold coin. In modern terms, each classical dinar equals approximately US $193.00<sup>344</sup> (one hundred and ninety-three US dollars). So, each male son of 'Umar inherited from him net wealth worth at least US $19, 300000 (nineteen million and three hundred thousand US dollars). If he had any daughters, her inheritance would be half of that, which is US $9, 650000 (nine million and six hundred and fifty thousand US dollars). So, how many were 'Umar's children who survived him? Al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr states about 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb:

قلت : فجملة أولاده رضي الله عنه وأرضاه ثلاثة عشر ولدا، وهم زيدلا كبر، وزيد الأصغر، وعاصم، وعبد الله، وعبد الرحمن الأوسط، قال الزبير بن بكار وهو أبو شحمة، وعبد الرحمن الأصغر وعبيد الله، وعياض، وحفصة، ورقية، وزينب، وفاطمة، رضى الله عنهم.

I (Ibn Kathīr) say: In summary, his (i.e. 'Umar's) children, may Allāh be pleased with him, were thirteen, and they were Zayd al-Akbar, Zayd al-Asghar, 'Āṣim, 'Abd Allāh, 'Abd al-Raḥman al-Akbar, 'Abd al-Raḥman al-Awsaṭ - al-Zubayr b. Bakār said he was Abū Shahmah, 'Abd al-Raḥman al-Asghar, 'Ubayd Allāh, 'Iyād, Ḥafṣah,

Ruqayyah, Zaynab and Fātimah, may Allāh be pleased with them. 345

The second khalīfah had thirteen children. Only four of them were females. So, there were nine males. Of his children generally, one of them – Abū Shahmah – died during his lifetime. Ibn 'Abd al-Barr (d. 463 H) explains the circumstances of his death:

'Abd al-Raḥman b. 'Umar al-Awsaṭ was Abū Shahmah. He was the one who was beaten in Egypt by 'Amr b. al-Āṣ for alcohol drinking. Then, he took him to Madīnah, and his father (i.e. 'Umar) beat him as a parental correctional measure. Then he became sick and died after a month. 346

It looks like unintentional manslaughter by the angry khalisah. Whatever the case, eight males and four females inherited 'Umar among his children alone. We will completely ignore what his wives and some other people might also have inherited from the second khalisah. We will also not take into account any gifts from his vast wealth which he might have given to some people. We will equally take our eyes away from any debts he had, which was re-paid from his estate, before the remainder was distributed among his inheritors. Our focus, strictly, is upon what passed to his sons and daughters from him.

The monetary value of the inheritance of a male inheritor was US $19, 300000 (nineteen million and three hundred thousand US dollars). For all eight sons, the total would be US $ 154, 400000 (one hundred and fifty four million and four hundred thousand dollars). The share of each daughter was US $9, 650000 (nine million and six hundred and fifty thousand US dollars). For the four daughters, their total inheritance was worth US $38, 600000 (thirty-eight million and six hundred thousand US dollars). Adding US $ 154, 400000 to $38, 600000, we get US $193, 000000 (one hundred and ninety-three million US dollars). This was the wealth that the children of Umar b. al-Khattāb alone inherited from him.

How 'Umar acquired such vast wealth is unclear. Before he became the khalifah, he was only an average businessman, with no record of any spectacular success. Moreover, he was not an oil tycoon or weapons merchant, nor was he a Silicon Valley entrepreneur. Even his entire business empire, in modern terms, would be only a small-scale rural enterprise. Considering the extreme poverty levels back then, 'Umar's fortune of at least US $193, 000000 (one hundred and ninety-three million US dollars) placed him in the position of multibillionaires in our times. He was most likely the richest man on earth during his khilāfah.

So, what about Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī? Was he really worldlier than 'Umar, as claimed by Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah? Imām Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal (d. 241 H) records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا وكيع عن إسرائيل عن أبي إسحاق عن عمرو بن حبشي قال خطبنا الحسن بن علي بعد قتل علي رضي الله عنها فقال: لقد فارقكم رجل بالأمس ما سبقه الأولون بعلم ولا أدركه الآخرون ان كان رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم ليبعثه ويعطيه الراية فلا ينصرف حتى يفتح له وما ترك من صفراء ولا بيضاء الاسبعائة درهم من عطائه كان يرصدها لخادم لأهله

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Wakī' – Isrāīl – Abū Isḥāq – 'Amr b. Ḥabashī:

Al-Ḥasan b. 'Alī delievered a sermon to us after the killing of 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, and said: "Verily, a man has left you yesterday. The awwalūn (people of old) never surpassed him in knowledge, and the ākhirūn (later ones) never reach his level (in knowledge). Whever the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, appointed him and gave him the flag, he never returned until he is granted victory (by Allāh). He left behind no gold coin and no silver coin except 700 (seven hundred) dirhams from his salary. He set it aside to procure with it a servant for his family."<sup>347</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ says:

Hasan<sup>348</sup>

A dirham which was a silver coin, in modern terms, equals approximately US $3 (three US dollars)<sup>349</sup>. So, 'Alī's monetary wealth when he died was only US $2100 (two thousand and one hundred US dollars). Apart from his living quarters and his battle equipment (and possibly a few other minor items), there is no reliable record of him possessing and leaving behind anything else. Rather, the fact that he had to set aside seven hundred dirhams from his salary in order to purchase a servant shows that he had no other means. Perhaps, his entire estate was only US $5,000 (five thousand US dollars) at the most. To our dear Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah, a khalifah with a total estate of less than US $5,000 (five thousand US dollars) was more worldly and materialistic than another khalīfah who left behind more than US $193, 000000 (one hundred and ninety-three million US dollars). Isn't that very weird?

23 VERSE OF AL-NAJWĀ

A REAL EYE-OPENER

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

و الجواب أن يقال أما الذي ثبت فهو أن عليا رضي الله عنه تصدق و ناجى ثم نسخت الآية قبل أن يعمل بها غيره لكن الآيه لم توجب الصدقة عليهم لكن أمرهم إذا ناجوا أن يتصدقوا فهن لم يناج لم يكن عليه أن يتصدق و إذا لم تكن المناجاة واجبة لم يكن أحد ملوما إذا ترك ما لبس بواجب

The reply is to say that what is authentically transmitted is that 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, gave charity and had a private conversation (with the Prophet). Then the verse was abrogated before anyone else could act upon it. However, the verse did not make the giving of charity compulsory upon them (i.e. the Ṣaḥābah). Rather, it ordered them to give charity whenever they had private conversation (with the Messenger). Therefore, whosoever did not have a private conversation (with the Prophet) did not have to give charity. Since having a private conversation (with the Messenger) was not compulsory, none could be criticized for abandoning what was not obligatory.<sup>350</sup>

He adds elsewhere:

وهكذا آية النجوى فإنه لم يناج الرسول قبل نسخها إلا علي ولم يكن على من ترك النجوى حرج فمثل هذا العمل ليس من خصائص الأئمة ولا من خصائص علي رضي الله عنه ولا يقال إن غير على ترك النجوى بخلا بالصدقة لأن هذا غير معلوم فإن المدة لم تطل وفي تلك المدة القصيرة قد لا يحتاج الواحد إلى النجوى ولن قدر أن هذا كان يخص بعض الناس لم يلزم أن يكون أبو بكر وعمر رضي الله عنها من هؤلاء كيف وأبو بكر رضي الله عنه قد أنفق ماله كله يوم رغب النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم في الصدقة وعمر رضي الله عنه جاء بنصف ماله بلا حاجة إلى النجوى فكيف يبخل أحدها بدرهمين أو ثلاثة يقدمما بين يدي نجواه

The Verse of al-Najwā is like that too. This is because none had a private conversation with the Messenger before its abrogation except 'Alī, and there was no blame on anyone who abandoned having a private conversation (with the Prophet). The like of this act (of 'Alī) is not part of the exclusive merits of the Imāms, and was not from the exclusive merits of 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him. It is also not said that others apart from 'Alī abandoned the private conversation out of miserliness to avoid giving charity. This is because such (a reason) is not known, for the time was short. During that short period, it was possible that one did not need to have the private conversation (with the Messenger). If some people were able to do this, it was not necessary that Abū Bakr and 'Umar, may Allāh be pleased with them both, were among such people. How can that be when it was Abū Bakr, may Allāh be pleased with him, who had spent all his wealth on the day that the Messenger of Allah, peace be upon him, encouraged the giving of charity. Umar too, may Allāh be pleased with him, gave half of his wealth (in charity), without the need for a private conversation. How could either of them have been miserly about spending two or three dirhams before his private conversation (with the Prophet)?351

Our dear Shaykh confirms the authenticity of the narration stating that Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, was the only one who ever complied with the Verse of al-Najwā before its abrogation. However, he has made excuses for the failures of Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān to fulfill the instruction in the verse, despite Sunnī claims about their unmatched generosity and selflessness. According to the Shaykh, the verse was shortlived. When it was revealed, Amīr al-Mūminīn enforced it. But, before anyone else could have a reason or chance to do likewise, it was cancelled. So, others did not have the opportunity. Besides, it was not obligatory upon Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān to comply with the verse anyway unless they intended to have private discussions with the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. Since they might not have intended to privately talk with the Prophet, none can blame them for not having complied with the verse before its abrogation.

In order to understand what happened with the Verse of al-Najwā, it is important to understand a background fact about the Ṣaḥābah, as stated by Allāh:

يا أيها الذين آمنوا أطيعوا الله وأطيعوا الرسول ولا تبطلوا أعالكم إن الذين كفروا وصدوا عن سبيل الله ثم ماتوا وهم كفار فلن يغفر الله لهم فلا تهنوا وتدعوا إلى السلم وأنتم الأعلون والله معكم ولن يتركم أعالكم إنما الحياة الدنيا لعب ولهو وإن تؤمنوا وتتقوا يؤتكم أجوركم ولا يسألكم أموالكم إن يسألكموها فيحفكم تبخلوا ويخرج أضغانكم ها أنتم هؤلاء تدعون لتنفقوا في سبيل الله فهنكم من يبخل ومن يبخل فإنما يبخل عن نفسه

O you who believe! Obey Allāh, and obey the Messenger and render not vain your deeds. Verily, those who disbelieve, and hinder from the Path of Allāh, then die while they are disbelievers, Allāh will not forgive them. So be not weak and ask not for peace while you are having the upper hand. Allāh is with you, and will never decrease the reward of your good deeds. The life of this world is but play and pastime, but if you believe, and fear Allāh, and avoid evil, He will grant you your wages, and will not ask you your wealth. If He were to ask you of it (i.e. your wealth), and press you, YOU WOULD BE MISERLY, and He will bring out all your ill-wills. Behold! You are those who are called upon to spend in the Path of Allāh, YET AMONG YOU ARE SOME WHO ARE MISERS. And whoever is miserly, he is only miserly to himself.<sup>352</sup>

A lot of the wealthy Ṣaḥābah were misers and ill-willing. This was why Allāh generalized about them in the first statement. Even if we were to reject the sweeping declaration of our Creator, we must still, at the least, accept that among the wealthy Ṣaḥābah were many who were misers. It was against this background that Allāh sent down the Verse of al-Najwā:

يا أيها الذين آمنوا إذا ناجيتم الرسول فقدموا بين يدي نجواكم صدقة ذلك خير لكم وأطهر فإن لم تجدوا فإن الله غفور رحيم

O you who believe! When you consult with the Messenger in private, spend something in charity before your private consultation. That will be better and purer for you. But, if you find not (the means for it), then verily, Allāh is Oft-Forgiving, Most Merciful.<sup>353</sup>

There are two factors for consideration in the blessed verse. Firstly, it covered only those of the Ṣaḥābah who used to have private consultations with the Messenger of Allāh. Without any doubt, those were primarily the people of Madīnah and Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān were chiefs among them. Secondly, the command, apparently, was directed to those of the Ṣaḥābah in Madīnah who had the means to spend in charity. Some of them were so destitute that they could not afford to give out anything. Allāh exempted such extremely poor Ṣaḥābah. There is again absolutely no doubt that Abū Bakr 'Umar and 'Uthmān were able to afford ṣadaqah from their wealth.

Interestingly, once the Verse of al-Najwā was revealed, the wealthy and middle-income Ṣaḥābah displayed disturbing levels of miserliness. They were required to give only 1 dirham - approximately US $3 (three US dollars) - or above in charity. But, they all – with only one exception - refrained from giving anything! They instead withheld entirely from privately consulting with the Prophet in order to escape spending anything in ṣadaqah! This was why it was only Amīr al-Mūminīn who enforced the verse. Others deliberately declined. They had reasons and needs, as well as very ample opportunities, to privately speak with the Messenger. However, they chose to forgo doing so, just to keep their little dirhams and dinars in their pockets. The wealthy and middle-income Ṣaḥābah had great chances to fulfil the commandment in the verse. But, all of them recoiled, except Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī!

Due to the unbecoming attitude of the Ṣaḥābah to the command in the Verse of al-Najwā, Allāh cancelled it:

Are you AFRAID of spending in charity before your private consultation? If then, do not do it, and Allāh has FORGIVEN you. So, perform Ṣalāt and give Zakāt and obey Allāh and and His Messenger. And Allāh is All-Aware of what you do.<sup>354</sup>

They were literally "afraid" to spend just 1 dirham (US $3) from their wealth, while many of them had several thousands! Looking at the text of the verse, it is general. Therefore, it applied universally to all the wealthy and middle-income Ṣaḥābah living in Madīnah, except whosoever was exonerated by strong evidence. All of them had needs to privately consult with the Messenger of Allāh. But, they stayed back, "afraid" of giving ṣadaqah! The only one exempted from the criticism, of course, was 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib – due to the existence of authentic reports clearing him of any guilt. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records one of them:

أخبرني عبد الله بن محمد الصيدلاني ثنا محمد بن أيوب أنبأ يحيى بن المغيرة السعدي ثنا جرير عن منصور عن مجاهد عن عبد الرحمن بن أبي ليلى قال: قال علي بن أبي طالب رضي الله عنه: إن في كتاب الله لآية ما عمل بها أحد ولا يعمل بها بعدي أحد آية النجوى {يا أيها الذين آمنوا إذا ناجيتم الرسول فقدموا بين يدي نجواكم صدقة}

'Abd Allāh b. Muḥammad al-Ṣayadlānī — Muḥammad b. Ayūb — Yaḥyā b. al-Mughīrah al-Sa'dī — Jarīr — Manṣūr — Mujāhid — 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Abī Laylī — 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib, may Allāh be pleased with him:

"Verily, in the Book of Allāh, there is a verse that none complied with, and none will ever comply with, apart from me. It is the Verse of al-Najmā {O you who believe! When you consult with the Messenger in private, spend something in charity before your private consultation} 3555

Al-Hākim comments:

This hadīth is sahīh upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>356</sup>

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) agrees:

(Ṣaḥāḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim<sup>357</sup>

There is no evidence whatsoever removing the names of Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthman from the black list. As such, none can take them out of it. In other words, Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān too were among the miserly ones! Allāh also considered their omission to have been a sin, but had "forgiven" them on His Own Accord. Apparently, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's re-invention of the incident does not tally at all with the reality.

One then wonders. Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān were literally "afraid" to spend a single dirham of their wealth in sadagah. That was their attitude to money and charity. This fact, which has Qur'anic backing, nullifies and throws out all Sunnī claims and riwāyāt about the trio's legendary financial sacrifices in the Path of Allāh. If the tales were true, the story of the Verse of al-Najwā would have been far different. Wait a minute! 'Umar b. al-Khattāb stashed up for himself wealth worth more than US $193, 000000 (one hundred and ninety-three million US dollars) during his khilāfah. That was about 1400 years ago when poverty levels, across the world, were beyond extreme. If he had wanted to be miserly, what else would he have done?

It would not be out of place to end this chapter with these golden Words of Allāh:

And those who hoard up gold and silver and spend it not in the Way of Allāh, announce unto them a painful torment. On the Day when it will be heated in the Fire of Jahannam and with it will be branded their

24 HADĪTH AL-RĀYAT

A TRULY MESSY ONE

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

قال الرافضي والرابع أنه كان أشجع الناس....

والجواب أنه لا ريب أن عليا رضي الله عنه كان من شجعان الصحابة ... أما قوله إنه كان أشجع الناس وهذا كذب بل كان أشجع الناس رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم

The Rāfiḍī said: "The fourth (point) is that he ('Alī) was the bravest of mankind....

The reply is that there is no doubt that 'Alī, may Allāh be pleased with him, was one of the brave ones among the Ṣaḥābah ... As for his statement that he ('Alī) was the bravest of mankind, that is a lie. Rather, the bravest of mankind was the Messenger of Allāh.<sup>359</sup>

Our dear Shaykh has removed the words of the Shī'ī scholar from its proper context. The style of expression adopted by the latter was very common in Arabic texts, and the word "mankind" in it always excluded the Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi! In other words, when the Shī'ī scholar mentioned "the bravest of mankind", the phrase "after the Messenger of Allāh" is automatically implied. Similar expressions can be found in these words of Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāṣ, a very senior Ṣaḥābī, as documented by Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H):

"O you! On what basis do you curse 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib? Is he not the first to accept Islām? Is he not the first to perform Ṣalāt with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him? Is he not the most ascetic of mankind? Is he not the most knowledgeable of mankind?"

Al-Hākim declares:

This ḥadīth has a ṣaḥiḥ chain.<sup>361</sup>

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) confirms:

(Ṣaḥiḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim<sup>362</sup>

Will our dear Shaykh accuse this noble Saḥābī of telling lies? Anyway, the Shaykh himself makes absolutely no attempt to claim Abū Bakr or 'Umar was braver than Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, in physical battle. Rather, he re-defines the word "bravery", and then plays a new card:

And "bravery" is explained with two things. One of them is strength of the heart, and its firmness in the face of fear. The second is great strength in physical fighting, to kill a lot of people. Only the first is bravery. As for the second, it (only) proves physical strength. And, not everyone who is physically strong has a strong heart, and not vice versa.<sup>363</sup>

So, "bravery" is only to have a fearless heart. Whether this translates into action on the battlefield or not is irrelevant. Rather, the warrior who firmly faces multiple enemy fighters in battle, and kills them is not brave at all. He is only "physically strong". Our Shaykh justifies his new definition in this manner:

The Prophet, peace be upon him, was the most perfect of mankind in this type of bravery (i.e. of the heart) which was what was expected in the war commanders. He never killed anyone with his hand except Ubayy b. Khalaf. He killed him on the Day of Uhud, and never killed anyone else before or after them. Yet, he was braver than all the Sahābah.<sup>364</sup>

This analogy does not work in the cases of Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān though. The Messenger of Allāh was the ruler of Arabia at that time. Heads of state are not expected anywhere to participate in battle like foot soldiers. Rather, they are to be shielded from the enemy as much as possible. As for Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān, they were ordinary soldiers. Therefore, they had every obligation and chance to participate in multiple combats with enemy fighters. But what happened?

Obviously, since Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's new definition is hinged upon the roles of the Prophet in battle, it is inapplicable in the cases of anyone who was not the head of state at the times of the battles. Moreover, one honestly wonders about the logicality of the Shaykh's separation of fearlessness of the heart from battle valour. Can a person with a timid heart willfully confront fully armed, firmly determined, well-trained and highly experienced enemy fighters, in mortal combats, in battle?

But then, what exactly does Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah want us to pick from his incongruous definition? He minces no words about it:

Since the type of bravery that is required from the rulers is the bravery of the heart, then there is no doubt that Abū Bakr was braver than 'Umar, and 'Umar was braver than 'Uthmān and 'Alī.<sup>365</sup>

Strange indeed! Were Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān rulers during the lifetime of the Prophet?! In any case, there is an implicit admission in these wild gymnastics of our dear Shaykh that the trio were no match at all for Amīr al-Mūminīn in terms of physical strength and battle successes. However, he must nonetheless place them above him at any cost. Therefore, he lumps things up and tables patently desperate excuses. He also apparently assumes – contrary to logic - that the heroic achievements of 'Alī in battle required less courage than the trio's relative battle redundancy!

Then comes the big question, and Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah makes another attempt:

As for his (i.e. the Shī'ī scholar's) statement that he ('Alī) NEVER fled (the battlefield), then he was, in this (merit), like Abū Bakr, 'Umar, Ṭalḥah, al-Zubayr and others among the Ṣaḥābah, may Allāh be pleased with them. The statement that he ('Alī) never fled away is like the statement that these people too never fled away. It is not known that any of them ever fled away. And if something had happened (from them) in secret which has not been reported, it is possible that something happened from 'Alī too which has not been reported.

The Muslims fled away the battlefield twice – on the Day of Uḥud and on the Day of Ḥunayn and it is not reported that anyone of these people fled away. What is mentioned in the Sīrah (i.e. biography of the Prophet) and al-Maghāzī (i.e. reports of battles) books is that Abū Bakr and 'Umar stood firmly with the Prophet, peace be upon him, on the Day of Uḥud and on the Day of Ḥunayn and did not flee away with those who fled away. Whoever reported that they both fled away on the Day of Ḥunayn, his lie is obvious. The only one (of them) who fled away on the Day of Uḥud was 'Uthmān, and Allāh has forgiven him. As for what is reported concerning the flight of Abū Bakr and 'Umar with the flag on the Day of Ḥunayn, it is one of the fabrications which the forgers forged.<sup>366</sup>

The Shaykh agrees that Amīr al-Mūminīn never fled the battlefield, no matter how hopeless things became. This is very crucial in determining who was brave and who was cowardly. There is no doubt that anyone who flees the battlefield is a coward. Interestingly, our Shaykh confesses that 'Uthmān was a coward who fled away on the Day of Uhud. No wonder, he never attempts anywhere to claim that 'Uthmān was braver than 'Alī. But then, he argues that Abū Bakr and 'Umar too, like 'Alī, never fled away. Apparently, if he ever admits that either of the duo was a coward who fled away, his entire argument crashes. One fact, however, remains undeniable. There are reports indicating that both Abū Bakr and 'Umar fled the battlefields. Our Shaykh instinctively throws them out as fabrications. He also seeks to counter such reports with what is "mentioned" — with no proof of authenticity - in the history books. A fair researcher, of course, would like to examine these "forged" reports alleging Abū Bakr's and 'Umar's cowardice, to determine the truth of the matter by himself.

Well, according to an authentic report, Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān fled the battlefields repeatedly on different occasions. It did not happen once, twice or thrice. Rather, on several occasions of battle, the trio fled away, as documented by Imām Muslim (d. 261 H):

حدثنا محمد بن أبي بكر المقدمي وحامد بن عمر البكراوي ومحمد بن عبدالأعلى قالوا حدثنا المعتمر (وهو ابن سليان) قال سمعت أبي عن أبي عثان قال لم يبق مع رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم في بعض تلك الأيام التي قاتل فيهن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم غير طلحة وسعد عن حديثها

Muḥammad b. Abī Bakr al-Muqaddamī, Ḥāmid b. 'Umar al-Bakrāwī and Muḥammad b. 'Abd al-A'lā — al-Mu'tamar (and he is Ibn Sulaymān) — father — Abū 'Uthmān:

"None remained with the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, on some of the DAYS in which the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, was fighting apart from Ṭalḥah and Sa'd. They both (i.e. Ṭalḥah and Sa'd) narrated that to me."367

On the days of the successive battles, everyone else used to flee – apparently including Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān – except Talḥah and Sa'd.

Among such days, the Day of Uḥud (3 AH) readily comes to mind. The most notorious runner on that day was 'Uthmān. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah himself admits this. Nonetheless, this is an explicit hadīth from Ṣaḥīḥ al-Bukhārī confirming his flight:

حدثنا موسى بن إسماعيل حدثنا أبو عوانة حدثنا عثمان هو ابن موهب قال :جاء رجل من أهل مصر وحج البيت فرأى قوما جلوسا فقال من هؤلاء القوم ؟ فقالوا هؤلاء قريش قال فمن الشيخ فيهم؟ قالوا عبد الله بن عمر قال يا ابن عمر إني سائلك عن شيء فحدثني هل تعلم أن عثمان فر يوم أحد ؟ قال نعم.

Mūsā b. Ismā'īl – Abū 'Awānah – 'Uthmān b. Mūhib:

An Egyptian man came and performed the Ḥajj to the House. So, he saw some people sitting, and asked, "Who are these people?" They said, "They are the tribe of Quraysh." He said, "Who is the old man amongst them?" They replied, "He is 'Abd Allāh b. 'Umar.' He said, "O Ibn Umar! I want to ask you about something; please tell me about it. Do you know that 'Uthmān fled away on the Day of Uḥud?" Ibn 'Umar said, "Yes."

Referring to this ugly incident, Allāh states:

(And remember) when you ran away (dreadfully) without even casting a side glance at anyone, and the Messenger was in your rear calling you back.<sup>369</sup>

The Prophet was calling 'Uthmān while he was fleeing away. He heard him, but did not even cast a side glance at anyone, not even at Muḥammad! He was completely frightened, and sought to run away from the Messenger of Allāh as quickly as they could, in order to save his own life. It was indeed a great flight, and a great tragedy!

On the Day of Ḥunayn (8 AH) too, the Ṣaḥābah fled away again! This is referred to by Allāh in His Book:

Truly, Allāh has helped you on many battlefields, and on the Day of Ḥunayn when you rejoiced at your great number but it availed you naught and the earth, as vast as it is, was straitened for you. Then you fled away.<sup>370</sup>

The statement is general. Therefore, everyone fled except whoever there is concrete evidence clearing him. 'Umar, in particular, was one of the runners on that day. Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) records:

Al-Layth – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd – 'Umar b. Kathīr b. Aflaḥ – Abū Muḥammad, freed slave of Abū Qatādah – Abū Qatādah:

On the Day of Ḥunayn, I saw a Muslim fighting with one of the pagans and another pagan was hiding himself behind the Muslim in order to kill him. So I hurried towards the pagan who was hiding behind the Muslim to kill him, and he raised his hand to hit me but I hit his hand and cut it off. That man got hold of me and pressed me so hard that I was afraid, then I knelt down and his grip became loose and I pushed him and killed him. The Muslims fled, and I too fled WITH THEM. Suddenly, I met 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb AMONGST THE PEOPLE and I asked him, "What is wrong with THE PEOPLE?" He said, "It is the Command of Allāh." Then THE PEOPLE returned to the Messenger of Allāh.

Abū Qatādah referred to those Saḥābah who fled away as "the people". They fled but later returned to the Messenger at the battlefield. The interesting part is that while Abū Qatādah himself was fleeing away "with them", he met 'Umar "amongst the people"! In other words, 'Umar too was fleeing away with the people! He was "amongst" the people speeding off the battle ground. If the second khalīfah had stayed with the Messenger of Allāh, Abū Qatādah — who had run away from the Prophet — would never had met 'Umar "amongst the people"!

A rather unfortunate turn was 'Umar's attempted justification of the Ṣaḥābah's run from the battlefield. He claimed that those Ṣaḥābah – including himself – were obeying "the command" of Allāh. We searched the Qur'ān and aḥādīth to locate this "command". But, we came up with nothing like it. Rather, this is what we read:

يا أيها الذين آمنوا إذا لقيتم الذين كفروا زحفا فلا تولوهم الأدبار ومن يولهم يومئذ دبره إلا متحرفا لقتال أو متحيزا إلى فئة فقد باء بغضب من الله ومأواه جمنم وبئس المصير

O you who believe! When you meet those who disbelieve, in a battlefield, never flee from them. And whoever flees away on such a day – unless it be a stratagem of war, or to retreat to a troop, - he indeed has drawn upon himself Wrath from Allāh. And his abode is Hellfire, and worse indeed is that destination!<sup>372</sup>

Does it really look like the Ṣaḥābah were obeying Allāh with their great flight? We do not think so.

25 HADĪTH AL-RĀYAT

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Before Ḥunayn (8 AH), 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb ran away from the battlefield at least twice – during Khandaq (5 AH) and at Khaybar (7 AH). It was at Khaybar that Ḥadīth al-Rāyat was declared by the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. We will therefore briefly examine what the second khalīfah did during the Khandaq battle before moving on to Khaybar. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا يزيد قال انا محمد بن عمرو عن أبيه عن جده علقمة بن وقاص قال أخبرتني عائشة قالت خرجت يوم الحندق أقفوا آثار الناس قالت فسمعت وئيد الأرض ورائي يعني حس الأرض قالت فالتفت فإذا أنا بسعد بن معاذ ومعه بن أخيه الحارث بن أوس يحمل مجنة قالت فجلست إلى الأرض فمر سعد وعليه درع من حديد قد خرجت منها أطرافه فأنا أتخوف على أطراف سعد قالت وكان سعد من أعظم الناس وأطولهم قالت فمر وهو يرتجز ويقول (ليت قليلا يدرك الهيجا جمل ... ما أحسن الموت إذا حان الأجل) قالت فقمت فاقتحمت يدرك الهيجا جمل ... ما أحسن الموت إذا حان الأجل) قالت فقمت فاقتحمت له يعنى مغفرا فقال عمر ما جاء بك لعمري والله إنك لجريئة وما يؤمنك أن يكون بلاء أو يكون تحوز قالت فما زال يلومني حتى تمنيت أن الأرض انشقت لي ساعتئذ فدخلت فيها قالت فرفع الرجل السبغة عن وجمه فإذا طلحة بن عبيد الله فقال يا عمر ويحك انك قد ا محرت منذ اليوم وأين التحوز أو الفرار إلا إلى الله عز فقال يا عمر ويحك انك قد ا محرت منذ اليوم وأين التحوز أو الفرار إلا إلى الله عز

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Yazīd – Muḥammad b. 'Amr – his father – his grandfather 'Alqamah b. Waqqās – 'Āishah:

I went out on the Day of al-Khandaq and I stood behind the people. So, I heard footsteps coming from behind me. I turned around and saw Sa'd b. Mu'ādh, and his nephew al-Ḥārith b. Aws was carrying his armour. Therefore, I sat down on the ground and Sa'd passed by, wearing an iron armour from which his limbs had come out. I was afraid of Sa'd's limbs. Sa'd was one of the most huge and tallest people. Sa'd passed by, singing a battle song, saying: "Very soon the battle will meet a camel ... What a good death it is when the time has come."

Then I stood up and entered a garden. There was a small group of Muslims there, and 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb was amongst them and there was another man who was wearing a mask. 'Umar said: "What brought you here? I swear by my life and I swear by Allāh, you are a reckless woman! What assures you against the occurrence of a disaster or capture?" He kept blaming me so much until I wished that the earth would split open for me so that I could enter into it. Then the (masked) man removed the mask from his face, and he was Ṭalḥah b. 'Ubayd Allāh. So he said, "Woe to you, O Umar! You have said too much today! And where is the writhing movement or the flight except to Allāh the Almighty?"373

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) has copied the exact same narration in his Ṣaḥāḥaḥ, and states:

A ḥasan ḥadīth<sup>377</sup>

The question is: what was 'Umar and his few colleagues doing in a garden, hidden from view, while the Messenger of Allāh and the other Ṣaḥābah were actively in battle against the allied forces of the pagans? The people, as testified by Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah, were at the warfront. She was standing behind the fighting soldiers. So, 'Umar and his small band were completely away from the front, at the back of everyone else. Was it a tactical land ambush by them? But, that was not possible! Firstly, it was a trench war. If anything, 'Umar and his colleagues should be standing with the Prophet at the front - by the trench - preventing the enemies of Allāh from successfully crossing over. Secondly, the Messenger did not permit any Ṣaḥābī to leave his presence, as reported by the Qur'ān about the Battle of Khandaq:

وإذ قالت طائفة منهم يا أهل يثرب لا مقام لكم فارجعوا ويستأذن فريق منهم النبي يقولون إن بيوتنا عورة وما هي بعورة إن يريدون إلا فرارا ولو دخلت عليهم من أقطارها ثم سئلوا الفتنة لاتوها وما تلبثوا بها إلا يسيرا ولقد كانوا عاهدوا الله من قبل لا يولون الأدبار وكان عهد الله مسئولا قل لن ينفعكم الفرار إن فررتم من الموت أو القتل وإذا لا تمتعون إلا قليلا

And when a party of them said, "O people of Yathrib! You do not stand any chance. Therefore, return". And a band of them asked for permission of the Prophet, saying: "Truly, our homes are vulnerable!" But they (i.e. their houses) were not vulnerable. They (i.e. those soldiers) only wished to flee! And if the enemy had entered upon them from its (i.e. Madīnah's) borders, and they had been asked to commit sedition (against Islām), they would surely have committed it and would have only hesitated a little. And indeed they had already made a covenant with Allāh not to flee, and a covenant with Allāh must be answered for. Say: Running away will not benefit you if you flee from death or killing, and then you will enjoy no more than a little while!"<sup>378</sup>

The verses confirm that the enemy never breached the borders of Madīnah. They further establish that the homes of the people of the city were safe. Of course, it was the Battle of Khandaq (i.e. the Battle of the Trench). Therefore, all the fighting was supposed to be done at the trench, not within the boundaries of Madīnah. Lastly, there is zero evidence of any deployment of anyone by the Prophet, during the battle, to mount any ambush in any garden in the city!

As such, the presence of 'Umar and his colleagues in a safe garden had absolutely no military value or legitimacy. Moreover, one of them was masking his face to conceal his identity. Meanwhile, he too had no tactical or strategic reason to use a mask. It is obvious, from the circumstances and his conduct, that he felt shame for what they were doing in the garden, and would not like anyone to identify him with it, if they were detected. But, Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah knew his voice very well, being his relative. So, it was pointless for him to conceal his identity before her while criticizing 'Umar.

'Umar and his colleagues were, without doubt, hiding from battle. They had fled! While the other Muslims were busy preventing the collapse of Madīnah by blocking any crossover of the trench by the enemy, he and his colleagues were breathing safely in their hideout. Judging from the panic and instinctive outbursts of 'Umar, one could also say that he was not aware of the real situation of things in the city. He apparently thought that the enemy had entered it, and that it was extremely risky to move around. That explains why he moved into, and remained in, the garden in the first place.

At Khaybar, our second khalīfah repeated his old feat. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) records:

أخبرنا أبو العباس محمد بن أحمد المحبوبي بمرو ثنا سعيد بن مسعود ثنا عبيد الله بن موسى ثنا نعيم بن حكيم عن أبي موسى الحنفي عن علي رضي الله عنه قال: سار النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم إلى خيبر فلما أتاها بعث عمر رضي الله تعالى عنه وبعث معه الناس إلى مدينتهم أو قصرهم فقاتلوهم فلم يلبثوا أن هزموا عمر وأصحابه فجبنونه ويجبنهم فسار

So, they ('Umar and his troops) fought them (i.e. the people of Khaybar). But 'Umar and his troops did not hesitate before fleeing. So, they came back and they (the troops) accused him ('Umar) of COWARDICE while he too accused them of cowardice.<sup>379</sup>

So, the people longed for it (i.e. the expedition) and extended their necks, each of them wishing that he be the chosen one. The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, remained silent for a while and then said: "Where is Alī?" They said: "He is sore-eyed." He said: "Summon him for me." When I came to him, he opened my eyes and put his saliva on them. Then, he gave the flag to me and so I proceeded fast, fearing that the Messenger of Allāh might make a new decision concerning it (i.e. the expedition), or me, until I reached them (i.e. the people of Khaybar). So, I fought them. Then Marḥab (the warrior of Khaybar) offered a duel challenge, reciting war poetry and I accepted his duel challenge, reciting war poetry like people do, until we clashed and Allāh killed him through my hand. As a result, his companions fled away into their castle, and locked the door. We went to the door and I did not stop trying to break it until Allāh opened it.<sup>382</sup>

So, I went to 'Alī and brought him, and he was sore-eyed, until I brought him to the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, who applied his saliva to his eyes and he got well. So, he (the Prophet) gave him the flag and Marḥab (at the Khaybar battle ground) came out and said (during the duel), "Khaybar has already known that I am Marḥab, a fully-armed and well-tried valorous warrior whenever war comes, spreading its flames." 'Alī replied, "I am the one whose mother named him Haydar, like a lion of the forest with a terror-striking countenance. I give them (i.e. my opponents) the measure of sandara (i.e. a heavy blow) in exchange for ṣā' (i.e. a small punch)." 'Alī struck the head of Marḥab and killed him. So, the victory was through his hands.<sup>384</sup>

The Prophet of Allāh testified that Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, was NOT a person who fled in any circumstance, however difficult. He too demonstrated that by accepting the challenge of Marḥab in a mortal combat. As such, while all the other Ṣaḥābah — including Abū Bakr and 'Umar — were repeatedly fleeing the battlefields, 'Alī always stayed till the end. The matter, apparently, was very well-known among the Ṣaḥābah, which was why some of them did not bother mentioning his name while listing the firm ones at each battle. He made every list by default, and it might be pointless repeating his blessed name while everyone was already aware of this unique status of his.

Imām Aḥmad further records another report, with an interesting additional detail:

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا زيد بن الحباب حدثني الحسين بن واقد حدثني عبد الله بن بريدة حدثني أبي بريدة قال حاصرنا خيبر فأخذ اللواء أبو بكر فانصرف ولم يفتح له ثم أخذه من الغد عمر فحرج فرجع ولم يفتح له وأصاب الناس يومئذ شدة وجمد فقال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم انى دافع اللواء غدا إلى رجل يجبه الله ورسوله ويحب الله ورسوله لا يرجع حتى يفتح له فبتنا طيبة أنفسنا ان الفتح غدا فلما ان أصبح رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم صلى الغداة ثم قام قامًا فدعا باللواء والناس على مصافهم فدعا عليا وهو أرمد فتفل في عينيه ودفع إليه اللواء وفتح له قال بريدة وأنا فيمن تطاول لها

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) — my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) — Zayd b. al-Ḥabāb — al-Ḥusayn b. Wāqid — 'Abd Allāh b. Buraydah — Abū Buraydah:

We besieged Khaybar. So, Abū Bakr took the flag and went. But, he did not achieve victory. Then, the next day, 'Umar took it (i.e. the flag), and went and returned without achieving victory. On that day, the people encountered hardship and fatigue. Therefore, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "I will tomorrow give the flag to a man who loves Allāh and His Messenger, and Allāh and His Messenger love him too. He will not return unless he has achieved victory." So, we became absolutely certain that victory would be achieved the next day.

When it was morning, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, performed the morning Ṣalāt. Then he stood and asked that the flag be brought to him. The people were on their lines. So, he summoned 'Alī and he ('Alī) was sore-eyed. Then he spit into his eyes and gave him the flag, and he ('Alī) achieved victory. I was one of those longing for it (i.e. the flag).<sup>387</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ states:

It is a ṣaḥīḥ ḥadīth, and this chain is strong (qant) due to Ḥusayn b. Wāqid al-Marūzī.<sup>388</sup>

Apparently, Abū Bakr was the first to flee the battlefield at Khaybar, and then 'Umar. Marḥab must have offered both of them duel challenges – as he did to Amīr al-Mūminīn - which they obviously declined and then sped away. The only way to conquer Khaybar was to kill Marḥab, who was their legendary warrior, as 'Alī demonstrated. The fact that Abū Bakr and 'Umar returned without victory is evidence that both of them, as army commanders, feared Marḥab and therefore avoided him.

Imām al-Hindī copies a related report:

عن عبد الرحمن بن أبي ليلى قال : كان علي يخرج في الشتاء في إزار ورداء ثوبين خفيفين و.... قال : أو ما كنت معنا يا أبا ليلى بخيبر ؟ قلت : بلى والله قد كنت معكم قال : فإن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم بعث أبا بكر فسار بالناس فانهزم حتى رجع إليه وبعث عمر فانهزم بالناس حتى انتهى إليه فقال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم : لأعطين الراية رجلا يحب الله ورسوله ويحبه الله ورسوله يفتح الله ليس بفرار فأرسل إلى فدعاني فأتيته وأنا أرمد لا أبصر شيئا فتفل في عيني

'Alī used to come out in winter wearing light clothes and ... he ('Alī) said (to me), "Were you not with us, O Abū Laylī, at Khaybar?" I said, "Yes, by Allāh, I was with you." He said, "Verily, the Messenger of

Al-Hindī comments:

Al-Bazzār recorded it, as well as Ibn Jarīr (al-Ṭabarī) WHO DECLARED IT ṢAḤĪḤ<sup>390</sup>

At this point, let us do some mathematics:

- Abū Bakr and 'Umar used to flee from battlefields. Alī never fled, not even once.
- 2. 'Alī accepted and won at least the duel challenge at Khaybar. Abū Bakr and 'Umar ran away from the same duel challenge.
- 3. Alī was never accused of cowardice by anyone. Rather, the Prophet testified in favour of his absolute bravery and military doggedness. By contrast, 'Umar was charged with cowardice by his own troops!
- 4. Abū Bakr and 'Umar returned from the battlefield, defeated and humiliated. Meanwhile, 'Alī never left the battlefield until he had achieved victory.
- 5. The Messenger of Allāh had absolute confidence in 'Alī's military prowess, and was completely certain that the latter would never fail in his expeditions. On the other hand, both Abū Bakr and 'Umar disappointed him in their military assignments, and he apparently did not have full confidence in their military abilities.

The question is: who was braver? Was it Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Tālib? Or, were Abū Bakr and 'Umar braver than him, as claimed by Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah? Even if we accepted our Shaykh's re-definition of "bravery" as fearlessness of the heart, how can anyone still claim that Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān were "brave" at all despite that they used to flee the battlefield? Can a person who runs away from battle be said to have a fearless heart? Moreover, what made Amīr al-Mūminīn so firm on the battlefield? Was it not his fearless heart? From whatever angle we look at it, Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān were timid cowards, while 'Alī was a true warrior, with a completely fearless heart.

Our Shaykh is well aware that with the above facts, his theory can never stand. So, he goes on a voyage of historical revisionism:

The Prophet, peace be upon him, said before his ('Alī's) arrival, "I verily will give the flag to a man who loves Allāh and His Messenger, and Allāh and His Messenger too love him. Allāh will grant victory through his hands." The flag was never given before that to Abū Bakr or 'Umar, and neither of them even moved near it. Rather, this (i.e. the claim that Abū Bakr and 'Umar were given the flag before 'Alī) is one of the lies.<sup>391</sup>

But, does that really help him or his two khalifahs?

26 ḤADĪTH AL-ṬĀIR

INVESTIGATING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

Ḥadīth al-Tāir is one of the fabricated lies in the opinion of the people of knowledge.<sup>392</sup>

Meanwhile, Imām Ibn Asākir (d. 571 H) records:

أخبرنا أبو غالب بن البنا أنا أبو الحسين بن الأبنوسي أنا أبو الحسن الدارقطني نا محمد بن مخلد بن حفص نا حاتم بن الليث نا عبيد الله بن موسى عن عيسى بن عمر القارئ عن السدي نا أنس بن مالك قال أهدي إلى رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم أطيار فقسمها وترك طيرا فقال اللهم ائتني بأحب خلقك إليكياكل معى من هذا الطير فجاء على بن أبي طالب فدخلياكل معه من ذلك الطير

Birds were given as gifts to the Messenger of Allāh. So, he distributed them and left a bird. Then he said, "O Allāh, bring to me the most beloved to You of Your creation to eat with me from this bird. So, 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib came and entered and ate with him from that bird.<sup>393</sup>

Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) states about the first narrator:

Abū Ghālib b. al-Banā: The righteous Shaykh, the thiqah (trustworthy) narrator, the ḥadīth transmitter of Baghdād, Abū Ghālib Aḥmad b. Imām Abū 'Alī al-Ḥasan b. Aḥmad b. 'Abd Allāh b. al-Banā al-Baghdādī al-Ḥanbalī.<sup>394</sup>

Concerning the second narrator, he further says:

The third narrator, Imām al-Dāraquṭnī, needs no introduction. Nonetheless, let us get al-Dhahabī's words about him anyway:

Al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H) says about the fourth narrator:

Muḥammad b. Muhklid b. Ḥafṣ ... He is thiqah (trustworthy), thiqah (trustworthy), well-known.<sup>397</sup>

Imām al-Dhahabī tells us about the fifth narrator as well:

Hātim b. al-Layth: The ḥadīth scientist, the prolific ḥadīth narrator, the thiqah (trustworthy) narrator, Abū al-Faḍl, al-Baghdādī, al-Jawharī.<sup>398</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz returns to inform us about the sixth narrator:

'Ubayd Allāh b. Mūsā b. Abī al-Mukhtār al-'Ubsī al-Kūfī, Abū Muḥammad: Thiqah (trustworthy), he was a Shī'ī.<sup>399</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz proceeds about the seventh narrator too:

Finally, 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) grades the last narrator, al-Suddī:

This chain is ḥasan. Its narrators are trustworthy apart from al-Suddī, and he is Ismā'īl b. 'Abd al-Raḥman. He was ṣadūq (very truthful), and he hallucinated, as stated in al-Tagrīb.<sup>401</sup>

He adds about him:

He is thiqah (trustworthy). (Imām) Muslim has relied upon him as a ḥujjah (in his Ṣaḥīḥ), and his name is Ismā'īl b. 'Abd al-Rahman.<sup>402</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ also states:

Its chain is ḥasan due to al-Suddī – and he is Ismā'īl b. 'Abd al-Raḥman b. Abī Karīmah – and the other narrators are trustworthy. 403

Shaykh Dr. Asad has the same grading for him:

Interestingly, Imām Ibn al-Jawzī (d. 597 H) has documented a similar report of Hadīth al-Tāir as Imām Ibn Asākir:

قال المؤلف وقد انبأنا ابو القاسم الحريري قال انبأنا ابو طالب العشري قال انا الدارقطني قالنا انا محمد بن مخلد قال انا حاتم بن الليث قال انا عبيد الله بن موسى عن عيسى بن عمر القاري عن السدي قال انس اهدي رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم أطيار فقسمهن فقال اللهم ائتني بأحب خلقك اليك ياكل معي من هذا الطير فجاء على بن ابي طالب فدخل فاكل معه من ذلك الطير came and entered and ate with him from that bird. 406

This chain is basically the same as that which we have verified above in this chapter. 'Allāmah al-Albānī also has this comment about this report:

Ibn al-Jawzī (363) has recorded it with his chain from the route of al-Dāraquṭnī – Muḥammad b. Mukhlid – Ḥātim b. al-Layth – 'Ubayd Allāh b. Mūsā with it (i.e. the full chain with the <code>hadūth</code>).

All the narrators of this chain are trustworthy, except for the difference of opinions concerning al-Suddī, and he is al-Suddī al-Kabīr, and his name is Ismā'īl b. 'Abd al-Rahman.<sup>407</sup>

Since al-Suddī too is thiqah (trustworthy), or at least ṣadūq (very truthful) due to the disputes about him, the sanad is therefore either ṣaḥiḥ or ḥasan. We go with the stricter ruling. As such, we declare that chain of the ḥadūth is ḥasan due to al-Suddī. All its narrators are reliable, and there is no disconnection whatsoever in the sanad.

Meanwhile, the hadīth itself is absolutely ṣaḥīḥ due to the existence of massive, overwhelming corroboration (mutābaʾāt) for al-Suddī. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H), for instance, declares about Ḥadīth al-Ṭāir.

It has been narrated from Anas by a group of his companions,

numbering more than thirty individuals.408

This establishes the tawātur of the ḥadīth from Anas, and shoots the report of al-Suddī from the level of ḥasan to the highest ṣaḥīh grade.

27 ḤADĪTH AL-ṬĀIR

EXAMINING SOME SHAWĀHID

The ḥadīth proves that Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, is the most beloved of all creatures to Allāh after His Messenger, sallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. This goes directly counter to the claims of the majority of the Ahl al-Sunnah that Abū Bakr, after the Prophet, is the most beloved to Allāh in this Ummah. Therefore, a lot of their 'ulamā struggle hard to bring down Hadīth al-Tāir in order to salvage their sect from collapse or confusion. So, they bring up a lot of "ifs" and "maybes" without ever presenting any explicit, positive evidence for their claims. Meanwhile, apart from the ḥadīth, there are numerous other proofs which nullify the Sunnī position. Let us have a look at some of them.

We start with the Verse of al-Mubāhala:

And whoever disputes with you concerning him after what has come to you of knowledge, then say: "Come, let us call our sons and your sons, our women and your women, *our*selves and yourselves, then we place the Curse of Allāh upon the liars."

It is clear from the verse that some people were debating with the Prophet, opposing what had been revealed to him from his Lord. The Qur'ān is explicit: the debate was with the Messenger of Allāh alone. It was not with the Ummah. The "yous" in the verse, as well as the phrase "say", are all singular. Therefore, all the "ours" in it are exclusive to the Prophet. "Our sons", for instance, do not mean the "sons of the Ummah". Rather, they were his sons. His opponents were refusing to accept the Truth which he had brought from his Lord. So, he was commanded to challenge them to a mubāhala, where each side would invoke the Curse of Allāh upon "whoever" was lying in his claims between the two sides. A condition of the mubāhala was that each party must participate in it with his sons and women. As such, the effect of the curse would affect the wrong disputant along with his sons and women.

The question is – why did the Qur'ān name the "sons" and "women" as compulsory participants? The reason is apparent. A man usually cares most for himself, his sons, his daughters and his wives. He would not want any harm to come their way. Therefore, if he must involve himself and them together in a mubāhala, he is most likely to think twice, and to withdraw from it if he has the slightest doubt in his claims. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) agrees:

والنفوس تحنوا على أقاربها مالا تحنوا على غيرهم وكانوا يعلمون انه رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم ويعلمون انهم أن باهلوه نزلت البهلة عليهم وعلى أقاربهم واجتمع خوفهم على أنفسهم وعلى أقاربهم فكان ذلك أبلغ في امتناعهم و إلا فالإنسان قد يختار أن يهلك ويحيا ابنه والشيخ الكبير قد يختار الموت إذا بقى أقاربه في نعمة ومال وهذا موجود كثير

The hearts (lit: the souls) care for their closest people what they do not care for others. They (the non-Muslim disputants) knew that he was the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, and they knew that if they did mubāhala with him, curse would descend upon them and upon their closest people. So, their fear over themselves became combined with their fear over their closest people. This caused their withdrawal (from the mubāhala). Otherwise, the human being prefers to lose his life in order to save his son from death (if the need arises). Moreover, the old man prefers death if his closest people will be in comfort and wealth. And this is very common.<sup>410</sup>

In simple words, each party in the mubāhala was to involve in it the people closest to his heart, those people whom he cared most for. So, who were the closest persons to the heart of the Messenger of Allāh during his lifetime? This is where trouble sets in for our dear Shaykh:

فعلم انه أراد الأقربين إلينا من الذكور والإناث من الأولاد والعصبة ولهذا دعا الحسن والحسين من الأبناء ودعا فاطمة من النساء ودعا عليا من رجاله ولم يكن عنده أحد أقرب إليه نسبا من هؤلاء وهم الذين أدار عليهم الكساء والمباهلة إنما تحصل بالأقربين إليه و إلا فلو بأهلهم بالابعدين في النسب وان كانوا أفضل عند الله لم يحصل المقصود فان المراد انهم يدعون الأقربين كما يدعوا هو الأقرب إليه

Know that He (Allāh in the Verse of al-Muhāhala) intended the closest people to us - males and females – from the children and the blood relatives. This was why he called al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn from the sons and called Fāṭimah from the women and called 'Alī from his men. There was no one else who was closer to him, in terms of blood relationship, than these people. They were those over whom he spread the kiṣā (cloak), AND THE MUBĀHALA WOULD ONLY SUCCEED THROUGH THE CLOSEST OF PEOPLE TO HIM. Otherwise, if they (both parties) had done it with their distant blood relatives, even if such had been superior in the Sight of Allāh, its purpose would have been defeated. This was because the intention was that they (the non-Muslim party) should call their closest people, as he (Muḥammad) should also call the closest people to him.<sup>411</sup>

So, 'Alī, Fātimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn, 'alaihim al-salām, were the closest people to the Prophet's heart. He cared for them more than he did for anyone else on the face of the earth. At the practical level, the Messenger of Allāh, for instance, cared more for 'Alī than he did for Abū Bakr and 'Umar! He equally cared more for Umm Abīhā Fāṭimah than he did for Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah. If this had not been the case, then the mubāhala challenge would have been worthless, as the non-Muslim opponents were directed to summon people closest to their hearts. For a proper mubāhala, things had to be equal on both sides.

Our Shaykh asserts that the Messenger's care for 'Alī, Fāṭimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn was based upon their blood relationship to him. He however misses the fact that al-'Abbās was legally a closer blood relative to the Prophet than 'Alī! This is why the right of the uncle to inherit overrules that of the cousin, as Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) states:

There is no difference of opinion among the scholars that the cousin cannot inherit with the presence of the uncle.<sup>412</sup>

Therefore, if the Prophet was choosing people on the basis of their blood closeness to him, he would have picked al-'Abbās – who was already a practising Muslim then - and not 'Alī. Alternatively, he could have selected both al-'Abbās and 'Alī, and possibly some other cousins like Ibn 'Abbās. Sensing the frailty of his own submission, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah attempts to apply some cosmetics to it:

وآية المباهلة نزلت سنة عشر لما قدم وفد نجران ولم يكن النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم قد بقي من أعامه إلا العباس والعباس لم يكن من السابقين الأولين ولاكان له به اختصاص كعلي و أما بنو عمه فلم يكن فيهم مثل علي وكان جعفر قد قتل قبل ذلك

The Verse of al-Mubāhala was revealed in 10 AH when the delegation of Najrān arrived. The Prophet, peace be upon him, had no other uncle other than al-'Abbās then, and al-'Abbās was not among the early converts to Islām, and did not have the exclusive qualities of 'Alī. As for his (i.e. the Prophet's) cousins, none of them was like 'Alī, and Ja'far had been killed before then.<sup>413</sup>

Here, our Shaykh contradicts his other position. Was the choice of the Prophet for the participants in the mubāhala from his side based solely upon their blood relationship to him or upon their individual merits? A question also arises as to why 'Āishah and all other wives of the Prophet were excluded. After all, the word used in the Verse of al-Mubāhala is nisā, which literally means "women". As such, it covered both wives and daughters. In fact, everywhere else in the Qur'ān, the phrase "women (nisā) of the Prophet" always referred to his wives<sup>414</sup>! In addition, in over 90% of cases, the word "women (nisā)" in the Book of Allāh means "wives"<sup>415</sup>. So, it is safe to conclude that the phrase "our women" in the Verse of al-Mubāhala is addressed first to the wives, and then to the daughters. Our Sunnī brothers have never been able to explain why the wives were not called to join in the mubāhala.

In any case, none of the wives of the Prophet – and they were also his primary "women" - was from his closest blood relatives. That would have been incest anyway, and therefore impossible. The fact that the word "women" has been used in the verse, and not "daughters", strengthens the theory that the selection process was NOT based upon blood relationship. Allāh Himself selected the people whom He knew to be the closest to the heart of His Messenger to participate with him in the mubāhala. He mentioned the categories to which they belonged, deliberately leaving them open for a clear point. Then the Prophet filled in the names. Imām al-Ḥākim (d. 403 H) declares:

وقد تواترت الاخبار في التفاسير عن عبد الله بن عباس وغيره أن رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم أخذ يوم المباهلة بيد علي وحسن وحسين وجعلوا فاطمة وراءهم ثم قال هؤلاء أبناءنا وأنفسنا نساؤنا فهلموا أنفسكم وأبناءكم ونساءكم ثم نبتهل فنجعل لعنة الله على الكاذبين

There have been mutawātir reports in the tafsīr books from 'Abd Allāh b. 'Abbās and others that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, on the Day of al-Mubāhala, held the hands of 'Alī, Ḥasan and Ḥusayn, and they positioned Fāṭimah behind them. Then he said, "These are our sons, ourselves and our women. So, bring yourselves, your sons and your women. Then we do mubāhala and place the Curse of Allāh <sup>415</sup> The word misā (women) has been used in the following verses: 2:49, 2:187, 2:222-223, 2:226, 2:231-232, 2:235-236, 3:14, 3:42, 3:61, 4:1, 4:3-4, 4:7, 4:11, 4:15, 4:19, 4:22-24, 4:32, 4:34, 4:43, 4:75, 4:98, 4:127, 4:129, 4:176, 5:6, 7:81, 7:127, 7:141, 12:30, 12:50, 14:6, 24:31, 24:60, 27:55, 28:4, 33:30, 33:32, 33:52, 33:55, 33:59, 40:25, 48:25, 49:11, 58:2-3, 65:1 and 65:4.

upon the liars (among us)."416

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah corroborates him:

وأما اية الابتهال ففي الصحيح أنها لما نزلت أخذ النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم بيد علي وفاطمة وحسن وحسين ليباهل بهم لكن خصهم بذلك لأنهم كانوا أقرب إليه من غيرهم فإنه لم يكن ولد ذكر إذ ذاك يمشي معه ولكن كان يقول عن الحسن إن ابني هذا سيد فهما ابناه ونساؤه إذ لم يكن قد بقى له بنت إلا فاطمة رضي الله عنها

As for the Verse of al-Ibtihāl (another word for al-Mubāhala), what is narrated in the ṣaḥāḥ (ḥadāth) is that when it was revealed, the Prophet, peace be upon him, held the hand of 'Alī, Fāṭimah, Ḥasan and Ḥusayn to do mubāhala with them (against the Najrānīs). However, he limited that to them because they were the closest of all people to him. This was because he did not have a son who would have walked with him. However, he used to say about al-Ḥasan, "This son of mine is a master". Therefore, both of them (i.e. al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn) were his sons. As for his women, he had no other surviving daughter except Fāṭimah, may Allāh be pleased with her.<sup>417</sup>

Well, the Prophet had other "women", such as 'Āishah, Ḥafṣah, Umm Salamah, and several others. Why did he not call them?

No doubt, the people that the Messenger of Allāh cared most for were 'Alī, Fāṭimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn. Luckily, by Allāh's Mercy, these people who were the closest to his heart - fell into the same categories as what obtains in most similar cases. Therefore, it was possible to organize a mubāhala with the Najrānī delegation on the same terms. There is a particular point on the word "ourselves". It is represented by two people, namely the Prophet and Amīr al-Mūminīn, in the mubāhala. The obvious implication of this is that the Messenger of Allāh cared of 'Alī at the same level as he cared for himself. In other words, Imām 'Alī was as close to the heart of the Prophet as the latter himself was to his own heart. This was why it was possible for Amīr al-Mūminīn to fit into the same category as the Messenger in the mubāhala.

Of course, when someone is close to your heart and you care for them, that is love! So, the most beloved of mankind to the Prophet of Allāh were 'Alī, Fāṭimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn, and this is confirmed by the Qur'ān. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah would have us believe that this love was based only upon blood relationship. However, Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Ismāʾīl – Layth – 'Amr b. Marrah – Muʾāwiyah b. Suwayd b. Muqarran – al-Barā b. 'Āzim:

We were sitting with the Prophet, peace be upon him, and he said ... "Verily, the central handhold of faith (īmān) is that you love for the sake of Allāh and that you hate for the sake of Allāh."418

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ says:

حديث حسن بشواهده

It is a hadith that is hasan through its witnesses.419

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) also records this ḥadīth:

The 'Allāmah states:

Hasan<sup>421</sup>

Is there anyone with a better faith (imān), or who is a better Muslim, than the Messenger of Allāh? Of course, there is none! Therefore, his love for 'Alī, Fāṭimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn was purely for the sake of Allāh. They were the most beloved creatures to Allāh after His Messenger. So, he loved them too more than everyone else. Our Lord also loves Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib more than Fāṭimah, al-Ḥasan and al-Ḥusayn. As such, His Prophet loved 'Alī as he loved himself. These facts were very widely known throughout the Islāmic world during the Messenger's lifetime. Even non-Muslims were aware of the names of the most beloved human beings to Muḥammad. This was why the Najrānī delegation raised no objection whatsoever to anyone in the Prophet's team for the mubāhala. They knew that those were the closest people to his heart, whom he cared for most, above everyone else. As such, they were the perfect and the only valid selection for the mubāhala from his side.

The Messenger was absolutely trustworthy. He never would have cheated. Since he expected the other side to involve their most beloved people in the mubāhala – in line with the rules of the game, he too would certainly have done like that. Moreover, if it had been known that there had been other people more beloved to him than his team, his own followers would have suspected the truth of his prophethood and his personal honesty. Otherwise, why would he need to cheat if he was correct in his claims? What would he have been afraid of? Besides, the Najrānī delegation too would have objected to his selection. They would have firmly demanded for an equal playing field. Since all parties were required to bring the most beloved of people to them into the mubāhala, why should the Prophet do otherwise? In fact, it was most probably what convinced them to opt out of the mubāhala. Muḥammad would never have involved his team in it knowing the implications - unless he was absolutely truthful in his claims. The Najrānī delegation, on their part, never dared involve their own teams, since they had doubts about their submissions!

As expected, Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah was not happy about the state of things, and did challenge the Messenger of Allāh on it. Al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H)

Imām Ahmad also has this:

Abū Bakr sought the permission of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, to enter his house, and heard the voice of 'Āishah, very loud. She was saying, "I swear by Allāh, I have discovered that 'Alī is more beloved to you than my father and me." She said it twice or thrice. So, Abū Bakr sought permission (again) and entered, and reached for her, and said, "O daughter of such-and-such woman! Apparently, the Prophet had tried to conceal the matter from her due to her notorious jealousy. But, it was too obvious, especially after the Incident of al-Muhāhala. So, she went on the offensive, and never relented thereafter. Eventually, she commanded a very bloody armed insurrection against Amīr al-Mūminīn during his khilāfah, and thousands of Muslims died tragically as a result. It is very significant that the Messenger of Allāh did not deny her claim. If she was wrong, he would have told her.

Yet, despite that, Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah continued to re-write history after the death of the Messenger. 'Allāmah al-Albānī reports her:

Imām Aḥmad (6/241) records: 'Abd al-Wāḥid al-Ḥadād – Kahmas – 'Abd Allāh b. Shaqīq:

UNDERSTANDING ITS BACKGROUND

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

الحديث الذي روى عن ابن عمر ماكنا نعرف المنافقين على عهد النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم إلا ببغضهم عليا فإن هذا مما يعلم كل عالم أنه كذب لأن النفاق له علامات كثيرة وأسباب متعددة غير بغض على فكيف لا يكون على النفاق علامة إلا بغض على

The hadīth which is narrated from Ibn 'Umar, ''We were not able to recognize the hypocrites during the lifetime of the Prophet, peace be upon him, except through their hatred of 'Alī', verily this is known to all scholars that it is a lie. This is because hypocrisy has several signs and causes apart from hatred of 'Alī. So, how could the hatred of 'Alī have been the only sign of hypocrisy?<sup>427</sup>

Our Shaykh then proceeds:

If he had said "We used to recognize the hypocrites through their hatred of 'Alī' then he would have been correct. They (the hypocrites) were also recognized through their hatred of the Anṣār, rather through the hatred of Abū Bakr and 'Umar, and through the hatred of these people. This is because everyone who hates anyone who is known to have been loved by the Prophet, peace be upon him, and who also loved the Prophet, peace be upon him, such hatred is a sign of hypocrisy. 428

This was during the lifetime of the Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. Our Shaykh accepts that hatred of 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, was truly then a sign of hypocrisy. What he rejects is the possibility that hatred of Amīr al-Mūminīn was the only sign to recognize hypocrisy – something that is NOT claimed in the hadīth anyway! To him, the determining question is: did the Prophet love the person being hated? If the answer were positive, then such hatred was unmistakable evidence of hypocrisy. Under this principle, anyone who hated Amīr al-Mūminīn during the lifetime of the Messenger was certainly a hypocrite. Our Shaykh has no problem with that. But then, he further insists that the same rule applied in favour of Abū Bakr and 'Umar too. It is his belief that the Prophet loved both of them more than Amīr al-Mūminīn. Therefore, hatred of either Abū Bakr or 'Umar would be an even bigger form of hypocrisy.

What about events after the death of the Messenger? Was love or hatred of someone, by the Prophet during his lifetime, evidence of their permanent, immutable status? In simpler words, once an individual was able to earn the love of Allāh and His Messenger, was it ever possible for him to forfeit it? This question stands at the centre of our research in this chapter. The Qur'ān states categorically several times that any individual who has become Allāh's beloved can also turn into His enemy *any*time! For instance, Allāh says to all His prophets:

And indeed it has been revealed to you (O Muḥammad), as it was revealed to those before you: if you commit idolatry, then surely all your deeds will be in vain, and you will certainly be among the losers.<sup>429</sup>

The Qur'an also states:

Say: "I fear, if I disobey my Lord, the torment of a Mighty Day." 430

Therefore, the love of Allāh for Muḥammad and all His promises of Paradise to him were conditioned upon his continued obedience and servitude to his Lord Alone. Should he have become otherwise during his lifetime, Allāh would have hated him and thrown him into Hellfire. As such, Muḥammad remained in constant fear of disobeying his Lord till his death. This was the case with the most beloved of all creation to Allāh. Apparently, the same condition applied indiscriminately to all the Ṣaḥābah, and to all beings till the Hour. So, even if any of them had earned the love of Allāh and His Prophet, the story did not end there. If he ever did certain acts, before or after the Messenger's death, he would forfeit such love.

Before proceeding further, we must ask whether the Messenger of Allāh, during his lifetime, loved 'Alī or not. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) answers with this hadīth:

Qutaybah b. Sa'īd and Muḥammad b. 'Ibād — Ḥātim b. Ismā'īl — Bukayr b. Musmār — 'Āmir b. Sa'īd b. Abī Waqqāṣ — his father (Sa'd b. Abī Waqqāṣ):

Mu'āwiyah commanded Sa'd, and therefore said, "What prevented you from cursing Abū al-Turāb (i.e. 'Alī)?" So, he (Sa'd) replied, "As long as I remember three things which the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said about him, I will never curse him. If just one of them had been for me, it would have been dearer to me than a red camel. I heard the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, saying to him. He made him his khalīfah during one of his military expeditions. So, 'Alī said to him, "O Messenger of Allāh, are you leaving me behind with women and children?" So, the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said to him, "Are you not pleased that you are to me of the status of Hārūn to Mūsā except that there is no prophethood after me?" And I heard him saying on the Day of Khaybar, "I will give the flag to a man who loves Allah and His Messenger, and Allāh and His Messenger too love him." So, we longed for it (i.e. the flag). Then he said, "Call 'Alī for me", and he was brought to him. He was sore-eyed. He applied saliva to his eye and gave the flag to him, and Allāh granted him victory. And when this verse was revealed {Say: Come, let us call our sons and your sons....} [3/61], the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, called 'Alī, Fāṭimah, Ḥasan and Ḥusayn, and said, "O Allāh! These are my family."431

There are three quick points from this ḥadāth, with specific reference to this chapter:

- 1. Mu'āwiyah commanded Sa'd to do something, before asking him why he (Sa'd) refused to curse 'Alī.
- 2. Sa'd did not have any of those three merits mentioned for 'Alī, and very strongly wished he did any of them.
- 3. Allāh and His Messenger loved 'Alī, and he loved them too.

So, what did Mu'āwiyah command Sa'd to do? In order to uncover what that was, we must pay attention to the former's question:

What prevented you from cursing Abū al-Turāb (i.e. 'Alī)?

In classical Arabic, this sentence structure was used to ask why a direct order had been disobeyed, by the commandant himself. In other words, if A ordered B to, say, hit C, and B refused to do so, then A would say to B, "What prevented you from hitting C?" The other manner in which it was applied was where A did not command B to do something, but was nonetheless unpleasantly surprised or shocked that B had not done it. So A would ask, "What prevented you from doing such-and-such?"

An example is in this verse:

He (Allāh) said, "O Iblīs! What prevented you from prostrating yourself to one whom I have created with Both My Hands?!<sup>432</sup>

Another is here:

He (Allāh) said, "What prevented you (O Iblīs) that you did not prostrate when I commanded you personally?" 433

An example of the other use of that expression can be found here:

He (Mūsā) said, "O Hārūn! What prevented you when you saw them going astray?" 434

We know that the situation of Sa'd fell into the first category. There was an explicit order to do something. As such, from Mu'āwiyah's question, we realize that he had ordered Sa'd to curse 'Alī. Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah agrees:

وأما حديث سعد لما أمره معاوية بالسب فأبى فقال ما منعك أن تسب علي بن أبي طالب فقال ثلاث قالهن رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فلن أسبه لأن يكون لي واحدة منهن أحب إلي من حمر النعم الحديث فهذا حديث صحيح رواه مسلم في صحيحه

As for the <code>hadīth</code> of Sa'd, when Mu'āwiyah commanded him to curse, and he refused, and he (Mu'āwiyah) therefore said, "What prevented you from cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib?", and he replied, "There are three things that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said. So, I will never curse him. If just one of them had been for me, it would have been dearer to me than a red camel", this <code>hadīth</code> is <code>sahīh</code>. Muslim has narrated it.<sup>435</sup>

In simpler words, Mu'āwiyah ordered Sa'd to curse someone who was loved by the Messenger during his lifetime. So, one asks: did 'Alī forfeit this love after the Prophet's death, before Mu'āwiyah's command to Sa'd? Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah even has some more news for us:

و معلوم أن الله قد جعل للصحابة مودة في قلب كل مسلم لا سيما الخلفاء رضي الله عنهم لا سيما أبو بكر و عمر فان عأمةالصحابة و التابعين كانوا يودونهما و كانوا خير القرون و لم يكن كذلك علي فان كثيرا من الصحابة و التابعين كانوا يبغضونه و يسبونه و يقاتلونه

What is known is that Allāh has certainly put the love of the Ṣaḥābah in the hearts of every Muslim, especially love of the khalifahs, may Allāh be pleased with them, especially love of Abū Bakr and 'Umar. This is because the generality of the Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn loved them both, and they (i.e. Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn) were the best of generations. But, the matter was not the same for 'Alī, for A LOT of the Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn used to hate, curse and fight him.<sup>436</sup>

The question is: why? Had 'Alī had forfeited the love of Allāh and His Messenger for him? Had he become worthy of hatred, curses and armed hostility? This is the big test for our Sunnī brothers. If 'Alī had not forfeited the love of Allāh and His Messenger for himself, then those Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn who hated, cursed or fought him had forfeited their own, if any! Allāh has said:

And Allāh does NOT love the unjust people.437

It all boils down to whether those Ṣaḥābah and Tābi'īn treated 'Alī justly by hating, cursing and fighting him. If they had NOT done so, then they all forfeited Allāh's prior love for them with those unjust actions. In line with our Shaykh's words, they also turned hypocrites:

This is because everyone who hates anyone who is known to have been loved by the Prophet, peace be upon him, and who also loved the Prophet, peace be upon him, such hatred is a sign of hypocrisy.<sup>438</sup>

The Sunnī dilemma explodes here. Their theology is based on a rigid theory that all the Ṣaḥābah earned Allāh's love and never forfeited it. How do they treat the case of those of them who hated, cursed and fought 'Alī - like Mu'āwiyah and Umm al-Mūminīn 'Āishah? Our Sunnī brothers want to eat the cake, and still have it! To them, those Ṣaḥābah were not unjust people, and therefore never forfeited Allāh's love for them. Does this mean that 'Alī truly deserved their hatred, curses and armed hostility? Sunnī Islām says "no" again. 'Alī remained a loyal, beloved friend of Allāh throughout his lifetime, and never deserved anyone's hatred, curse or hostility!

&lt;sup>438</sup> Abū al-'Abbās Aḥmad b. 'Abd al-Ḥalīm b. Taymiyyah al-Ḥarrānī, Minhāj al-Sunnah al-Nabawiyyah (Muasassat Qurṭubah; 1st edition, 1406 H) [annotator: Dr. Muḥammad Rashād Sālim], vol. 4, p. 300

The 'Allamah comments:

Al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) concurs:

(Ṣaḥiḥ) upon the standard of al-Bukhārī and Muslim.443

The game changes here completely. Allāh made the love of 'Alī an umbilical part of His Own love. He equally made the hatred of 'Alī like that. This grand merit was exclusive to 'Alī alone among all the Ṣaḥābah. A few points can be gleaned from it:

- 1. Allāh would never hate 'Alī, because doing so would mean hating Himself and His Messenger.
- 2. Therefore, Allāh in His infinite wisdom, justice and mercy would always protect 'Alī from doing anything that could harm His love for him, just as He did with His Prophet.
- 3. There can be no excuse or justification ever for hating 'Alī not even ignorance or mistake just as there can be none for hating Allāh or His Messenger. The love of Allāh, His Messenger and 'Alī is one, and so is their hatred.
- 4. Whosoever hates 'Alī whether by the heart, or by words, or by deeds is guilty of hating Allāh and His Messenger. As such, all the Ṣaḥābah who hated, cursed or fought 'Alī hated Allāh and His Messenger no matter what the Sunnīs believe or say.

This is the point. The Ṣaḥābah, like the rest of the Ummah, earned, lost, regained, re-lost, etc Allāh's love as well, depending on their current actions. This was the case even during the Prophet's lifetime. Imām Aḥmad (d. 241

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبي ثنا يحيى بن سعيد ثنا عبد الجليل قال انتهيت إلى حلقة فيها أبو مجلز وبن بريدة فقال عبد الله بن بريدة حدثني أبي بريدة قال: أبغضت عليا بغضا لم يبغضه أحد قط .... وقال أتبغض عليا قال قلت نعم قال فلا تبغضه وان كنت تحبه فازدد له حبا .... فما كان من الناس أحد بعد قول رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم أحب إلى من على

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Yaḥyā b. Sa'īd – 'Abd al-Jalīl – Abd Allāh b. Buraydah – my father, Buraydah:

I hated 'Alī with a hatred that I never hated anyone else.... And he (the Prophet) said (to me), "Do you hate 'Alī?" I said, "Yes". He said, "Do not hate him, and if you love him, then increase your love for him".... Therefore, after the statement of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, there was no person among all mankind who was more beloved to me than 'Alī.<sup>444</sup>

Shaykh al-Arnāūţ says:

It is a saḥāḥ ḥadāth, and this chain is ḥasan due to 'Abd al-Jalīl.445

Buraydah was an extreme hater of Allāh and His Messenger. At that point, he certainly had lost Allāh's love for him. However, when the Prophet advised him, and he obeyed, he re-earned Allāh's love once more. During his anti-'Alī days, whoever hated him was NOT a hypocrite. In fact, it could be praiseworthy to hate him then. Meanwhile, the moment he loved 'Alī above everyone else except the Messenger of Allāh, it became harām to hate him. The bottomline is: the Ṣaḥābah – like everyone else – fluctuated between love and hatred of Allāh and His Messenger, depending upon their current actions. So, it may be compulsory to love them at one point, and harām to do so at another. As such, love or hatred of any of them was not (and is not) a failproof measure to determine anyone's hypocrisy. The only exception among them was 'Alī. He stayed permanently within Allāh's love, and was protected by Him from ever losing it, till his death. Therefore, hatred of him – like that of the Prophet - always produces the same result anytime anywhere. It was, and still is – after that of the Messenger - the best bet to unearth the hypocrites.

PROVING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H) records:

'Abd Allāh (b. Aḥmad) – my father (Aḥmad b. Ḥanbal) – Aswad b. 'Āmir – Isrāīl – al-A'mash – Abū Sālih – Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī:

We were able to recognize the hypocrites among the Anṣār only through their hatred of 'Alī.<sup>446</sup>

Al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H) says about the first narrator:

'Abd Allāh b. Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal al-Shaybānī, Abū 'Abd al-Raḥman: son of the Imām, thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>447</sup>

Aḥmad b. Muḥammad b. Ḥanbal b. Hilāl b. Asad al-Shaybānī al-Marūzī, a Baghdād resident, Abū 'Abd Allāh: One of the Imāms, thiqah (trustworthy), ḥāfiz, jurist, hujjah (an authority).

Concerning the third narrator, al-Ḥāfiẓ says:

Al-Aswad b. 'Āmir al-Shāmī, he lived in Baghdād, and was nicknamed Abū 'Abd al-Raḥman and given the laqab Shādhān: Thiqah (trustworthy).<sup>449</sup>

The fourth narrator is like that as well, as stated by al-Ḥāfiẓ:

Isrāīl b. Yūnus b. Abī Isḥāq al-Sabī'ī al-Hamdānī, Abū Yūsuf al-Kūfī: Thiqah (trustworthy). He is criticized without evidence.<sup>450</sup>

Al-A'mash, the fifth narrator, is thiqah (trustworthy) too, according to al-Hāfiz:

Sulaymān b. Mahrān al-Asadī al-Kāhilī, Abū Muḥammad al-Kūfī al-A'mash: Thiqah (trustworthy), *ḥāfī*z (a ḥadīth scientist), a scholar of al-qirāāt (Qur'ānic recitation modes), pious. However, he used to do tadlīs.451

About the last narrator, al-Hāfiz has these words:

Dhakwān Abū Ṣāliḥ al-Samān al-Zayāt al-Madanī: Thiqah (trustworthy), thabt (accurate).<sup>452</sup>

All the narrators are therefore trustworthy, and the chain is well-connected. The only issue is that al-A'mash was a mudalis, and has narrated in an 'an-'an manner. So, does this affect the hadīth? The answer is a negative. Al-A'mash's 'an-'an reports from Abū Ṣāliḥ are accepted by scholars of the Ahl al-Sunnah. They apparently reject any notion that al-A'mash did tadlīs in his reports from Abū Ṣāliḥ, even in his 'an-'an reports. For instance, Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records this 'an-'an chain in his Ṣaḥiḥ:

Zuhayr b. Ḥarb – Jarīr – al-A'mash – Abū Ṣāliḥ – Abū Hurayrah<sup>453</sup> have all also declared chains containing 'an-'an transmission by al-A'mash from Abū Ṣāliḥ to be ṣaḥiḥ. With this, it is obvious that the ḥadīth of Abū Sa'īd al-Khudrī above, recorded by Imām Aḥmad, has a perfectly sahīh chain.

The hadīth establishes some very crucial points. The first is that there were hypocrites among the Anṣār. Of course, the Anṣār were Ṣaḥābah. Therefore, there were hypocrites among the Ṣaḥābah. Interestingly, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah agrees on this point too:

This is why Ahmad b. Hanbal and other scholars said that there was no hypocrite among the Muhājirūn and that hypocrisy existed only within the tribes of the Ansar....

And this is why hypocrisy is mentioned only in the Madīnan suwar (chapters of the Qur'an). As for the Makkan suwar, there is no mention in them of hypocrites.<sup>459</sup>

Well, in one of the earliest Makkan surah, Allāh does mention the existence of Muslims "in whose hearts is a disease" during the Makkan era<sup>460</sup>. Apparently, our Shaykh and the classical Sunnī scholars missed that crucial fact!

Whatever the case, the fact that hypocrites existed among the Anṣār – at the least - fatally undermines the Sunnī doctrine that all the Sahābah earned Allāh's love, and that none of them ever forfeited it. Allāh does not love hypocrites. By contrast, He has cursed them:

وعد الله المنافقين والمنافقات والكفار نار جمنم خالدين فيها هي حسبهم ولعنهم الله ولهم عذاب مقيم

Allāh has promised the hypocrites, men and women, and the disbelievers, the Fire of Jahannam. They shall remain therein forever. It will be sufficient for them. Allāh has also cursed them, and for them is the lasting torment.<sup>461</sup>

So, there were people cursed by Allāh, and who shall reside forever in Jahannam, among the Ṣaḥābah.

The second point in the <code>hadīth</code> is that the righteous Saḥābah were unable to recognize the hypocritical Saḥābah except through the latter's hatred of 'Alī. It is noteworthy that there is no claim whatsoever that hatred of Amīr al-Mūminīn was the <code>only</code> sign of hypocrisy. Rather, it was the most effective, the only failproof tool. All the other signs – such as lying, failure to fulfil promises, laziness during <code>Ṣalāt</code>, and so on – could be found in some people who were not hypocrites too, albeit in smaller quantities. However, as for hatred of 'Alī, it is an <code>absolute</code> proof of hypocrisy. It is wholly impossible for a true believer to hate him in <code>any</code> circumstance, in line with the testimony of the Messenger of Allāh.

Imām Muslim records:

حدثنا أبو بكر بن أبي شيبة حدثنا وكيع وأبو معاوية عن الأعمش ح وحدثنا يحيى بن يجيى (واللفظ له) أخبرنا أبو معاوية عن الأعمش عن عدي بن ثابت عن زر قال قال علي والذي فلق الحبة وبرأ النسمة إنه لعهد النبي الأمي صلى الله عليه وسلم إلى أن لا يحبني إلا مؤمن ولا يبغضني إلا منافق

Imām Aḥmad also records his mutāba'ah for Ibn Abī Shaybah:

ESTABLISHING ITS AUTHENTICITY

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

Rather, interpreting it like that is impossible, because there is none who is equal to the Messenger of Allāh, neither 'Alī nor any other person.<sup>468</sup>

We agree with our Shaykh that neither Abū Bakr nor 'Umar was like, similar or equal to, the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, in absolutely any way or form. However, it seems that the Shaykh has not properly understood the Shī'ī position. We never claim total equality between the Prophet and the Amīr. What we profess, instead, is that 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, reached the level of the Messenger in many of his merits. In other words, in a lot of qualities, ranks and statuses, both the Prophet and the Amīr were, and are, equal. However, in all others, the Messenger of Allāh was, and is, infinitely superior to 'Alī. Overall, the Prophet was, and is, the master, teacher and saviour of 'Alī in both this world and the next.

Imām al-Nasāī (d. 303 H) records an authentic ḥadīth that confirms just that:

أخبرنا العباس بن محمد قال حدثنا الأحوص بن جواب قال حدثنا يونس بن أبي إسحاق عن أبي إسحاق عن زيد بن يثيع عن أبي ذر قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم لينتهين بنو وليعة أو لأبعثن إليهم رجلا كنفسي ينفذ فيهم أمري فيقتل المقاتلة ويسبي الذرية فما راعني إلا وكف عمر في حجزتي من خلفي من يعني فقلت ما إياك يعني ولا صاحبك قال فمن يعني قلت خاصف النعل قال وعلي يخصف نعلا

Al-'Abbās b. Muḥammad – al-Aḥwaṣ b. Jawāb – Yūnus b. Abī Isḥāq – Abū Isḥāq – Zayd b. Yathī' – Abū Dharr:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "If the Banū Walī'ah do not desist, I will appoint over them a man who is exactly like myself to implement my command among them. So, he will execute the combatants and take the offspring as war captives."

I had not even moved when 'Umar held my cloth and asked, "Who is he referring to?" I replied, "He is not referring to you or your companion (i.e. Abū Bakr)." He said, "In that case, who is he referring to?" So, I said, "(He is) referring to the one repairing the shoe." And 'Alī was repairing a shoe.<sup>469</sup>

'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H) says about this report:

قلت: وهذا إسناد رجاله ثقات؛ لكن أبا إسحاق - وهو السبيعي - مدلس، وكان اختلط، وابنه يونس روى عنه بعد اختلاطه.

I say: This chain, all its narrators are trustworthy. However, Abū Isḥāq – and he is al-Sabī'ī – was a mudalis, and he became confused, and his son Yūnus narrated from him after he had become confused.<sup>470</sup>

So, all the narrators are trustworthy. However, Abū Isḥāq was a mudalis, and has narrated in an 'an-'an manner. Moreover, his son, Yūnus, allegedly narrated from him only after he (Abū Isḥāq) had become confused. These are 'Allāmah al-Albānī's only objections to the authenticity of the ḥadīth.

The arguments of our 'Allāmah are a bit disappointing. While it is true that Abū Isḥāq was a mudalis, his tadlīs was largely of the harmless grade. Therefore, his 'an-'an reports are accepted without objection. Let us briefly examine how the muḥadithūn of the Ahl al-Sunnah have treated a well-known, strictly 'an-'an narration of Abū Isḥāq. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records:

حدثنا عبدالله بن مسلمة بن قعنب حدثنا معتمر بن سليان عن أبيه عن رقبة بن مسقلة عن أبي إسحاق عن سعيد بن جبير عن ابن عباس عن أبي بن كعب قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم إن الغلام الذي قتله الخضر طبع كافرا ولو عاش لأرهق أبويه طغيانا وكفرا

'Abd Allāh b. Musalamah b. Qa'nab — Mu'tamir b. Sulaymān — his father — Raqabah b. Masqalah — Abū Isḥāq — Sa'īd b. Jubayr — Ibn 'Abbās — Ubayy b. Ka'b:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, said, "Verily, the boy killed by al-Khidr was created an unbeliever. If he had lived, he would have grieved his parents with his obstinate rebellion (against Allāh) and disbelief (in Allāh)".<sup>471</sup>

Abū Ishāq has narrated it 'an-'an, and Imām Muslim has nonetheless accepted the hadīth as ṣaḥīḥ. Imām Ahmad b. Hanbal (d. 241 H) has also included the same rināyah with the same 'an-'an chain in his Musnad<sup>472</sup>. Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ comments about it this way:

&lt;sup>471</sup> Abū al-Ḥusayn Muslim b. al-Ḥajjāj al-Qushayrī al-Naysābūrī, Ṣaḥīḥ Muslim (Beirut: Dār Iḥyā al-Turāth al-'Arabī) [annotator: Muḥammad Fuād 'Abd al-Bāqī], vol. 4, p. 2050, # 2661 (29)

Its chain is şaḥāḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs.<sup>473</sup>

Imām al-Tirmidhī (d. 279 H) has equally documented it with Abū Isḥāq's 'an-'an narration<sup>474</sup>. Al-Tirmidhī says:

هذا حديث حسن صحيح غريب

This hadīth is hasan sahīh gharīb.475

Interestingly, even 'Allāmah al-Albānī accepts its authenticity:

صحيح

Sahīh476

Elsewhere, the 'Allāmah explains his decision:

ثنا محمد بن أبي بكر المقدمي ثنا معتمر بن سليمان عن أبيه عن رقبة بن مسقلة عن أبي إسحاق عن الله عن النبي صلى الله على وسلم قال: الغلام الذي قتله الخضر طبع كافرا.

إسناده صحيح على شرط الشيخين مع ما في النفس من عنعنة أبي إسحاق وهو عمرو ابن عبد الله السبيعي فإني لم أجد تصريحه بالتحديث في شيء من الروايات عنه مع أنه كان اختلط لكن لعل رقبة بن مسقلة سمعه منه قبل الاختلاط فإنه قديم الوفاة فقد مات سنة 129 وهي السنة التي مات فيها ابو إسحاق نفسه فهو من أقرانه.

Muḥammad b. Abī Bakr al-Muqaddamī — Mu'tamir b. Sulaymān — his father — Raqabah b. Masqalah — Abū Isḥāq — Sa'īd b. Jubayr — Ibn 'Abbās — Ubayy b. Ka'b — the Prophet, peace be upon him:

Its chain is ṣaḥīḥ upon the standard of the two Shaykhs, despite what is in the heart concerning its 'an-'an narration by Abū Isḥāq, and his real name was 'Amr b. 'Abd Allāh al-Sabī'ī. I have NOT found any explicit taḥdīth (i.e. non-'an-'an transmission) of it by him in the reports, despite that he also became confused. However, maybe Raqabah b. Masqalah heard it from him before he became confused because he (Raqabah) died early (in history). His (i.e. Raqabah's) death was in 129 H, and it was the year of Abū Isḥāq's death too. Therefore, they both were contemporaries.<sup>477</sup>

So, the 'an-'an report of Abū Isḥāq is accepted as ṣaḥiḥ upon the standard of both al-Bukhārī and Muslim by the leading muḥadithūn of the Ahl al-Sunnah, including 'Allāmah al-Albānī himself. But then, al-Ḥāfiz (d. 852 H) documents a rather interesting dissenting viewpoint concerning Abū Isḥāq's 'an-'an reports:

Shu'bah said: "Whenever Abū Isḥāq narrated to me in an 'an 'an form from any person, I used to say to him, 'Is he older than you?' If he answered, 'Yes', then I would know that he met (the narrator) [i.e. there was no tadlīs in the report]. But, if he said, 'I am older than him', I would abandon him."<sup>478</sup>

In other words, Shu'bah assured us that *wheneve*r Abū Isḥāq transmitted from people older than him, he never did tadlīs, even if he narrated in an 'an-'an manner from them. This is very crucial. Shu'bah was of an ultra-strict attitude towards Abū Isḥāq's tadlīs. So, he would not accept even the above ḥadīth of the boy, since Sa'īd b. Jubayr was far younger than Abū Isḥāq<sup>479</sup>. Yet, despite this, Ḥadīth al-Tashbīh passes his ultra-strict standards and is covered by his expert assurance. Zayd b. Yathī' was much older than Abū

Isḥāq. Al-Ḥāfiz states:

Zayd b. Yathī'.... al-Ḥamadānī al-Kūfī: Thiqah (trustworthy). He witnessed both the Jāhiliyyah and the Islāmic era. 480

Therefore, Zayd b. Yathī' was born even before any verse of the Qur'ān was revealed! This means that he was even older than a lot of the Ṣaḥābah. Meanwhile, al-Ḥāfiz further records this about Abū Isḥāq:

Abū Bakr b. 'Ayyāsh said: Abū Isḥāq died while he was 100 years old or thereabout.<sup>481</sup>

Since he died in 129 AH, that means he was born in 29 AH. As such, Zayd b. Yathī' was decades older than him. Based upon the testimony of Shu'bah, the 'an-'an reports of Abū Isḥāq from him were, without doubt, free from tadlīs. But, even if we ignored Shu'bah's assurance, Ḥadīth al-Tashbīh would still pass through, considering the lenient attitude of Sunnī muḥadithūn to Abū Isḥāq's patently 'an-'an reports generally. With these facts, the first leg of 'Allāmah al-Albānī's criticism against Ḥadīth al-Tashbīh is cut off from its root completely.

The 'Allāmah further asserts that Yūnus heard from his father, Abū Isḥāq, only after the latter had become confused due to memory loss. The question is: where is the evidence? There is none! In fact, this submission of our 'Allāmah is more farfetched statement than the other. Yūnus was largely contemporaneous with his father. He even met Anas, one of the senior Ṣaḥābah! Imām al-Dhahabī (d. 748 H) states about him:

Yūnus b. Abī Isḥāq 'Amr b. 'Abd Allāh al-Hamdānī al-Sabī'ī al-Kūfī: He narrated from Anas ... I say: Yūnus died in 159 AH, and he was close to 90, if not older.<sup>482</sup>

So, when Abū Ishāq died in 129 AH, Yūnus was already about 60 years old. Does it make sense to claim that such a person narrated from Abū Ishāq only during the latter's last days when his memory deteriorated?<sup>483</sup> He even narrated from Anas who apparently died decades before his father!<sup>484</sup> Al-Hāfiz tells us more why 'Allāmah al-Albānī's submission was completely out-of-touch with reality, while writing about Abū Ishāq:

His son (Yūnus) narrated from him, as well as his grandson Isr $\bar{a}$ l b. Yūnus and his other grandson Yūsuf b. Is $h\bar{a}$ q.<sup>485</sup>

If Yūnus could not hear any aḥādīth from his father until the latter's last period on earth, when exactly did the grandsons take from Abū Isḥāq? Obviously, Yūnus heard aḥādīth from Abū Isḥāq long before the latter lost his memory. No wonder, Imām Ibn Khuzaymah has included a chain in which Yūnus has narrated 'an-'an from Abū Isḥāq, who in turn has also transmitted 'an-'an from the Ṣaḥābī, in his Ṣaḥīḥ<sup>486</sup> while Shaykh Dr. al-A'zamī further declares that sanad to be ṣaḥāḥ.<sup>487</sup> Shaykh Dr. Asad has equally graded an exactly similar chain as saḥāḥ. 488 Meanwhile, Shaykh al-Arnāūṭ prefers to class an identical sanad only as ḥasan. 489 Basically, 'Allāmah al-Albānī has no valid objection to Ḥadīth al-Tashbīh. It has a saḥāḥ chain. The narration (including 'an-'an) of Yūnus from his father, Abū Isḥāq, is ṣaḥāḥ. Furthermore, the 'an-'an transmission of Abū Isḥāq from Zayd b. Yathī' is equally of the perfectly ṣaḥāḥ grade, in any circumstance.

Ḥadīth al-Tashbīh, as narrated by Abū Dharr, is supported by this shāhid documented by Imām 'Abd al-Razzāq (d. 211 H):

'Abd al-Razzāq – Ma'mar – Ibn Ṭāwūs – his father – al-Muṭalib b. 'Abd Allāh b. Ḥanṭab:

The Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, when the delegation of (Banū) Thaqīf came (to him), said (to them), "You either submit or I appoint a man from me or who is my similarity, and he will hit your necks and take your offspring as war prisoners, and will confiscate your properties." So, 'Umar said, "I swear by Allāh, I never wished for power except on that day. I volunteered for it, wishing that he would say, "This is the one". But, he instead looked towards 'Alī, and held his hand and said, "This is the one. This is the one."

There is no doubt that this is an effective strengthening shāhid for the report of Abū Dharr. So, even if, for the sake of argument, the invalid submissions of 'Allāmah al-Albānī concerning Abū Dharr's ḥadīth are accepted, the above narration of al-Muṭalib nonetheless raises its grade to at least ḥasan.

31 ḤADĪTH AL-TASHBĪH

INSTANCES OF EQUALITY

When the Prophet, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, described Amīr al-Mūminīn, 'alaihi al-salām, as being "exactly like" himself, or his own "similarity", what was he saying? Was he talking about physical identicalness? Or, was it about tribal affiliations? What was it exactly? Basically, those statements have deliberately been made general and left open by the Messenger of Allāh. As such, everything is the same between them both except whatever has been excluded as exceptions. In other words, the only differences between the Nabī and the Amīr are those that have been proved through the Qur'ān or authentic aḥādīth. In everything else, they were, and are, the same.

Meanwhile, it would not be inappropriate to cite a few examples of equality between the Messenger of Allāh and Imām 'Alī. 'Allāmah al-Albānī (d. 1420 H), for instance, records that the Prophet said:

Whosoever loves 'Alī has loved me, and whosoever hates 'Alī has hated me.<sup>492</sup>

The 'Allāmah says:

Sahih493

In simple terms, the obligations to love the Messenger, and to love Amīr al-Mūminīn, are the same. Love or hatred of either of them attracts the same recognition, reward or punishment from Allāh the Almighty. Interestingly, Imām 'Alī was not the only one with this status. Imām Abū Ya'lā (d. 307 H) further records:

حدثنا أبو هشام الرفاعي حدثنا ابن فضيل حدثنا سالم بن أبي حفصة عن أبي حازم عن أبي هريرة قال : قال رسول الله ـ صلى الله عليه و سلم: من أحب الحسن والحسين فقد أحبني ومن أبغضها فقد أبغضني

Shaykh Dr. Asad says:

Its chain is hasan.495

Imām Ibn Majah (d. 273 H) has also recorded the ḥadīth through a different ṭarīq (route):

حدثنا علي بن محمد حدثنا وكيع عن سفيان عن داود بن أبي عوف أبي الجحاف وكان مرضيا عن أبي حازم عن أبي هريرة قال قال رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم من أحب الحسن والحسين فقد أحبني ومن أبغضها فقد أبغضني

'Abd al-Bāqī states:

Its chain is *şaḥi*ḥ. Its narrators are trustworthy. 497

'Allāmah al-Albānī also comments:

Hasan<sup>498</sup>

So, the Prophet, Amīr al-Mūminīn, Imām al-Ḥasan and Imām al-Ḥusayn, 'alaihim al-salām, were, and are, all equal in terms of love and hatred from any others among the creation. Moreover, their love has been umbilically fused by Allāh. Therefore, just as there can never be an excuse – including even ignorance or mistake - for hating the Prophet, there can be none either with regards to any other among them. Their love is one indivisible entity, and so is their hatred.

The significance of the above reports is better reflected in this ḥadīth, copied by 'Allāmah al-Albānī:

من أحب عليا فقد أحبني ومن أحبني فقد أحب الله عز وجل ومن أبغض عليا فقد أبغضني ومن أبغضني فقد أبغض الله عز وجل.

Whosoever loves 'Alī has loved me. And whosoever loves me has loved Allāh the Almighty. Moreover, whosoever hates 'Alī has hated me. And whosoever hates me has hated Allāh the Almighty. 499

The 'Allamah comments:

Al-Mukhliş recorded it in al-Favāid al-Muntaqāt (10/5/1) with a şaḥāḥ chain from Umm Salamah.<sup>500</sup>

In other words:

- Love of Muḥammad is love of Allāh, and hatred of Muḥammad is hatred of Allāh.
- 2. Love of 'Alī is love of Allāh, and hatred of 'Alī is hatred of Allāh.
- Love of al-Ḥasan is love of Allāh, and hatred of al-Ḥasan is hatred of Allāh.
- Love of al-Ḥusayn is love of Allāh, and hatred of al-Ḥusayn is hatred of Allāh.

So, Amīr al-Mūminīn, Imām al-Ḥasan and Imām al-Ḥusayn are equal with the Messenger of Allāh in terms of the love or hatred of any of them. Our focus at this point, of course, is only Amīr al-Mūminīn.

Another area of equality between the Prophet of Allāh and Imām 'Alī is indicated in this ḥadīth documented by Imām Aḥmad (d. 241 H):

حدثنا عبد الله حدثني أبى ثنا يحيى بن أبى بكير قال ثنا إسرائيل عن أبى إسحاق عن أبي عبد الله الجدلي قال دخلت على أم سلمة فقالت لي أيسب رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم فيكم قلت معاذ الله أو سبحان الله أو كلمة نحوها قالت سمعت رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم يقول من سب عليا فقد سبنى

It is natural logic, anyway. Cursing is an act of hatred. So, whosoever curses 'Alī apparently hates him. By that very token, such a person is guilty of hating Allāh. Looking further, there is yet another point of equality between the Nabī and the Amīr. 'Allāmah al-Albānī documents this ḥadīth:

<sup>509</sup> Ibid

In Islām, to hurt someone means to do anything that causes physical or emotional discomfort to them. For example, notice what Allāh has said here:

And the two persons among you who commit it (i.e. fornication), hurt them both.<sup>511</sup>

This is clearly about physical hurt. Let us compare that with this noble verse:

O you who believe! Do not be like those who hurt Mūsā, but Allāh cleared him of that which they said, and he was honourable before Allāh.<sup>512</sup>

They made incorrect statements about Mūsā, 'alaihi al-salām. Such statements apparently hurt the feelings and image of this noble prophet. Therefore, to Allāh, they had thereby hurt him. Another example is given in this <code>hadīth</code> documented by Imām al-Ḥākim:

أخبرني محمد بن أحمد بن تميم القنطري ثنا أبو قلابة الرقاشي ثنا أبو عاصم عن عبد الله بن المؤمل حدثني أبو بكر بن عبيد الله بن أبي ملكية عن أبيه قال جاء رجل من أهل الشام فسب عليا عند ابن عباس فحصبه ابن عباس فقال : يا عدو الله آذيت رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم إن الذين يؤذون الله ورسوله لعنهم الله في الدنيا والآخرة وأعد لهم عذايا محمينا لو كان رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم حيا لاذيته

There is a lot of fawaid in this hadith. Some of them are listed below:

- 1. Cursing 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib falls under the act of hurting him.
- 2. Whoever hurts 'Alī is an enemy of Allāh.
- 3. Whoever hurts 'Alī falls under Qur'ān 33:57
- 4. 'Alī b. Abī Ṭālib does not need to be physically present before the hurt is done. As long as the act would have hurt him had he been present or would have hurt his name, the crime is completed.
- 5. Whatsoever hurts 'Alī also hurts the Messenger of Allāh, and by extension Allāh.
- 6. Therefore, whoever hurts 'Alī has hurt Allāh and His Messenger.

There is no doubt that if Amīr al-Mūminīn had been physically present when the Syrian man was cursing him, his feelings would have been hurt. Since whatsoever hurts 'Alī also hurts the Prophet, it is then the case that the feelings of the latter too would have been hurt. This is what matters in the Sight of Allāh. Would the feelings of 'Alī have been hurt if he were present? If the answer were positive, then indeed the treason is committed.

Ibn 'Abbās, raḍiyallāhu 'anhu, quoted this verse as applying to all cases where 'Alī has been hurt:

Verily, those who hurt Allāh and His Messenger, Allāh has cursed them in this world, and in the Hereafter, and has prepared for them a humiliating torment.<sup>516</sup>

This is the case with 'Alī. Whoever hurts the Prophet has hurt Allāh. Therefore, Allāh will curse such a person in both this world and the next, and will throw him into Hellfire. The same is exactly the case with 'Alī. Whosoever hurts Amīr al-Mūminīn has hurt Allāh too. As such, the same punishments that apply in the case of the Messenger also apply in the case of the Amīr.

By contrast, if any believer - other than 'Alī - had been hurt, the applicable laws are different! Our Creator states:

And those who hurt the believing men and women undeservedly bear on themselves the crime of slander and plain sin.<sup>517</sup>

This verse proves the absolute superiority of Amīr al-Mūminīn over the entire Ummah. If any Muslim is hurt – whether physically or emotionally – the first question to ask is: did he deserve the hurt? In other words, there are cases when the body or feelings of a believer can be deservedly hurt. In such cases, there is no retribution against the person causing the hurt. Even then, where the hurt was undeserved, the offender is only guilty of slander and sin. Therefore, the punishment is different from what is applicable in the cases of the Messenger of Allāh and Amīr al-Mūminīn. Allāh has conjoined hurt of Himself with hurt of His Messenger with nāw al- mushārikah — the conjunction of partnership. In other words, whatsoever applies for Allāh, in any case that He is hurt, also applies for His Messenger in any similar circumstance. So, since Allāh never deserves to be hurt, then His Messenger too is of the same status. By extension, Amīr al-Mūminīn as well can never be justifiably hurt. Allāh has protected both the Nabī and the Amīr from ever deserving to be hurt, either physically or emotionally.

32 ḤADĪTH AL-IKHTIYĀR

EXAMINING THE VERSE OF THE CAVE

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah (d. 728 H) states:

يقول الله إلا تنصروه فقد نصره الله إذ أخرجه الذين كفروا ثاني اثنين إذ هما في الغار إذ يقول لصاحبه لا تحزن أن الله معنا

و مثل هذه الفضيلة لم تحصل لغير أبي بكر قطعا ... و الأفضلية إنما تثبت بالخصائص لا بالمشتركات ... و قد قال العلماء ما صح لعلي من الفضائل فهي مشتركة شاركه فيها غيره بخلاف الصديق فان كثيرا من فضائله و ا كثرها خصائص له لا يشركه فيها غيره

Allāh says: {If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out, the second of two, when they both were in the cave, when he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us."} (9:40)

This merit never reached absolutely anyone other than Abū Bakr ... And superiority is established only through exclusive merits, and not through shared qualities ... The scholars have said: "What has been authentically transmited among the merits of 'Alī are only shared qualities, which others too share with him, as opposed to al-Ṣiddīq, for lots of his merits and most of them are exclusive to him, and not

In other words, the above verse establishes the superiority of Abū Bakr over all the Ṣaḥābah. It contains his exclusive merit. Our Shaykh says further:

So, it is said that there is no doubt that the merit achieved by Abū Bakr during the Ḥijrah, none other of the Ṣaḥābah achieved it, in accordance with the Book, the Sunnah and the consensus (of the Sunnī scholars). Therefore, this superiority becomes established for him, and not for 'Umar, 'Uthmān, 'Alī or other Ṣaḥābah. As such, he was the Imām.<sup>519</sup>

Our Shaykh's line of argument goes like this:

- Whichever of the Ṣaḥābah had a merit which none other possessed was the best of them.
- 2. Such a Ṣaḥābī was also the true Imām among them.

In line with this reasoning, he argues — citing unnamed Sunnī scholars as support - that most of Abū Bakr's "merits" were exclusive to him, and none of Amīr al-Mūminīn's merits was exclusive to him! This is very strange though. Throughout this book of ours, we have investigated only authentic aḥādīth on exclusive merits of 'Alī, 'alaihi al-salām, in the most authoritative Sunnī sources! Our esteemed readers can themselves verify this. Moreover, Imām al-Nasāī (d. 303 H) authored a well-known book — Khaṣāiṣ Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī (The Exclusive Merits of Amīr al-Mūminīn 'Alī) — in which he compiled only Sunnī aḥādīth on the exclusive merits of Imām 'Alī! No similar book has ever been written for Abū Bakr, 'Umar or 'Uthmān.

Anyway, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah thinks that the Verse of the Cave above contains an exclusive merit of Abū Bakr, which establishes his overall superiority and Imāmah over the Ṣaḥābah. In our view – as we will prove – the verse actually does the direct opposite! It basically exposes Abū Bakr and all the Sunnī-only "aḥādīth" about him in very uncomfortable lights. It also totally brings down the Sunnī creed, leaving it no chance of revival!

We will begin our analysis by looking first at the full text of the verse:

If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out - the second of two when they both were in the cave - when he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us." So, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon him, and helped him with forces which you saw not, and made the word of those who disbelieved the lowermost, while it was the Word of Allāh that became the uppermost, and Allāh is All-Mighty, All-Wise.<sup>520</sup>

The verse is primarily about the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi. The following points can be deduced from it:

- 1. The disbelievers drove him out of Makkah. So, he was ordered to migrate to Madīnah by Allāh.
- 2. He was the second of two people, when they both were together in the cave.
- 3. Abū Bakr was the first of the two, as he was the only one present with him in the cave. He has also been called the Prophet's companion.
- 4. Abū Bakr exhibited fear. So, the Messenger ordered him not to fear. The meaning of the phrase "Allāh is with us" will be discussed in detail soon.
- 5. Allāh ignored Abū Bakr, and sent down His sakīnah upon His Prophet alone, and further helped him alone with unseen forces.
- 6. Through these actions, Allāh made the plan of the disbelievers to fail, and His Own Plan to succeed.

لصاحبه

If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out - the second of two when they both were in the cave - and he was saying to his companion

The expression "the second of two" is a description of the one who was driven out by the disbelievers and helped by Allāh. He was the second of two people in the cave, and it was he who said what he said to his companion. This is so obvious from the text of the verse. Meanwhile, Prof. Ibn Yāsīn, a contemporary Sunnī mufassir, also states in support of our proposition under the verse:

Al-Ṭabarī records with his ṣaḥīḥ chain from Mujāhid that he said: "(If you help him not) He mentioned what was his affair since He appointed him (on a prophetic mission). Allāh says: I do that with Him and I am his Helper, and I helped him when he was like that, and he was the second of two.<sup>521</sup>

In very simple terms, the Messenger of Allāh was the second of two as we have stated. Abū Bakr was the first. Getting this part of the verse straight is extremely crucial to our discussion. This is because the alleged "exclusive merit" of Abū Bakr in it is only a widespread Sunnī misconception that he was the one referred to as "the second of two"! For instance, Imām al-Bukhārī (d. 256 H) records:

حدثنا إبراهيم بن موسى أخبرنا هشام عن معمر عن الزهري أخبرني أنس بن مالك رضي الله عنه أنه سمع خطبة عمر الآخرة حين جلس على المنبر وذلك الغد من يوم توفي النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم فتشهد وأبو بكر صامت لا يتكلم قال كنت أرجو أن يعيش رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم حتى يدبرنا يريد بذلك أن يكون آخرهم فإن يك محمد صلى الله عليه و سلم قد مات فإن الله تعالى قد جعل بين أظهركم نورا تهتدون به بما هدى الله محمدا صلى الله عليه و سلم و سلم

Ibrāhīm b. Mūsā – Hishām – Ma'mar – al-Zuhrī – Anas b. Mālik, may Allāh be pleased with him:

I heard 'Umar's second sermon which he delivered while he was sitting on the pulpit on the day following the death of the Prophet, peace be upon him. He testified while Abū Bakr was silent and did not say anything. He ('Umar) said, "I wish that the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, had outlived all of us. But if Muḥammad is dead, Allāh nonetheless has kept a light amongst you from which you can receive the same guidance as Allāh guided Muḥammad, peace be upon him, with that. And Abū Bakr is the companion of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him. He is (also) the second of two. He is the most entitled person among the Muslims to manage your affairs. Therefore get up and swear allegiance to him."522

Imām 'Abd al-Razzāq (d. 211 H) has recorded the same report with the same chain:

أخبرنا عبد الرزاق قال :أخبرنا معمر عن الزهري قال :أخبرني أنس بن مالك ... ثم قال عمر :أما بعد ... فإن يك محمد قد مات فإن الله قد جعل بين أظهركم نورا تهتدون به، هذا كتاب الله فاعتصموا به، تهتدون لما هدى الله به محمدا صلى الله عليه وسلم ثم إن أبا بكر رحمه الله - صاحب رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم وثاني اثنين، وإنه أولى الناس بأموركم، فقوموا، فبايعوه

... Then 'Umar said: "... But if Muḥammad is dead, Allāh nonetheless has kept a light amongst you from which you can receive guidance. This is the Book of Allāh. So, hold fast to it. You will receive the same guidance as Allāh guided Muḥammad, peace be upon him, with that. Then, Abū Bakr, may Allāh be merciful to him, is the companion of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, AND the second of two. He is the most entitled person among mankind to manage your affairs. Therefore get up and swear allegiance to him."<sup>523</sup>

قوله (وان أبا بكر صاحب رسول الله صلى الله عليه وسلم الخ) قال ابن التين قدم الصحبة لشرفها ولماكان غيره قد يشاركه فيها عطف عليها ما انفرد به أبو بكر وهو كونه ثاني اثنين وهي أعظم فضائله التي استحق بها ان يكون الخليفة من بعد النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم ولذلك قال وانه أولى الناس بأموركم

His statement (Abū Bakr is the companion of the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, etc): Ibn al-Tīn said: "He mentioned the companionship first due to its honour. However, since others shared it with him (i.e. Abū Bakr), he ('Umar) conjoined it with what was exclusive to Abū Bakr, and that was his being the second of two, and it is the greatest of his merits which entitled him to be the khalīfah after the Prophet, peace be upon him. This was why he ('Umar) said: "He is the most entitled person among mankind to manage your affairs".<sup>524</sup>

It is apparent that the Ahl al-Sunnah, based upon the submissions of 'Umar and others, consider Abū Bakr to have been the one referred to by Allāh as "the second of two" in this verse:

If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out - the second of two when they both were in the cave – when he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us." So, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon him, and helped him with forces which you saw not.

If the Sunnī theory were correct, then the following would be true:

- 1. Allāh helped Abū Bakr when the disbelievers drove him out. Allāh did not help His Messenger.
- 2. It was Abū Bakr who said to the Prophet "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us". The Messenger was the "companion" of Abū Bakr.
- 3. Allāh sent down sakīnah upon Abū Bakr and helped him with unseen forces. He did not send sakīnah upon His Prophet and did not strengthen him with any forces.

Would a believer ever make any of the above submissions? This is the grand Sunni dilemma!

The patent Sunnī logic is this:

- 1. Abū Bakr was the second of two in the cave with the Messenger.
- 2. Therefore, he was second in rank only to the Prophet.

The truth, however, is that Abū Bakr was actually the first of two, while the Messenger of Allāh was the second! By the Sunnī logic, the Prophet was in reality second in rank to Abū Bakr!

Well, let us agree, for the sake of argument, that Abū Bakr was the one referred to as "the second of two" in the Verse of the Cave. In that case, the Messenger was the first of two. By Sunnī logic, Abū Bakr then is the second highest ranking Muslim in this Ummah, after the Prophet, due to his status in that verse. In other words, the first of two is the first in the Ummah; and the second of two is the second in the Ummah. But, does this arrangement really help the Ahl al-Sunnah? The best way to find out is through this ḥadīth recorded by Imām al-Bukhārī:

Muḥammad b. Sinān — Hamām — Thābit — Anas — Abū Bakr, may Allāh be pleased with him:

I said to the Prophet, peace be upon him, while I was in the cave, "If any of them should look under his feet, he would see us." He said, "O Abū Bakr! What do you think of two, the third of whom is

Allāh?"525

So, the Messenger is first of three, Abū Bakr the second, and Allāh the third. By Sunnī logic therefore, Abū Bakr is superior to Allāh?! May Allāh forgive us and save us from such blasphemies. The above question of the Prophet was picked from this verse:

Have you not seen that Allāh knows whatsoever is in the heavens and whatsoever is on the earth? There is no private conversation of three, except He is their fourth, nor five except He is their sixth, nor of less than that or more, except He is with them wherever they may be.<sup>526</sup>

Let us connect everything now. First, we have the verse:

When he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is WITH US."

Then the hadīth:

He said, "O Abū Bakr! What do you think of two, the third of whom is Allāh?"

Both sentences are then connected by Allāh Himself:

There is no private conversation of three, except He is their fourth, nor five except He is their sixth, nor of less than that or more, except He is WITH THEM wherever they may be.<sup>527</sup>

It is obvious. Allāh was with His Prophet and Abū Bakr, only in the sense that He was present with them both in the cave. He was with them solely on account of His being their third. However, this was no merit at all, much less an exclusive achievement! Allāh is similarly present with every single individual, or any number of individuals, staying secretly anywhere. As such, He is present with even pagans and criminals whenever they plot their disbelief and evil deeds!

Here, we get to the most serious aspect of the Verse of the Cave. The first undeniable fact, at this stage, is that Allāh ignored Abū Bakr and did not help him, even though there were two of them together in the cave:

If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out - the second of two when they both were in the cave.

We ask: why? Allāh has made a promise in His Book:

O you who believe! If you help Allāh, He will help you.  $^{528}\,$

So, was Abū Bakr a believer? Was he helping the Cause of Allāh with his Hijrah? If the answers to both questions were "yes", then why did Allāh refuse to help him? Or, is it that Abū Bakr actually needed no help? In that case, why was he hiding with the Prophet in the cave? The fact that Allāh ignored Abū Bakr and did not help him raises red flags concerning his īmān and his real intentions with his migration.

Allāh provided two kinds of help in the cave:

Al-Ḥāfiz Ibn Kathīr (d. 774 H) comments:

{So, Allāh sent down His sakānah upon him}: meaning, (He sent down) His assistance and help upon him, that his, upon the Messenger according to the more popular of two views ... This is why He said: {and helped him with forces which you saw not}, that is, the angels.<sup>529</sup>

When this verse was revealed – about ten years after the incident – some (if not all) of the disbelievers who wanted to kill the Prophet that day had become Muslims. So, the phrase "which you saw not" was apparently directed at them. Allāh sent His sakīnah upon His Messenger, and further helped him with unseen forces, namely the angels. Abū Bakr was ignored. The foundational fact to note about sakīnah is that it is revealed into the heart:

He it is Who sent down sakīnah into the hearts of the believers, that they may grow more in faith ( $\bar{i}m\bar{a}n$ ) along with their (present) faith ( $\bar{i}m\bar{a}n$ ).<sup>530</sup>

The following points are clear from the verse:

- 1. Sakīnah is revealed into the heart.
- 2. It only strengthens the already existing imān (faith) in the heart.
- 3. As such, it never enters a heart with no īmān (faith), since there would be nothing for it to strengthen.

In particular, before Allāh sends down sakīnah to any heart, He first looks at what is inside it to find īmān:

Indeed, Allāh was pleased with the believers when they gave their ba'yah to you (O Muḥammad) under the tree. He knew what was in their hearts. Therefore, He sent down sakīnah upon them.<sup>531</sup>

The question is: why did Allāh send down sakīnah into the heart of His Prophet alone, despite the presence of Abū Bakr with him? In similar cases, He had equally revealed it to whichever believer was with him:

So, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon His Messenger and upon the believers.<sup>532</sup>

And:

Then Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon His Messenger and upon the believers, and sent down forces which you saw not.<sup>533</sup>

So, why did He exclude Abū Bakr in the cave? It is obvious that He checked the latter's heart, alongside that of His Prophet. Then, He decided to send His sakīnah to His Messenger only. We again ask our Sunnī brothers: why? According to the Ahl al-Sunnah, Abū Bakr was the sayyid of believers. If that were true, then his īmān would be the greatest among the Saḥābah. In that case, Allāh would certainly have blessed him with His sakīnah as He did with His Messenger. But, He did not! We ask once more: why would Allāh refuse to send sakīnah into a heart filled with strong, undiluted īmān? Looking at everything, the only logical explanation is that Allāh looked at the heart of Abū Bakr and found no īmān there. Therefore, He decided to send down His sakīnah upon His Prophet alone.

Expectedly, Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah feels severely troubled by this conclusion:

Ε,

وأما قول الرافضي إن القرآن حيث ذكر إنزال السكينة على رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم شرك معه المؤمنين إلا هذا الموضع ولا نقص أعظم منه فالجواب أولا أن هذا يوهم أنه ذكر ذلك في مواضع متعددة وليس كذلك بل لم يذكر ذلك إلا في قصة حنين ... وقد ذكر إنزال السكينة على المؤمنين وليس معهم الرسول في قوله إنا فتحنا لك فتحا مبينا سورة الفتح 1 إلى قوله هو الذي أنزل السكينة في قلوب المؤمنين سورة الفتح 4 الآية وقوله لقد رضي الله عن المؤمنين إذ يبايعونك تحت الشجرة فعلم ما في قلوبهم فأنزل السكينة عليهم سورة الفتح 18

As for the statement of the Rāfiḍī that "the Qur'ān, whenever it mentions the descent of sakīnah upon the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, always conjoined the believers with him, except in this one place (i.e. in the cave), and there is no disgrace worse than it."

The first answer is that this one (i.e. the Rāfiḍī) hallucinates that it (i.e. the Qur'ān) mentions that (i.e. the descent of sakīnah upon the Prophet and the believers together) as having occurred at several places. But this is not so. Rather, it has not mentioned that except in the story of Hunayn... It has (also) mentioned the descent of sakīnah upon the believers and the Messenger was not included with them in His Statement {Verily, We have given you [O Muḥammad] a manifest victory} (48:1) until His Statement {He it is Who sent down sakīnah into the hearts of the believers} (48:4) and His Statement {Indeed, Allāh was pleased with the believers when they gave their ba'yah to you [O Muḥammad] under the tree. He knew what was in their hearts, and He sent down sakīnah upon them} (48:18)<sup>534</sup>

First and foremost, the Rāfiḍī did not claim that sakīnah was revealed upon the Prophet and the believers together at several places. His statement is very clear:

As for the statement of the Rāfiḍī that "the Qur'an, whenever it mentions the descent of sakīnah upon the Messenger of Allāh, peace be upon him, always conjoined the believers with him, except in this one place (i.e. in the cave), and there is no disgrace worse than it.

To refute him, our Shaykh only has to show us a single place in the Qur'ān where Allāh has revealed His sakīnah upon His Prophet alone, without joining the believers with him. The truth is: the Rāfiḍī was correct! The only instance where sakīnah descended upon the Messenger alone was during his stay in the cave with Abū Bakr. That indeed is a severe slur on the latter.

Secondly, our Shaykh's claim that sakīnah descended upon the Prophet and the believers together only at Ḥunayn (8 H), and at no other place, is equally untrue! The same thing occurred at al-Ḥudaybiyyah (6 H) too:

إذ جعل الذين كفروا في قلوبهم الحمية حمية الجاهلية فأنزل الله سكينته على رسوله وعلى المؤمنين وألزمهم كلمة التقوى وكانوا أحق بها وأهلها وكان الله بكل شيء عليها لقد صدق الله رسوله الرؤيا بالحق لتدخلن المسجد الحرام إن شاء الله آمنين محلقين رءوسكم ومقصرين لا تخافون فعلم ما لم تعلموا فجعل من دون ذلك فتحا قريبا

When those who disbelieve had put in their hearts pride and haughtiness, the pride and haughtiness of Jāhiliyyah, then Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon His Messenger and upon the believers, and made them stick to the Word of Piety, and they were well entitled to it and worthy of it. And Allāh is the All-Knower of everything. Indeed Allāh shall fulfil the true vision which He showed to His Messenger. Certainly you shall enter the Masjid al-Harām (in Makkah), inshā Allāh, secure, (some) having your heads shaved, and (some) having your hair cut short, having no fear. He knew what you knew not, and He granted besides that a near victory.<sup>535</sup>

This was two years before Hunayn, when the unbelievers – who were still in control of Makkah – arrogantly prevented the Messenger and the believers from performing Ḥajj there. Instead, the Muslims, headed by the Prophet, entered into a peace agreement with the pagan Makkans, granting the latter lots of concessions. Allāh then promised the believers of a near conquest of Makkah. It happened soon thereafter, in a bloodless manner.

In the light of the above fact, the fallacy of this submission of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah also comes to the fore:

وقد ذكر إنزال السكينة على المؤمنين وليس معهم الرسول في قوله إنا فتحنا لك فتحا مبينا سورة الفتح 1 إلى قوله هو الذي أنزل السكينة في قلوب المؤمنين سورة الفتح 4 الآية وقوله لقد رضي الله عن المؤمنين إذ يبايعونك تحت الشجرة فعلم ما في قلوبهم فأنزل السكينة عليهم سورة الفتح 18

It has (also) mentioned the descent of sakīnah upon the believers and the Messenger was not included with them in His Statement {Verily, We have given you [O Muḥammad] a manifest victory} (48:1) until His Statement {He it is Who sent down sakīnah into the hearts of the believers} (48:4) and His Statement {Indeed, Allāh was pleased with the believers when they gave their ba'yah to you [O Muḥammad] under the tree. He knew what was in their hearts, and He sent down sakīnah upon them} (48:18)

All of those verses were revealed about al-Ḥudaybiyyah! Allāh mentions His revelation of sakīnah, on that occasion, upon His Prophet only once, and mentions its descent upon the believers on the same occasion thrice – all of them in the same Surah which was specifically sent down about that singular event. Yet, the bottomline remains that the sakīnah came upon the Messenger and the believers together at Ḥudaybiyyah! Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's lowly attempt to wreck the verses out of context and to impose a misleading tag upon them does not augur well for his image as a scholar. The truth remains: whenever sakīnah descended upon the Prophet, it always also descended upon all believers with him, excluding only the hypocrites and the pagans. Moreover, Allāh never excluded His Messenger from His sakīnah while sending it upon the believers present with him.

This takes us back to the beginning. Why did Allāh exclude Abū Bakr from His sakīnah, even though he was with His Prophet?

ويقال ثانيا الناس قد تنازعوا في عود الضمير في قوله تعالى فأنزل الله سكينته عليه سورة التوبة 40 فهنهم من قال إنه عائد إلى النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم ومنهم من قال إنه عائد إلى أبي بكر لأنه أقرب المذكورين ولأنه كان محتاجا إلى إنزال السكينة فأنزل السكينة عليه كما أنزلها على المؤمنين الذين بايعوه تحت الشجرة والنبي صلى

الله عليه و سلم كان مستغنيا عنها في هذه الحال لكمال طمأنينته بخلاف إنزالها يوم حنين فإنه كان محتاجا إليها لانهزام جمهور أصحابه وإقبال العدو نحوه وسوقه ببغلته إلى العدو

It is said, secondly: people disagree on exactly who was intended with His statement {So Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon him) in Surah al-Tawbah (9), verse 40 [i.e. the Verse of the Cave]. Some of them say that it refers to the Prophet, peace be upon him, and some of them say it refers to Abū Bakr, because he was the last mentioned character before the statement, and because he needed the descent of sakīnah. Therefore, He sent down sakīnah upon him as He sent it down upon the believers who gave the ba'yah under the tree. And the Prophet, peace be upon him, did not need it in this condition, due to his perfect calm, as opposed to its descent on the Day of Hunayn, for he was then (i.e. at Ḥunayn) in need of it due to the flight of the majority of his Ṣaḥābah (from the battlefield), and the approach of the enemy troops, and his drive with his female mule towards the enemy troops.<sup>536</sup>

This one is even far worse! To begin with, suggesting that the sakīnah descended upon Abū Bakr in the Verse of the Cave, and not the Prophet, is high blasphemy. Let us have a renewed look at the verse:

If you help him not, for Allāh did indeed help him when the disbelievers drove him out - the second of two when they both were in the cave – when he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us." So, Allāh sent down His sakānah upon him, and helped him with forces which you saw not.

For Allāh's sake, why would He help Abū Bakr with angels, at the expense of His Messenger?! Besides, is the verse not clear enough about who was helped? The world is strange, indeed. The context of the verse has perfectly removed any need for any grammatical acrobatics in understanding its meaning. What our Shaykh suggests only applies where there is ambiguity in the statement. There is none here. Anyway, as stated by al-Ḥāfiẓ Ibn Kathīr, the majority of Sunnī scholars agree with the apparent teaching of the verse:

{So, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon him}: meaning, (He sent down) His assistance and help upon him, that his, upon the Messenger according to the more popular of two views.<sup>537</sup>

Our Shaykh also suggests that sakīnah is revealed to remove fear and restore calm, a submission completely contradictory to the Qur'ān:

He it is Who sent down sakīnah into the hearts of the believers, THAT THEY MAY GROW MORE IN FAITH (ĪMĀN) along with their (present) faith (imān).<sup>538</sup>

It is not about fear. It is about īmān. Since growth in īmān is needed in both periods of calm and unrest, then the foundation of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah's second "answer" collapses at this point. Besides, the Messenger of Allāh was perfectly calm at al-Ḥudaybiyyah, as our Shaykh himself confesses. Yet, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon him. Interestingly, the believers were also calm then, and He still sent down His sakīnah upon them! Where has our Shaykh got his idea that the Prophet did not need sakīnah at al-Ḥudaybiyyah or in the cave? Is he accusing Allāh of doing needless things, by sending down His sakīnah upon His Messenger when the latter did not need it? This reveals the extent to which some people can go to blaspheme Allāh and His Prophet just to uplift Abū Bakr!

Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah now moves to his final "answer":

It is said upon this: when he said to his companion, "Allāh is with us", the Prophet, peace be upon him, was the leader while Abū Bakr was the follower and was his companion, and Allāh was with them both. So when sakīnah and help got to the leader in this circumstance, it also got to the follower in the same circumstance. This is because he was a companion and a sticking follower, and there was no need here to mention Abū Bakr here, due to the perfect connection and companionship, which necessitated his benefitting in the help along with the Prophet, peace be upon him.<sup>539</sup>

Put in clearer words, Abū Bakr was a necessary beneficiary of Allāh's Help to His Messenger. So, the Qur'ān sees no need to mention the former's name again. Well, it might truly be said that Abū Bakr also benefitted from Allāh's provision of security to His Prophet. However, the same cannot be said about His sakīnah, which has to do only with the growth of īmān in the heart:

He it is Who sent down sakīnah into the hearts of the believers, THAT THEY MAY GROW MORE IN FAITH (ĪMĀN) along with their (present) faith (imān).<sup>540</sup>

It would be very illogical to claim that a growth in imān by the Messenger of Allāh somehow also means a similar situation for Abū Bakr. This is why, at al-Ḥudaybiyyah, despite that the believers among the Ṣaḥābah present there were also "companions" and "sticking followers" of the Prophet, Allāh still saw the need to separately send down sakānah upon them:

Interestingly, the believing Ṣaḥābah at al-Ḥudaybiyyah — along with the Prophet - were in perfect calm, and not in fear. Nonetheless, Allāh revealed His sakīnah upon them. This further debunks the notion of Shaykh Ibn Taymiyyah that sakīnah is sent down only to remove fears in precarious situations. How would he explain what Allāh did at al-Ḥudaybiyyah? On the other hand, Abū Bakr displayed demeaning levels of fear in the cave:

When he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us."

He did not say it once! He was repeatedly saying it to him. The meaning would have been different if Allāh had said "while he was saying...." or "when he said....". Abū Bakr, apparently, did not have sufficient belief in the words of the Messenger of Allāh. This was why he did not calm down even though the Prophet had assured him of Allāh's Presence. Allāh was certainly aware of their situation, and would surely help them both if He found imān and sincerity in their hearts. But, even after repeated assurances by the Messenger of Allāh, Abū Bakr was still in fear. What exactly did he doubt? The presence of Allāh with them? The existence of Allāh? The nubuwwah of Muhammad? His own iman and sincerity? Is there really any justification for Abū Bakr's failure to believe the Prophet? That was thirteen years after he supposedly accepted Islām! Since he was like that after so many years, what guarantees were there that he became better during the ten, more prosperous and more politicized years of the Madinan era? How could he even have doubted at all a single letter uttered by the Messenger if he really was a believer? No wonder, when Allāh looked into Abū Bakr's heart during his stay in the cave, He refused to send down His sakinah upon him.

33 ḤADĪTH AL-IKHTIYĀR

'ALĪ: THE TRUE SECOND OF TWO

In the cave, the Messenger of Allāh, ṣallallāhu 'alaihi wa ālihi, repeatedly assured Abū Bakr of Allāh's Presence. But it did not work:

When he was saying to his companion: "Do not fear, surely Allāh is with us."

Al-Hāfiz Ibn Kathīr (d. 774 H) comments about this verse:

عام الهجرة ، لما هم المشركون بقتله أو حبسه أو نفيه ، فحرج منهم هاربًا صحبة صدّيقه وصاحبه أبي بكر بن أبي قحافة ، فلجأ إلى غار ثور ثلاثة أيام ليرجع الطَّلاَبُ الذين خرجوا في آثارهم ، ثم يسيرا نحو المدينة ، فجعل أبو بكر ، رضي الله عنه ، يجزع أن يَطَّلع عليهم أحد ، فيخلص إلى الرسول ، عليه السلام منهم أذى ، فجعل النبي صلى الله عليه وسلم يُسكر بنه ويَثرِبّنه ويقول : " يا أبا بكر ، ما ظنك باثنين الله ثالثهما"

During the year of the Hijrah, the pagans tried to kill, imprison or expel him (i.e the Prophet). So, he escaped with his friend and companion, Abū Bakr b. Abī Quḥāfah, to the Thawr Cave. They remained in there for three days. So the scouts who were sent in their pursuit returned, and they proceeded to Madīnah. (While in the cave), Abū Bakr, may

Allāh be pleased with him, was afraid that they might be discovered by someone, that some harm might come to the Messenger, peace be upon him, from them. Therefore, the Prophet, peace be upon him, kept reassuring him and strengthening his resolve, saying, "O Abū Bakr! What do you think of two, the third of whom is Allāh?"<sup>542</sup>

Apparently, one word was not enough for Abū Bakr. When the Prophet mentioned the presence of Allāh the first time, he obviously noticed that his companion was not convinced. So, he kept repeating it, telling him not to fear. The Sunnī argument is that Abū Bakr only had great, uncontrollable fears for the life and safety of the Messenger of Allāh. Well, there is nothing in the verse or hadīth remotely suggesting that. By contrast, the words of the Prophet, "Allāh is with ns", suggest that Abū Bakr's fears were about both of them together in the cave. Otherwise, he would have said, "Allāh is with me", placing the emphasis upon himself. Abū Bakr's fears about the Prophet could also have actually been self-serving! Their fates were interconnected in that dire situation. If the Messenger fell into any danger, Abū Bakr was sure to have a good taste of it too. So, he wanted the Prophet safe, so that he too could be safe.

What support our contention – that Abū Bakr did not really care about the Prophet's life – are his latter actions on the battlefields. For instance, he abandoned the Messenger of Allāh to the mercy of the pagans on different days of battle, and fled away, again and again, with his life from jihād. Imām Muslim (d. 261 H) records:

Muḥammad b. Abī Bakr al-Muqaddamī, Ḥāmid b. 'Umar al-Bakrāwī and Muḥammad b. 'Abd al-A'lā — al-Mu'tamar (and he is Ibn Sulaymān) — father — Abū 'Uthmān:

him, was fighting apart from Ṭalḥah and Sa'd. They both (i.e. Ṭalḥah and Sa'd) narrated that to me."<sup>543</sup>

On several expeditions of the Prophet, Abū Bakr, 'Umar and 'Uthmān fled and escaped from battle! They ran way, and did not look back, knowing fully well that their actions could get the Prophet killed, injured or imprisoned.

In any case, what matters to our discussion in this chapter is that Abū Bakr doubted the assurances of the Messenger of Allāh while they both were in danger, in the cave. He was unconvinced by them. Therefore, when Allāh sent down His sakīnah, He excluded him. The same thing happened with 'Umar later on the Day of al-Ḥudaybiyyah. Imām Ibn Ḥibbān (d. 354 H) records his own words concerning what he did on that day:

So, 'Umar b. al-Khaṭṭāb, may Allāh be pleased with him, said (about the Day of al-Ḥudaybiyyah): "By Allāh! I never doubted since I accepted Islām EXCEPT on that day. So, I went to the Prophet, peace be upon him, and said, 'Are you not truly the Messenger of Allāh?" 544

حديث صحيح

It is a saḥiḥ ḥadīth546

He doubted the nubunwah of Muḥammad on that day! This removed him from the ranks of believers. So, when Allāh sent down His sakīnah, He excluded 'Umar, and whoever was like him:

So, Allāh sent down His sakīnah upon His Messenger and upon the believers.<sup>547</sup>

And:

He knew what was in their hearts. Therefore, He sent down sakīnah upon them.<sup>548</sup>

At this point, it is apposite to quote this verse:

The believers are only those who have believed in Allāh and His Messenger, and do not doubt afterwards, and they do jihād with their wealth and with their lives, for the Cause of Allāh. They are the truthful ones.<sup>549</sup>

Did Abū Bakr and 'Umar ever doubt Allāh or His Messenger after they had accepted Islām? Did Abū Bakr and 'Umar ever shield their lives from jihad by running away? Were they true believers then? Can people like them really be the best ones in this Ummah after our Prophet? What about those of the

How can a doubter be superior to a firm, unshakable believer? How can someone who escapes with his life from jihād be better than someone who completely sold his life to Allāh? How can someone who abandoned the Messenger of Allāh in fatal danger and ran to save his own life be more valuable than another who placed his life in the midst of pagan swords so that the Prophet could live?

Most importantly, the Messenger also specifically named the second best of the entirety of this Ummah – during his lifetime – after himself. It is in Ḥadāth al-Ikhtiyār, recorded by Imām al-Ṭabarānī (d. 360 H):

حدثنا محمد بن جابات الجند نيسابوري و الحسن بن علي المعمري قالا : ثنا عبد الرزاق عن معمر عن ابن أبي نجيح عن مجاهد عن ابن عباس قال لما زوج النبي صلى الله عليه و سلم فاطمة عليا قالت فاطمة : يا رسول الله زوجتني من رجل فقير ليس له شيء فقال رسول الله صلى الله عليه و سلم : أما ترضين يا يا فاطمة أن الله عز و جل اختار من أهل الأرض رجلين أحدهما أبوك والآخر زوجك

He further says about the third narrator:

There is a probability that he practised tadlīs. It is not definite. In any case, his 'an-'an reports from Mujāhid are accepted as ṣaḥiḥ. For instance, Imām Muslim records this chain in his Ṣaḥiḥ:

At this point, it is needless to prove that Mujāhid, the last narrator of Ḥadāth al-Ikhtiyār — was also thiqah (trustworthy). However, we shall still do so, in case there is someone who prefers that. Al-Ḥāfiz says about him:

earth. It is clear from the text that Allāh had not chosen anyone else among them before He chose the two. As such, whatever other selections were made by Him, apparently, came after this first, unique selection.

The Qur'ān makes it absolutely clear that creation and choosing are exclusive divine functions:

And your Lord creates whatever He wills, and He chooses. They have no right to choose.<sup>575</sup>

Among those He chose was His Messenger, Mūsā:

And I have chosen you. So listen to that which is inspired to you.<sup>576</sup>

He equally chose the Israelites:

And We had knowingly chosen them above the worlds.<sup>577</sup>

The chosen ones, of course, are also the best:

And with Us, they are verily from the chosen ones, the best.<sup>578</sup>

So, when Allāh chose His Messenger and Amīr al-Mūminīn out of all the people of the earth, He was basically declaring them both as the best of all. Since Abū Bakr, 'Umar, and 'Uthmān were alive at that time, it is obvious that both Muḥammad and 'Alī were better than them, by Allāh's Own Decree. These facts are very uncomfortable to mainstream Sunnī teachings, and pose an existential threat to Sunnī Islām as a whole. If the khilāfah of Abū Bakr collapses, nothing else can survive from the Sunnī madhhab. This is why Sunnīs generally feel very uneasy about Ḥadūth al-Ikhtiyār. Perhaps, it is also why 'Allāmah al-Albānī grades the authentic ḥadūth in this manner:

موضوع

Mawdu' (fabricated)579

Fabricated?! By who? By the thiqah (trustworthy) narrators?! Then, our 'Allāmah states:

It is narrated by Abū Hurayrah, 'Abd Allāh b. 'Abbās, Abū Ayūb al-Anṣārī, 'Alī al-Hilālī and Ma'qil b. Yasār.<sup>580</sup>

Five Saḥābah! That is enough to make it mutawātir by the standards of some Sunnī muḥadithūn! What exactly is the problem with our dear 'Allāmah al-Albānī? The worst part of it all is that the 'Allāmah – whether deliberately or by mistake – omits the sanad of al-Ma'marī above in his extensive discussion against the authenticity of the ḥadīth! This, of course, makes it possible for him to reject it! However, if he had included that ṣaḥāḥ chain in his analysis, the story would have been far different. It is unclear how the 'Allāmah misses that sanad of al-Ma'marī, despite that he has quoted other chains of the same ḥadīth from the same Mu'jam al-Kabīr of al-Ṭabarānī! In any case, 'Allāmah al-Albānī's verdict upon the ḥadīth is based upon incomplete research. As such, it is void.

Sadly, our 'Allāmah takes things even more disturbing levels – to an all-time low - with this comment of his over a chain that has some common names with that of al-Ma'marī:

Even if it is established from him (i.e. 'Abd al-Razzāq), there is still another defect in it which discredits its authenticity. It is the possibility that this hadīth too is one of those things which the nephew of Ma'mar inserted into the books of Ma'mar, for he (that nephew) was a Rāfīdī.<sup>581</sup>

Possibility?! Mere conjecture? So, there is no concrete evidence? But even then, no such possibility ever exists, to begin with! We will simply round off this chapter with this angry reply of the Sunnī ḥadīth master, 'Allāmah al-Maghribī:

I say: This is complete nonsense! The reason for this is: That nephew of Ma'mar was only an imaginary figure. He never existed! Ma'mar was not known to have any brother. How could a son exist without a father, apart from \(\bar{1}\)sa, peace be upon him?\(^{582}\)
